Bitter Death Marches Told

Unsuccessful Suicide Attempt

An Italian mental patient stands, left photo, on roof of house aiming a piece of tile at rescuers after he escaped from Newhaven Private Hospital in East Kew, a suburb of Melbourne, Australia. At right he leaps 30 feet to ground where his fall is broken by Dr. R. Kiel, arms outstretched. Doctor was uninjured but patient broke a thigh and was removed to a hospital. (AP Wirephoto).

U.S. Backs Burma Guerrilla Stand

Would Put Chinese Out of Country, Send Them to Formosa

United Nations, April 21 (AP)—The U. S. today threw its support behind Burma's demand that Chinese Nationalist guerrillas get off its soil and said it was actively working to bring this about.

Chief U. S. Delegate Henry Cabot Lodge, Jr., told the 60-nation Political Committee the U. S. was hard at work on a three-point plan. It would:

1. Require the active support of the Chinese Nationalist government to influence the 12,000 guerrillas in Burma to give up.

2. Stop military operations between the Burmese Army and those guerrillas.

3. Disarm the Chinese and remove them to Formosa via Thailand. Lodge said Thailand had agreed to this.

Feels Right Exists

The American representative said the U. S. felt Burma had the right to demand the removal of the Chinese, whom he accused of "depredations" against the Burmese people. He said many of the guerrillas were "common bandits posing as Chinese Nationalists" and that the removal of the genuine guerrillas would leave Burma able to control the others.

Lodge said the U. S. took steps to mediate at the request of the Burmese government which has no diplomatic relations with Chiang Kai-shek's government on Formosa.

Armstrong Berated For Lack of Candor

State Department Aide Accused by Senators Seeking Data

Washington, April 21 (AP) — W. Park Armstrong, state department special assistant for intelligence, was accused today of a "lack of candor" during questioning by senators about the number of his employes discharged for security reasons.

Sen. McCarran (D.-Nev.) told Armstrong his "lack of candor is very plain," and Sen. Dirksen (R.-Ill.) informed the witness:

"I wouldn't give you a dollar if I had any real doubt about whether you are doing a good job."

Armstrong encountered rough going from the time he took the witness chair at a public session of a Senate appropriations subcommittee. He appeared to support a request for $2,344,310 to operate his division during the fiscal year starting July 1.

Sen. Mundt (R.-S.D.), associating himself with Dirksen's view, told Armstrong "public employment is the public's business" and there should be "no desire on the part of any one to cover up."

Before the committee met Mundt said he sees some signs that the state department is speeding up the dismissal of holdovers from the Democratic Truman administration.

But He Wasn't Successful

Albany, Calif., April 21 (AP)—Policeman Glenn Thompson tiptoed to the home of Mrs. Harold Forster in pre-dawn darkness. Sure enough, as Mrs. Foster had telephoned, a fumbling attempt to enter the house was a progress. A large Chesapeake retriever was trying to turn the doorknob with his teeth. Thompson took the dog to the pound.

Civil Suit Filed Against Concerns; Cartel Is Charged

Washington, April 21 (AP)—Attorney General Brownell today filed a civil anti-trust suit against five major American oil companies, charging they had participated in an international oil cartel.

The action, filed in the Federal District Court here, is designed to substitute for the criminal anti-trust investigation involving these five companies and others which former Attorney General James P. McGranery put before a grand jury here last fall.

Brownell proposes to drop the criminal inquiry for "national security" reasons.

The grand jury proceeding involved more than a score of companies here and abroad.

Today's civil action named as defendants: Standard Oil Company of New Jersey; Standard Oil Company of California, Socony-Vacuum Oil Company Inc., the Texas Company, and the Gulf Oil Corporation.

The attorney general said, however, that the defendant list may be expanded at some later date to include other oil corporations, both domestic and foreign. Such action, he said, will depend on what the government discovers in records of the five original defendants, which Brownell today asked the District Court to order produced for inspection.

Chinese Berate Bowles

Taipeh, Formosa, April 21 (AP)—The strongly pro-Nationalist China News today berated Chester Bowles, former U. S. ambassador to India, as "an American diplomat who has been enthusiastic toward India's role of flirting with Red China." Bowles, on a tour of the Far East, left for Tokyo today.

What's in a Name?

Fuerth, Germany, April 21 (AP)—The army is taking no chances with its motor service wrecker here. Pfc. Edmund Carufel of Somerset, Mich., is the driver—and he pronounces his name "careful." His army nickname despite 50,000 miles without an accident—"Reckless."

15 Drown in Mishaps

Manila, April 21 (AP)—Fifteen persons drowned Monday in two boat mishaps, the Philippine News Service reported today.

Planes Hit Red Lines in East Korea

Ground Activity Held to Patrols — Aircraft Strike From Two U. S. Carriers

Seoul, April 21 (AP)—U. S. carrier planes today smashed Communist positions less than a mile ahead of allied lines in the Heartbreak and Sniper Ridge sector of eastern Korea.

Ground-based UN warplanes struck deep into North Korea, attacking a Red airfield and supply lines.

Only light patrol contacts were reported along the 155-mile ground front as another group of sick and wounded prisoners of war were exchanged at Panmunjom.

The navy said planes from the carriers Oriskany and Princeton struck Red positions near Sniper and Heartbreak Ridges to break up a possible Communist probing attack.

One navy pilot said there was "a lot of artillery fire all over that part of the line this morning. We could see gun flashes and shells when they exploded."

Airfield Is Hit

Eleven Okinawa-based Superforts hit the repaired Taechon airfield 12 miles southeast of Kusong and the Namsi airfield in northwestern Korea. Three Superforts unloaded their bombs on Singi, a supply base in the same general area.

U. S. Fifth Air Force Thunderjets and Australian Meteor jets attacked two Red supply and personnel buildup areas 20 miles north of Chorwon on the central front.

Returning pilots said they flattened five buildings and shelters, touched off four secondary explosions among ammunition stores and started six big fires.

Night flying B-26 bombers touched off 12 "very large" explosions and 50 to 60 smaller ones before dawn in a strike against a Communist vehicle assembly area southwest of Kilchu in northeastern Korea, the air force said.

No MIGs at Yalu

U. S. Sabre jets streaked north to near the Yalu river but found no Red MIGs.

Reconnaissance planes picked up a Communist truck and ambulance convoy carrying more sick and wounded toward Panmunjom for exchange. The convoy stopped around noon at Hungsu on the main road between Sariwon and Sohung, but began traveling again early in the afternoon.

While the ground front remained quiet, the Eighth Army said the Reds kept up their frontline propaganda warfare.

A woman's voice floated over from Red lines in Western Korea Monday night saying:

"American soldier, American soldier, come here. I am waiting for you. You will have fun. There is lots of women."

Jencks Is Charged

Silver City, N. M., April 21 (AP)—Union leader Clinton Jencks, arrested last night by the FBI, has been charged by a federal grand jury with swearing falsely he was not a Communist. U. S. District Attorney Holvey Williams at El Paso said today Jencks was indicted under the 1947 Labor Relations Act, commonly known as the Taft Hartley Law. Williams said the two-count indictment charges Jencks violated the law when he filed a required affidavit for labor union leaders April 28, 1950, swearing he was not then a Communist and not then affiliated with the Communist party.

Treasury Receipts

Washington, April 21 (AP)—The position of the treasury April 17: Net budget receipts $115,982,735.28; budget expenditures $240,272,379.79; cash balance $4,856,097,463.10; customs receipts for month $31,531,655.35; budget receipts fiscal year July 1 $50,160,217,763.70; budget expenditures fiscal year $57,721,425,299.84; budget deficit $7,561,207,536.14; total debt $264,310,857,614.99; decrease under previous day $47,490,509.82; gold assets $22,561,357,471.86.

Soviet Goad Is Cited by Returnees

Russian Troops Tried to Have Guards Shoot American Prisoners, Man Declares

Freedom Village, Korea, April 21 (AP)—Accounts of Bataan-style death marches, semi-starvation, and calculated brutality came today from the second handful of allied soldiers returned from Communist prison camps.

And stories of many more dangerously ill allied soldiers still in Red captivity indicated the Communists do not plan to free all sick and wounded as they had agreed to do.

Today's reports recalled the shocked words "incredibly small" uttered two weeks ago by Rear Adm. John C. Daniel, the UN truce delegate, when the Reds told him 600 sick and wounded would be repatriated.

Says They Fail Again

The new development suggested that the Communists are failing once again on a solemn agreement.

Sgt. Walter H. Mitchell of Greenville, Tenn., said "There were quite a few left in the hospital at the Pyoktong camp. . . . I would rather they had come than me. . . . They needed medical attention more."

The returned prisoners said treatment improved after the truce talks started in July, 1951, but varied since with the ups and downs of the negotiations.

Death marches over frozen highways in bitter winter weather were reported by two American soldiers. Pfc. Roger Herndon of Jacksonville, Fla., and Cpl. Orville R. Mullins, of Covington, Ky. told of separate agonies in 1950 and 1951.

Herndon was captured in the frigid winter of 1950. He said some 40 American and Turkish soldiers perished in a nine-day forced march north from Kunu, where the U. S. Second Division met disaster in November, 1950.

Only 60 Arrive

Of 100 men who started, only 60 arrived at the Red prison, he said, and related:

"We were not allowed to stop for any cause—not even to go to the latrine. If you did, you would have to look out for yourself.

"One night 17 of us were put in a small room. Next morning when I woke up there were only two living."

Herndon, who had a wounded hand amputated by Chinese doctors eight days before the march, said many died from pneumonia.

He said all they had to eat on

At Least 5 Persons Killed In Miami-New York Wreck

Four Persons Are Killed in Plane Plunge

San Francisco, April 21 (AP)—A huge airliner carrying 10 persons plunged into San Francisco Bay with a roar and a flash late last night—minutes after unloading 44 passengers at San Francisco Airport.

Two survived, four were killed and four were missing.

The crew of five and five passengers on the Western Air Lines DC6B were on a short, low-level 10-mile hop from San Francisco to Oakland, last leg of a flight from Los Angeles.

The two who survived are:

Stewardess Beverlee Nelson, 27, Playa Del Rey, Calif., and St. Clair Shore, Mich. She suffered no serious injury.

Jerry Adams, 21, Fairbanks, Alaska, a passenger. He was in severe shock when rescued but was reported recovering at Oak Knoll Hospital, Oakland.

Four Bodies Recovered

Four bodies were recovered by U. S. Coast Guard crews.

The dead:

Joseph B. Petty, San Bernardino, Calif., passenger.

Nacy Turner, Oakland, passenger.

Charles H. Graves, Oakland, passenger.

Co-Pilot Robert Jacksonsen, 31, Whittier, Calif.

Pilot, Capt. Robert Clark, 35, Torrance, Calif.

Flight Engineer Robert League, 35, Los Angeles.

Stewardess Barbara Brew, 26, Hollywood.

Stanley J. Newman, Richmond, Calif.

The giant plane—one of the largest types of passenger craft—crashed at 11:05 p. m. in 15 feet of water in the southern part of the bay, about 4 miles from San Francisco and 6 from Oakland.

It was almost the same spot where a United Airline plane crashed in 1937, killing 11, and exactly a month after the crash of a Transocean Air Lines transport that killed 35 in a landing attempt near Oakland.

Seaman Rescues Two

Kingstonians Escape Injury in Crackup of Coast Line Train Near Dillon, S. C.

Dillon, S. C., April 21 (AP)—A 17-car streamliner, bound from Miami to New York, careened off the rails near here last night and piled up a mass of twisted wreckage.

Officials here said at least five persons died. One newspaper reporter who made an early estimate of 10 or 12 dead said he had seen six bodies. More than 125 injured were rushed to hospitals, many of them in critical condition. Rescue workers continued to probe the wreckage. Officials said more bodies might be found.

(The Rev. and Mrs. David C. Weidner of 320 Main street, Kingston, escaped injury in the wreck, according to word received by their son, Schuyler E. Weidner of Hurley. They were riding in one of the cars that was not derailed.)

Some of the injured lay for hours pinned in the shattered cars of the Atlantic Coast Line's fast passenger train, the East Coast Champion.

Skilled rescue workers, called from their beds, used acetylene torches to reach the victims. Doctors crawled after them, some times operating on the spot to free the injured, giving first aid.

More than 25 ambulances, recruited from far and wide in this northeast South Carolina tobacco section, maintained a steady parade to and from half a dozen swamped community hospitals.

Part of Train Burns

Part of the train caught fire and the burning oil, emergency lights and cutting torches cast a weird glow over the tragic scene.

The wreck occurred shortly before midnight, 2½ miles south of Dillon, only 12 miles south of the North Carolina line and only about 25 miles from Rennert,

PSC Concludes Its Hearing on Branch Line to Mountains

Stormy Session Marks Afternoon — Declare Milk Rate Not Lowered

The Public Service Commission hearing on the New York Central Railroad's petition to discontinue its last two remaining passenger trains on its Catskill Mountain Branch concluded at the court house late Monday afternoon.

The afternoon session which lasted until 5:45 p. m., was marked by the surprise tactics of the opponents to the discontinuance, who without warning called two of the railroad's own witnesses to the stand and, with several of their own witnesses, attempted to fix the blame for declining passenger service on the railroad's methods.

Led by Attorney John L. Larkin of this city and Attorney John Taylor Breen of Stamford, the opponents drew from witnesses a picture of a cattle car put on a regularly scheduled passenger train, another picture of passengers stranded at stations on a Labor Day when an allegedly scheduled train was not run. They contended that milk rates were lowered some time ago on all divisions except the Catskill Mountain Branch, and that the branch has since lost its milk business.

May Submit Evidence

At the conclusion of the somewhat stormy session, the hearing was closed with A. H. Williamson, hearing examiner, ruling that either side may have the opportunity to submit additional evidence to the PSC.

Williamson also reserved decision on whether to admit as evidence the contract between the railroad and Lezette's Express for the carrying of express and less than carload lot freight if the trains are discontinued. Larkin had objected to the contract's admission as evidence on technical grounds.

The record of the hearing will be turned over to the Public Service Commissioners for study and decision.

The trains in question run daily except Sunday between Kingston and Oneonta, one in each direction. They are the last two passenger trains remaining on the once heavily travelled Ulster and Delaware Railroad tracks.

Surprise Element

An element of surprise entered the hearing Monday afternoon when opponents to the removal of the trains called two of the railroad company's own witnesses, Stephen J. Keating, trainmaster

Men Report Many Left Gravely Ill

Fifty-Five U. S. Troops to Be Released Are Still in Hands of Reds

Panmunjom, Korea, April 21 (AP)—A second group of 100 disabled but jubilant allied prisoners came back from North Korean prison stockades today as the 30 Americans exchanged yesterday landed in Japan on their way home.

Many of the American and other United Nations prisoners who rolled through Freedom Gate today were laughing and joking in sharp contrast to the solemn air of those freed as the exchange of sick and wounded began yesterday.

But today's group of 35 Americans, 12 British, three Turks and 50 South Koreans told also of seriously sick and wounded comrades still in Red prison camps and of death marches over frozen highways during the bitter winters of 1950, 1951 and 1952.

55 Yanks Still Held

The Reds said they would exchange 100 South Koreans for 350 North Koreans and 150 Chinese Communists tomorrow, leaving 55 Americans the Reds have promised to free still in Communists hands.

All of the 605 disabled United Nations and South Korean captives to be freed by the Reds are to be exchanged by Saturday (Friday night, U. S. time), the day full-scale armistice negotiations are to be resumed.

Some 5,800 North Koreans and Chinese sick and wounded will be back in Communist hands by May 1.

Allied reconnaissance planes today spotted a convoy of Communist trucks and ambulances carrying more sick and wounded prisoners toward Panmunjom. Shortly after noon it was moving between Sariwon and Sohung, 50 to 75 miles north of Kaesong.

A plane carrying 36 Americans and other allied sick and wounded from Korea landed Tuesday at Tachikawa Air Base, near Tokyo. Air force officials said there will be daily flights until all U. S. prisoners are in Japan on their way home.

Carried on Litters

Twelve of the Americans flown to Japan Tuesday were carried from the big transport on litters. Newsmen at the air base were not permitted to interview them.

In the Panmunjom neutral zone between two warring armies even the weather was more cheerful as the exchange of sick and wounded captives went through the second day.

The second batch of 500 disabled Chinese and North Koreans appeared a little less grumpy than yesterday's 500 as they headed north through a brand new arch erected by the Reds to match the allies' freedom gate.

The Communist arch was emblazoned with Chinese characters proclaiming "Long Live the Chinese Peoples' Republic! Long Live the Korean Peoples Democratic Government!"

The smaller UN gate bears the simple slogan:

"Welcome—Gate to Freedom."

United Nations prisoners who came back Tuesday, while jubilant over their release, told soberly of pain and suffering among comrades left behind.

The first ambulance to pull into the neutral zone Tuesday was loaded with allied prisoners shouting and wisecracking. The first man was Pfc. Paul O. Blanton of Broadhead, Ky.

It was 9 a. m.

Governor Forecasts Tests To End Intoxicated Driving

Albany, April 21 (AP)—A statewide campaign to use chemical tests against tipsy motorists is forecast by Gov. Dewey as a means of forcing "one of the worst scourges on the highway" to quit driving.

The governor signed yesterday legislation providing for the revocation of a motorist's driving license if he refuses to take chemical tests to determine whether he is intoxicated. The law goes into effect July 1.

Dewey said in a memorandum that the Joint Legislative Committee on Motor Vehicle Problems, which sponsored the bill, had indicated "that it is prepared to undertake a campaign in cooperation with local authorities to encourage the use of chemical tests throughout the state."

Such tests now may be administered to motorists only with their approval.

"The drinking driver constitutes one of the worst scourges on the highway," Dewey declared. He must be eliminated."

The measure was among the last of the 1,080 bills handled by the governor in the 30-day bill period, which ended last midnight.

A total of 879 new laws was enacted, of which 132 were signed by Dewey while the Senate and

Youthful Offender Statute Invoked for Two Cousins

Frank Banks, Jr., 17, and his cousin, Kenneth Joseph Banks, 17, of 491 Wilbur avenue, who were charged with a series of burglaries in the city and county following their apprehension on February 16, when two alert police officers set a trap which resulted in catching the pair in the Supreme Beverage Company plant on South Clinton avenue, will have their cases disposed of under the youthful offender statute.

In County Court before Judge John M. Cashin the pair entered pleas of not guilty to being youthful offenders and they waived the right to a jury trial. The indictment which charges unlawful entry; grand larceny, second degree; possession of burglar tools and also burglary, third degree, was ordered sealed. Because of the age of the youths Judge Cashin will treat them under the youthful offender law. John Larkin appeared for the two defendants and asked the court to invoke the youthful offender statute.

According to the police the two admit thefts from the Empire Diner on Broadway, Artcraft Camera Shop on North Front street, Cerasaro Brothers Sport Center on Clinton avenue, the

Led by Attorney John L. Larkin of this city and Attorney John Taylor Breen of Stamford, the opponents drew from witnesses a picture of a cattle car put on a regularly scheduled passenger train, another picture of passengers stranded at stations on a Labor Day when an allegedly scheduled train was not run. They contended that milk rates were lowered some time ago on all divisions except the Catskill Mountain Branch, and that the branch has since lost its milk business.

May Submit Evidence

At the conclusion of the somewhat stormy session, the hearing was closed with A. H. Williamson, hearing examiner, ruling that either side may have the opportunity to submit additional evidence to the PSC.

Williamson also reserved decision on whether to admit as evidence the contract between the railroad and Lezette's Express for the carrying of express and less than carload lot freight if the trains are discontinued. Larkin had objected to the contract's admission as evidence on technical grounds.

The record of the hearing will be turned over to the Public Service Commissioners for study and decision.

The trains in question run daily except Sunday between Kingston and Oneonta, one in each direction. They are the last two passenger trains remaining on the once heavily travelled Ulster and Delaware Railroad tracks.

Surprise Element

An element of surprise entered the hearing Monday afternoon when opponents to the removal of the trains called two of the railroad company's own witnesses, Stephen J. Keating, trainmaster

Men Report Many Left Gravely Ill

Fifty-Five U. S. Troops to Be Released Are Still in Hands of Reds

Panmunjom, Korea, April 21 (AP)—A second group of 100 disabled but jubilant allied prisoners came back from North Korean prison stockades today as the 30 Americans exchanged yesterday landed in Japan on their way home.

Many of the American and other United Nations prisoners who rolled through Freedom Gate today were laughing and joking in sharp contrast to the solemn air of those freed as the exchange of sick and wounded began yesterday.

But today's group of 35 Americans, 12 British, three Turks and 50 South Koreans told also of seriously sick and wounded comrades still in Red prison camps and of death marches over frozen highways during the bitter winters of 1950, 1951 and 1952.

55 Yanks Still Held

The Reds said they would exchange 100 South Koreans for 350 North Koreans and 150 Chinese Communists tomorrow, leaving 55 Americans the Reds have promised to free still in Communists hands.

All of the 605 disabled United Nations and South Korean captives to be freed by the Reds are to be exchanged by Saturday (Friday night, U. S. time), the day full-scale armistice negotiations are to be resumed.

Some 5,800 North Koreans and Chinese sick and wounded will be back in Communist hands by May 1.

Allied reconnaissance planes today spotted a convoy of Communist trucks and ambulances carrying more sick and wounded prisoners toward Panmunjom. Shortly after noon it was moving between Sariwon and Sohung, 50 to 75 miles north of Kaesong.

A plane carrying 36 Americans and other allied sick and wounded from Korea landed Tuesday at Tachikawa Air Base, near Tokyo. Air force officials said there will be daily flights until all U. S. prisoners are in Japan on their way home.

Carried on Litters

Twelve of the Americans flown to Japan Tuesday were carried from the big transport on litters. Newsmen at the air base were not permitted to interview them.

In the Panmunjom neutral zone between two warring armies even the weather was more cheerful as the exchange of sick and wounded captives went through the second day.

The second batch of 500 disabled Chinese and North Koreans appeared a little less grumpy than yesterday's 500 as they headed north through a brand new arch erected by the Reds to match the allies' freedom gate.

The Communist arch was emblazoned with Chinese characters proclaiming "Long Live the Chinese Peoples' Republic! Long Live the Korean Peoples Democratic Government!"

The smaller UN gate bears the simple slogan:

"Welcome—Gate to Freedom."

United Nations prisoners who came back Tuesday, while jubilant over their release, told soberly of pain and suffering among comrades left behind.

The first ambulance to pull into the neutral zone Tuesday was loaded with allied prisoners shouting and wisecracking. The first man was Pfc. Paul O. Blanton of Broadhead, Ky.

It was 9 a. m.

Armstrong Berated For Lack of Candor

State Department Aide Accused by Senators Seeking Data

Washington, April 21 (AP) — W. Park Armstrong, state department special assistant for intelligence, was accused today of a "lack of candor" during questioning by senators about the number of his employes discharged for security reasons.

Sen. McCarran (D.-Nev.) told Armstrong his "lack of candor is very plain," and Sen. Dirksen (R.-Ill.) informed the witness:

"I wouldn't give you a dollar if I had any real doubt about whether you are doing a good job."

Armstrong encountered rough going from the time he took the witness chair at a public session of a Senate appropriations subcommittee. He appeared to support a request for $2,344,310 to operate his division during the fiscal year starting July 1.

Sen. Mundt (R.-S.D.), associating himself with Dirksen's view, told Armstrong "public employment is the public's business" and there should be "no desire on the part of any one to cover up."

Before the committee met Mundt said he sees some signs that the state department is speeding up the dismissal of holdovers from the Democratic Truman administration.

But He Wasn't Successful

Albany, Calif., April 21 (AP)—Policeman Glenn Thompson tiptoed to the home of Mrs. Harold Forster in pre-dawn darkness. Sure enough, as Mrs. Foster had telephoned, a fumbling attempt to enter the house was a progress. A large Chesapeake retriever was trying to turn the doorknob with his teeth. Thompson took the dog to the pound.

Would Put Chinese Out of Country, Send Them to Formosa

United Nations, April 21 (AP)—The U. S. today threw its support behind Burma's demand that Chinese Nationalist guerrillas get off its soil and said it was actively working to bring this about.

Chief U. S. Delegate Henry Cabot Lodge, Jr., told the 60-nation Political Committee the U. S. was hard at work on a three-point plan. It would:

1. Require the active support of the Chinese Nationalist government to influence the 12,000 guerrillas in Burma to give up.

2. Stop military operations between the Burmese Army and those guerrillas.

3. Disarm the Chinese and remove them to Formosa via Thailand. Lodge said Thailand had agreed to this.

Feels Right Exists

The American representative said the U. S. felt Burma had the right to demand the removal of the Chinese, whom he accused of "depredations" against the Burmese people. He said many of the guerrillas were "common bandits posing as Chinese Nationalists" and that the removal of the genuine guerrillas would leave Burma able to control the others.

Lodge said the U. S. took steps to mediate at the request of the Burmese government which has no diplomatic relations with Chiang Kai-shek's government on Formosa.

Chinese Berate Bowles

Taipeh, Formosa, April 21 (AP)—The strongly pro-Nationalist China News today berated Chester Bowles, former U. S. ambassador to India, as "an American diplomat who has been enthusiastic toward India's role of flirting with Red China." Bowles, on a tour of the Far East, left for Tokyo today.

What's in a Name?

Fuerth, Germany, April 21 (AP)—The army is taking no chances with its motor service wrecker here. Pfc. Edmund Carufel of Somerset, Mich., is the driver—and he pronounces his name "careful." His army nickname despite 50,000 miles without an accident—"Reckless."

15 Drown in Mishaps

Manila, April 21 (AP)—Fifteen persons drowned Monday in two boat mishaps, the Philippine News Service reported today.

Jencks Is Charged

Silver City, N. M., April 21 (AP)—Union leader Clinton Jencks, arrested last night by the FBI, has been charged by a federal grand jury with swearing falsely he was not a Communist. U. S. District Attorney Holvey Williams at El Paso said today Jencks was indicted under the 1947 Labor Relations Act, commonly known as the Taft Hartley Law. Williams said the two-count indictment charges Jencks violated the law when he filed a required affidavit for labor union leaders April 28, 1950, swearing he was not then a Communist and not then affiliated with the Communist party.

Treasury Receipts

Washington, April 21 (AP)—The position of the treasury April 17: Net budget receipts $115,982,735.28; budget expenditures $240,272,379.79; cash balance $4,856,097,463.10; customs receipts for month $31,531,655.35; budget receipts fiscal year July 1 $50,160,217,763.70; budget expenditures fiscal year $57,721,425,299.84; budget deficit $7,561,207,536.14; total debt $264,310,857,614.99; decrease under previous day $47,490,509.82; gold assets $22,561,357,471.86.

Civil Suit Filed Against Concerns; Cartel Is Charged

Washington, April 21 (AP)—Attorney General Brownell today filed a civil anti-trust suit against five major American oil companies, charging they had participated in an international oil cartel.

The action, filed in the Federal District Court here, is designed to substitute for the criminal anti-trust investigation involving these five companies and others which former Attorney General James P. McGranery put before a grand jury here last fall.

Brownell proposes to drop the criminal inquiry for "national security" reasons.

The grand jury proceeding involved more than a score of companies here and abroad.

Today's civil action named as defendants: Standard Oil Company of New Jersey; Standard Oil Company of California, Socony-Vacuum Oil Company Inc., the Texas Company, and the Gulf Oil Corporation.

The attorney general said, however, that the defendant list may be expanded at some later date to include other oil corporations, both domestic and foreign. Such action, he said, will depend on what the government discovers in records of the five original defendants, which Brownell today asked the District Court to order produced for inspection.

Governor Forecasts Tests To End Intoxicated Driving

Albany, April 21 (AP)—A statewide campaign to use chemical tests against tipsy motorists is forecast by Gov. Dewey as a means of forcing "one of the worst scourges on the highway" to quit driving.

The governor signed yesterday legislation providing for the revocation of a motorist's driving license if he refuses to take chemical tests to determine whether he is intoxicated. The law goes into effect July 1.

Dewey said in a memorandum that the Joint Legislative Committee on Motor Vehicle Problems, which sponsored the bill, had indicated "that it is prepared to undertake a campaign in cooperation with local authorities to encourage the use of chemical tests throughout the state."

Such tests now may be administered to motorists only with their approval.

"The drinking driver constitutes one of the worst scourges on the highway," Dewey declared. He must be eliminated."

The measure was among the last of the 1,080 bills handled by the governor in the 30-day bill period, which ended last midnight.

A total of 879 new laws was enacted, of which 132 were signed by Dewey while the Senate and

Youthful Offender Statute Invoked for Two Cousins

Frank Banks, Jr., 17, and his cousin, Kenneth Joseph Banks, 17, of 491 Wilbur avenue, who were charged with a series of burglaries in the city and county following their apprehension on February 16, when two alert police officers set a trap which resulted in catching the pair in the Supreme Beverage Company plant on South Clinton avenue, will have their cases disposed of under the youthful offender statute.

In County Court before Judge John M. Cashin the pair entered pleas of not guilty to being youthful offenders and they waived the right to a jury trial. The indictment which charges unlawful entry; grand larceny, second degree; possession of burglar tools and also burglary, third degree, was ordered sealed. Because of the age of the youths Judge Cashin will treat them under the youthful offender law. John Larkin appeared for the two defendants and asked the court to invoke the youthful offender statute.

According to the police the two admit thefts from the Empire Diner on Broadway, Artcraft Camera Shop on North Front street, Cerasaro Brothers Sport Center on Clinton avenue, the

Will Seek New Bids On Building Program

Wallkill, April 21—As a result of bids received last week ranging almost $50,000 over the estimated cost of an addition to the Plattekill School in the Wallkill Central District's building program, the board of education voted Wednesday night to reject all bids submitted by contractors at a meeting at the school. Instead of the original plan of letting the contracts separately for each of the three-point building programs, calling for a new elementary building at Wallkill and additions to the present Plattekill and Wallkill structures, the board has now decided to ask for contract bids on the entire program.

In so doing they feel that large scale construction will attract high bracket contractors and result in considerable saving to the district—though on the basis of bids already submitted, the indication is that construction will be in excess of the $768,000 for the district's building program authorized by the district voters September 30, 1952.

Voters at that time agreed to spend $146,000 for the Plattekill addition; $509,000 for the elementary building at Wallkill and $112,500 for additions and improvements to the present Wallkill building.

Will Submit Plans

Architect Harry Halverson of Kingston has been instructed to submit as soon as possible final plans for both Wallkill projects. Final plans on the Plattekill addition were accepted by the board a few weeks ago prior to the call for bids. State Education and Health Department requirements necessarily increased the estimate of the Plattekill program at that time.

Halverson has promised submission of final plans by July 1. Bids will be called for by the board then, based on these final plans and when contract bids are received and opened, the board will call an election of the taxpayers for authority to accept the amount submitted by the lowest bidder. This would probably be sometime in August.

There will be no further estimates, the voters will decide this time on the actual figure submitted by the contractor, who will be bound by contract to complete the program at the given price.

Only expected delay in the overall program would seem to effect Plattekill, which now has a setback of about seven months. The board hopes the entire program can be completed by September 1954.

Board members accepted the school calendar for 1953-54. The calendar calls for the opening of school next Sept. 9, with a faculty meeting to be held Sept. 8. School will be closed in 1954 on June 29. There will be several meetings of the board held between now and the annual meeting date on July 14 for the purpose of drawing up plans for the 1953-54 budget.

Teacher Granted Leave

Mabeth Black, teacher at the Leptondale School, was granted a leave of absence for the remainder of the term. Mrs. Marion Tysse of New Hurley will be the substitute teacher. A contract was entered into by the board with the Board of Cooperative Educational Services of the Second Supervisory District which will enable the district to take advantage of the services of the dental hygienist and a reading specialist.

At a meeting of the Citizens' Educational Advisory Committee Tuesday night at the school, the members discussed the current building program; concensus of opinion being that rather than delete any of the items called for in the plans, the matter should again be taken to the taxpayers for another vote.

Governor Gets Paid

Concord, N. H. (AP) — It costs 25 cents to see New Hampshire's governor. State House callers got a mild jolt when Governor Hugh Gregg informs them through a secretary that, if they desired to see him, they will first have to buy a lapel button that says: "I am a wheeper for New Hampshire."

New Machine Is Viewed at Session

New York, April 21 (AP)—The nation's publishers took a look yesterday at production models of a revoluntionary photographic type-composing machine heralded as the symbol of a new age in printing.

The new machine, Photon, made by Photon, Inc., of Cambridge, Mass., was unveiled last winter when Dr. Vannevar Bush, president of the Carnegie Institution of Washington, said it was a milestone in civilization.

Bush is a director of the Graphic Arts Research Foundation, also of Cambridge, a non-profit organization founded in 1949 to advance graphic arts through the application of modern technology.

Hundreds of publishers and executives attending the 67th annual convention of the American Newspaper Publishers Association at the hotel Waldorf-Astoria inspected two machines on view.

Their reaction was enthusiastic, according to William W. Garth Jr., president both of Photon, Inc., and the research foundation.

Has Organ-Like Console

The machine, which has a standard electric typewriter mechanism mounted on what looks like an organ console 54 inches wide, can be operated by an otherwise untrained typist.

The keyboard controls a complex electrical network.

Push-button controls select type faces, size of type, positioning, justification, etc. Typing errors can be corrected with simple correction keys.

Garth claims the 2,000-pound machine will revolutionize typesetting and halve the costs, eliminating expensive and time-consuming composing rooms.

The film, 100 feet long, can be developed either as a positive or negative galley. When developed, it is ready for proofs for make-up or engraving on metal plates.

Garth said 65 firms have asked for the machine and that plans are to lease them at $400 a month.

A razor blade has been developed which is capable of slitting a human hair into seven parts—lengthwise.

From $27.50 to $6,000

Aurora, Ill., April 21 (AP)—Paul Egan, who was receiving $27.50 a week unemployment compensation when he was elected mayor of Aurora two weeks ago, today began his new job—at a salary of $6,000 a year. Egan, father of five children, formerly was publisher of a weekly newspaper and later an advertising salesman in Aurora, a city of 50,000 persons about 35 miles southwest of Chicago.

Leaves for New York

Cairo, Egypt, April 21 (AP)—Ahmed Hussein, Egypt's new ambassador to the United States, left by plane for New York last night. He told newsmen at the airport he was "fully convinced the United States is the only country in the world which works for the welfare of humanity and for ensuring personal and public liberties."

Australia had 81,000 immigrants in the first nine months of 1952.

Headquarters Visited

Fontainebleau, France, April 21 —U. S. Secretary of Defense Charles E. Wilson and Secretary of the Army Robert Stevens visited the headquarters of the allied air forces in central Europe here today. Then they took off on a whirlwind trip to French and American air bases in France. At the headquarters here, staff members outlined current operations and plans for them. Those attending said Wilson expressed particular interest in plans for a pipeline network to supply aviation fuel to the scattered airfields.

Five Laws to Aid Cities Get Water

Albany, April 21 (AP)—Watershort muncipalities today had five new laws designed to help them develop and co-ordinate water distribution system.

Gov. Dewey signed the measures last night. They implement a proposed constitutional amendment that would allow localities to develop water supplies in excess of their own needs for sale to other units of local government.

The amendment will be submitted to the voters next November for final clearance. It was approved by the 1953 Legislature for the necessary second time.

A special committee headed by State Comptroller J. Raymond McGovern drew up the development program.

No Comment Made

Dewey signed without comment the bills which:

Authorize county boards of supervisors to establish or extend county water districts for wholesale and retail distribution, subject to permissive referendums and hearing as to rates. (Sen. S. Wentworth Horton, R-Greenport).

Facilitate the consolidation of special improvement districts for water supply purposes (Horton).

Permit any city, village, county or town to provide for development of water supply in excess of its needs for sale to public corporations or improvement districts under maximum 40-year contracts. (Assemblyman Theordore Hill Jr., R-Westchester county).

Allow two or more municipal corporations to contract joint indebtedness for a common water supply. The debts would be excluded from their legal debt limit. (Sen. William S. Hults Jr., R-Port Washington).

Authorize two or more municipalities to contract for a common water supply to be acquired and operated by joint action (Sen. Wheeler Milmoe, R-Canastota).

Five Are Released

Buenos Aires, Argentina, April 21 (AP) — An Argentine federal judge has released five persons after last week's bomb explosion at a political rally addressed by President Juan Peron. Among those freed was Stephen Jacyna, an American citizen. The rest were Argentines. The releases were ordered yesterday by Judge Miguel Rivas Arguello, who is investigating the bombing that rocked Buenos Aires' Central Plaza de Mayo. Peron was unhurt but six other persons were killed and 92 injured in the explosions and stampede that followed.

Some 600,000 acres of U. S. Indian lands were under oil and gas leases in 1952.

IMAGINE YOURSELF IN EAST EUROPE

We would like you to try a simple experiment. Sit down comfortably in your own home, close your eyes and concentrate on something no free American likes to think about—the life of a prisoner.

Imagine yourself one of the 2,500,000 Jews living in Eastern Europe's Iron Curtain countries. Terror and fear—these are your constant companions. You and your family are helpless pawns waiting in fear of your lives for the next move in the cruel game of anti-Semitism.

Try this experiment and you will begin to understand the dread now gripping the Jews in Eastern Europe, as well as the thousands of Jews living in tension-ridden Moslem countries.

For hundreds of thousands of these desperate Jewish familes there is a spark of hope: the United Jewish Appeal.

During the past decade and a half the nationwide United Jewish Appeal has saved and directly aided more than 2,000,000 destitute and helpless Jews. Now it is asking you to contribute voluntarily to help raise nearly $145,000,000 during 1953, to achieve these goals:

Meet the urgent needs of Jewish escapees from Communist-controlled countries of Eastern Europe, and speed their resettlement in Israel and other havens.

Provide vital welfare, settlement and rehabilitation aid to 500,000 other dependent Jews, 300,000 in Israel and the rest in Western Europe and tension-ridden Moslem lands.

Strengthen Israel by helping the young democracy to speed the absorption of 240,000 recent newcomers and to increase food production through the establishment of new farm settlements and the expansion of irrigation.

Furnish adjustment and settlement assistance to refugees coming to the United States, 5,000 of whom are expected this year.

This is a program necessary to save as many lives as possible during this year and to make those lives useful and constructive. In our community, the United Jewish Appeal is supported by the United Jewish Welfare Fund of Kingston. Your maximum contribution will make this program a living reality.

Contributions may be sent to the United Jewish Welfare Fund of Kingston, 265 Wall street.

CHANGING PEACE SCENE

Shock follows shock in the newly formed Russian peace offensive. One of the least expected was the dropping of charges against the doctors accused of murdering Soviet officials. These arrests, following soon after the Czechoslovakian purge trials, were the foundation of many of the anti-semitic charges made against the Soviet Union.

Many of these doctors were Jews. Many of the victims in the Prague purge were Jewish. Another event that crystallized the anti-Jewish attitude was the breaking off of Russo-Israeli relations.

Little is said these days about Russia's relations with the Moslem world or her influence there. Has Russia decided that the Free World, since recent atomic tests were made in Nevada, is suddenly worth courting at the expense of the states of southern Asia?

MODERN ARMADA

The ships of all the world's great powers will steam past Queen Elizabeth of England on June 15th. The Coronation naval review will be one of the greatest collections of warships ever to assemble. It will include a battleship from Russia, a cruiser from the United States, a training ship from Italy and ships from all the far-flung outposts of the British Commonwealth. In addition a part of the great British Navy will steam past the new sovereign.

The ceremony will be a naval tribute to the Queen. It is a fitting one for a Queen who bears the name of Elizabeth. During the reign of the first Elizabeth, Englishmen ventured out on voyages of adventure and discovery which brought everlasting glory to Great Britain.

What a paradise for self-seeking politicians Russia must be! Any influential man can start an intrigue which ends by putting his rivals in a concentration camp or before a firing squad. The only trouble is that the other fellow may get there first.

'These Days'

By GEORGE SOKOLSKY

THE CHICKEN OR THE EGG

An old conundrum which no man has yet answered, not even the scientists or the theologians who have an answer for everything, is which came first, the chicken or the egg?

I am minded of this in the discussion concerning budgets and taxes. Some very wise men say that there can be no tax cut until the budget is balanced. Other equally great minds say that governments are like sponges; they can absorb all the money that is given to them; they swell up on the additional revenue, growing ever larger. Therefore, a ceiling must be put on governmental income; otherwise, expenditures will not be cut.

The Republicans are in the awkward position that having promised a tax cut in the course of the campaign, they are unwilling to be pushed into what they regard as precipitous action. The President and his Secretary of the Treasury prefer to balance the budget before they announce a tax cut. On the other hand, members of Congress who will be up for re-election in 1954 realize they must have a cut if they are to win.

Some strategists hold that the tax cut can be delayed until next January, with perhaps a retroactive period so that the cut will be felt by March 15, 1954, and will help to win in November, 1954. Other equally competent strategists hold that such action will be too late and too small in amount to make much difference. They want a tax cut announced during the present session of the 83rd Congress.

This situation is complicated by the actual tax cuts in Canada and Great Britain during the year 1953. The British cut is particularly embarrassing because that country is able to do it while it is receiving substantial American aid—an aid which is one reason why it is so difficult to reduce American taxes. In a word, we subsidize a British tax cut by avoiding an American tax cut.

This is actually what the British did:

1. Income taxes have been reduced between 5 and 17 per cent, with the greatest relief to smaller incomes.
2. The purchase tax (sales tax to us) has been cut by a minimum of 25 per cent.
3. The 30 per cent excess profits tax will end next January.
4. Incentives in tax reductions will be arranged to stimulate production.

The Canadians have announced an 11 per cent cut. Both countries stipulate that the cuts are incentives to production. If they need incentives, why do we not need incentives?

It is a very curious situation because what it amounts to is that the Canadians and the British are acting with fiscal wisdom in a post-war situation, while the United States maintains a wartime economy. Yet, American aid continues to go to Great Britain. Furthermore, the American Congress is being asked to reduce its tariffs even to the point of free trade in order to stimulate European production while this country maintains an excess profits tax which keeps American prices high.

This particular issue is the most important before Congress and is being fought over among Republicans with greater vigor than appears in the press. Those Senators who do not come up for election in 1954 are willing to go along with the President's slow-motion program which they feel will come out all right in the end. Those Senators who face an election in 1954, and all Representatives, cannot wait that long. When they go home in August, they want to be able to say that the U. S. Congress will do as well as the British Parliament. Few of them will be able to use the alibi that it will cheer the American heart to get a tax cut in time for the November, 1954 election.

The Democrats never promised a tax cut and therefore can evade the issue. The danger for the Republicans is that the Democrats might take advantage of the situation to advocate a tax reduction.

No one questions the intent or purpose of President Eisenhower or of Secretary of the Treasury George Humphrey. It is a political matter of timing that is at issue. Unless there is a world war, a tax cut is bound to come, but will it affect earnings in 1953, in 1954 or in 1955? Politically, the sooner the better.

That Body of Yours

By JAMES W. BARTON, M.D.

FACTS THAT GIVE FOOD FOR THOUGHT

Some of us may remember the deadly menace of yellow fever to the inhabitants of certain districts in Africa. It was a terrible picture. In the Transactions of the Royal Society of Tropical Medicine and Hygiene, London, Drs. G. W. A. Dick and F. L. Gee make the following report:

"In 1941, more than 145,000 persons in the Toro district of Uganda were vaccinated with 17D yellow fever vaccine which was prepared in the laboratories of the International Health Division of the Rockefeller Foundation, New York."

What was the result of this mass vaccination against yellow fever?

The report covers the survey of November, 1950, nine years after the vaccination. No epidemic of yellow fever had occurred in the areas mentioned above. It was found that where vaccination had been done, 77.2 per cent of the sample of persons of nine years and over were immune to yellow fever, while in the area where no vaccinations were done in 1941, only 17.5 per cent were immune. It is believed that a number of persons who had been vaccinated had migrated to the latter area and that a number of non-vaccinated persons now lived in the area where vaccinations were done.

In the vaccinated area there was a significant difference in the immunity rates in the samples of children 9 to 15 years (63.2 per cent) as compared with that of females of 16 years and over (82.8 per cent). While this difference may indicate one in the response of young children compared with older children and adults to vaccination, it seems more likely that it is due to an excess of non-vaccinated children having been included in one of the samples. The results of this study suggest that the validity of yellow fever certificates could be extended up to at least nine years after vaccination, except in the case of children who were less than 7 years old when vaccinated. It certainly seems a small price to pay (just being vaccinated) for these natives to keep themselves free of yellow fever for all these years.

As we think of the ravages of yellow fever of the days before vaccination and compare it with the above figures, it should make us more willing, as a people and as individuals, to give financial aid to these unselfish laboratory workers who often take their lives in their hands to help prevent the suffering and death of their fellows.

Edson's Washington News Notebook

By PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

Washington (NEA) — A test case to put the Republican administration on record about its policy in firing high-ranking Civil Service employes, to replace them with political patronage appointees, has just been raised by Marion Clawson. For the last five years Mr. Clawson has been director of the Bureau of Land Management in Department of Interior, at $13,200 a year.

The new secretary of the interior, Douglas McKay, wants Mr. Clawson to step aside and take a job as economic adviser at $11,800 a year. By so doing Secretary McKay will be able to appoint as director a man of his own choice, Edward Woozley of Boise, Ida.

Mr. Woozley is a Republican. Two years ago he made an unsuccessful race for Congress, so he is now given a patronage job. For the last six years Woozley has been Idaho land commissioner, so he is not completely unfamiliar with what his new responsibilities will be. He does not have the experience of Mr. Clawson in public land management, however, and that is assumed to be the reason Secretary McKay would like to keep Clawson on, though at a lower job.

Mr. Clawson knows in advance he can't win his protest fight against this down-grading. He can appeal his demotion to the Civil Service Commission. But there is no way in which the commission can force Secretary McKay to keep Clawson in his present job as director.

Furthermore, Mr. Clawson admits that even if he could win, there could be no harmony in an administration where he knew he wasn't wanted.

Mr. Clawson is a Democrat. He won his appointment as head of the Bureau of Land Management over the violent objections of former Sen. Sheridan Downey of California, also a Democrat.

Fights Spoils System

In his five years in Washington, where he has won a national and international reputation in public lands administration, Mr. Clawson has tried to depoliticalize his job.

As a matter of principle, he does not believe that a Civil Service administrative job, set up under a congressionally-approved reorganization plan to remove it from political pressure, should again be made subject to the spoils system and the political pressure of the old General Land Office days, with their scandals.

Secretary McKay says Clawson had agreed to step aside. Mr. Clawson says he did not agree to take any other job in the department than the one he has. So he's going to make them fire him, and tell why just to clear the political atmosphere.

The Clawson case is only the most recent in which Republican leaders have given notice that Democratic brains are not wanted in top positions by the new administration. The cleanout is to be complete.

Perhaps the most obvious example occurred in the case of Democratic ex-Congressman Maurice Burnside of West Virginia. It has attracted little attention outside that state. But it is prime evidence of what political pressure can do.

Dr. Burnside was defeated for re-election last November, after he had served two terms in Congress. He then took Civil Service examinations and qualified for a top administrative position in the extremely secretive National Security Agency in the Pentagon. Dr. Burnside holds degrees in political science and international law from University of Texas and Duke.

Economy Given as Reason for Firing

When West Virginia Republicans heard about his appointment to the Pentagon job, they raised such a terrific fuss that Dr. Burnside was fired. The reason given for the dismissal was that this was an economy move, and as one of the most recently hired, he would have to be one of the first fired.

The political pressure from West Virginia, however, was all to the effect that since Dr. Burnside had been repudiated at the polls in November, he was not entitled to a government job.

This same political reasoning was not applied in the case of former Sen. Harry P. Cain of Washington.

Senator Cain, a Republican, was also repudiated at the polls in the last election, when he was defeated by the present Sen. Henry M. Jackson. But this did not prevent Senator Cain's appointment to a job on the Subversive Activities Control Board.

Senator Cain is not a lawyer, and he did not have to pass any Civil Service competitive examination — as did Burnside and Clawson—to get his job.

Minnesota Sen. Edward J. Thye's Small Business Subcommittee investigation into the firing of Dr. Allen V. Astin as director of the Bureau of Standards offers one chance to clear up the Eisenhower administration personnel policy.

Dr. Astin's resignation was requested because it was charged by Assistant Secretary of Commerce Craig R. Sheaffer that the Bureau had not been sufficiently sympathetic to business in refusing to approve the storage battery additive AD-X2.

But the Astin firing has been criticized by many of the top scientific organizations of the country. Among civil servants it has raised the charge that their acceptable standard of conduct for the future must be, "Never let Duty interfere with Poilitics."

Kremlin Viewed as Getting Pleasure, Comfort From Comment on Allied Economy

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, April 21 (AP)—Nothing could please the Kremlin more than to have its constant propaganda against capitalism confirmed by the oft-repeated comment that the United States and its allies have a vested interest in war and really fear the coming of peace.

The behavior of the stock market, which started dipping downward recently when the first moves of the Soviet peace maneuvers were revealed, has misled many people into believing that peace could bring a business depression. What many people fail to realize is that the stock market reflects short-term rather than long-range trends and that it also reflects uncertainty due to lack of information at the moment concerning the meaning of world events.

The administration sent the secretary of the treasury, George Humphrey, to New York to deliver a speech at the annual luncheon of the Associated Press and, though the arrangements for the address were made some time ago, it was natural that Mr. Humphrey should take advantage of the opportunity to answer questions about the "fear of peace."

"We are not going to have a depression in America," said the treasury secretary, "whether we have an armistice, a real peace, or continue to develop a proper and balance posture of defense. There is no reason for a depression unless we fail ourselves to do the things we ought to do and lack the courage and foresight to do them.

"There will be readjustments, of course. There are always readjustments taking place in any active economy, sometimes to the advantage or detriment of one group and sometimes to another. But depression, no. We cannot preserve our way of life through another long, deep depression and we must never permit it to occur."

There, in a nutshell, is the whole economic philosophy of the Eisenhower administration. Government will use its emergency powers and its immense powers over credit and money and its lending experience to stave off a depression if one is threatened. But Mr. Humphrey pointed out that a reduction in spending for armament today is not likely to produce as drastic an impact on the national economy as it did when World War 2 ended in 1945, and total government expenses came down from $98.7 billion in 1945 to $49.3 billion in 1947. He pointed out that defense spending alone was reduced in two years from $9.5 billion in 1945 to $16.8 billion, plus about $5 billion in foreign.

When the drop, therefore, in defense and foreign-aid spending can go from $90.5 to approximately $21 billion in two years and the economy does not suffer a depression, it confirms the underlying strength and flexibility of the American business structure.

The secretary of the treasury reminded his audience and the country that America makes its greatest strides in peacetime and that the trend always is toward "more and better goods at less cost for more people."

This is the outlook of thoughful business men who have appraised accurately the meaning of the gradually increasing population in terms of demand as well as the increased productivity of labor and machines.

Mr. Humphrey is right when he says that peace is not to be feared but really should be welcomed from a business standpoint, for no country today can for any length of time support an unbalanced economy—unbalanced, that is, by a disproportionate amount of labor and resources that go into the unproductive spending for war or preparation for war.

The treasury secretary gave hope that there would soon be a reduction of spending and tax reduction, too, but did not specify dates.

"So long as we maintain," he said, "the soundness of our money; attain that nice balance between achieving security from aggression and maintaining aconomic strength; eliminate waste and handle our fiscal affairs with wisdom, America can look forward to good jobs at good pay and real advances in the scale of living. We can have a stronger economy based on sounder fundamental conditions than we have known in many years."

The theory back of that statement is a simple one—the people generally can spend their money for their own account and in their own way for what they want much better than the government can spend it for them.

That's the doctrine which the secretary of the treasury proclaimed. It is as old as the law of supply and demand. It's the sturdiest principle in the individual enterprise system. It has built up America under a citizen's capitalism to greater strength than any system of state capitalism or socialism that has yet been tried throughout centuries of time.

Need Grows for More Money For Industries and Farms

By SAM DAWSON

New York, April 16 (AP)—The need for more money to run the nation's industries and farms grows. The cost of coming by the money is pushing up again.

Interest rates on mortgages feel the upward pressure. So do bank loans to business and agriculture.

Small-loan companies are paying higher rates today to borrow from banks so they may get the money to lend to buyers of autos and appliances.

Rates that brokers and dealers must pay for bank loans to buy and carry corporate securities are up again.

The U. S. Treasury is paying more to borrow the money it needs to meet the growing deficit.

And corporations find they must pay more interest on the securities they sell the public to finance plant expansion or to carry their business operations.

Here are the upward revisions in the cost of borrowing money made so far this week, and others that bankers say are in the works:

Three large consumer finance companies raised by ⅛ of a percentage point interest rates on the short-term, unsecured notes they sell to banks. It was the second such hike in five weeks. The volume of bank loans to these small-loan companies went up by 52 million dollars this week, indicating the high demand that is pushing against the tight money market.

New York banks lending call money to brokers and dealers on corporate securities collateral raised the minimum rate to 3 per cent, up by ¼.

The larger New York banks are debating another hike in the rates on prime loans—those made to big business firms with the highest credit ratings. This rate rose from 2¼ to 3 per cent during 1951, held all last year, but may rise now to 3¼ per cent.

Tight Money Market

Pressure for the increase arises from the tight money market as managed by the federal reserve banks, and the larger than usual demand at this time of year for business loans.

Commercial, industrial and agricultural loans by banks now total 23¼ billion dollars, two billion dollars higher than a year ago. The usual drop in the first part of the year fell far short of expectations this year.

The U. S. Treasury's rate on long-term bonds advanced this week from 2½ to 3¼ per cent. To borrow on its 91-day bills the treasury is now paying the highest rate in nearly 20 years.

Pressure to raise the rates on treasury savings bonds continues, but the treasury is standing pat so far. The American Bankers Association is starting a new drive to push sales of these bonds to the public. Sales in each of the first three months of this year topped redemptions.

Holders of maturing F and G bonds got the chance this week to turn in these 2½ per cent issues for 3¼ per cent long-term bonds.

Mortgage interest rates have been easing upwards in many parts of the country, as higher rates in other investment forms lured available money away.

A drive is on to boost the interest charges on the guaranteed housing loans of the Veterans Administration and the Federal Housing Administration. Proponents say its' the only way to find the money now.

The V. A. has a 27,000 backlog of applications for G. I. housing loans, and its direct lending power at 4 per cent runs out in June. Congress is expected to extend it and to seek ways to hold down the interest costs.

IMAGINE YOURSELF IN EAST EUROPE

We would like you to try a simple experiment. Sit down comfortably in your own home, close your eyes and concentrate on something no free American likes to think about—the life of a prisoner.

Imagine yourself one of the 2,500,000 Jews living in Eastern Europe's Iron Curtain countries. Terror and fear—these are your constant companions. You and your family are helpless pawns waiting in fear of your lives for the next move in the cruel game of anti-Semitism.

Try this experiment and you will begin to understand the dread now gripping the Jews in Eastern Europe, as well as the thousands of Jews living in tension-ridden Moslem countries.

For hundreds of thousands of these desperate Jewish familes there is a spark of hope: the United Jewish Appeal.

During the past decade and a half the nationwide United Jewish Appeal has saved and directly aided more than 2,000,000 destitute and helpless Jews. Now it is asking you to contribute voluntarily to help raise nearly $145,000,000 during 1953, to achieve these goals:

Meet the urgent needs of Jewish escapees from Communist-controlled countries of Eastern Europe, and speed their resettlement in Israel and other havens.

Provide vital welfare, settlement and rehabilitation aid to 500,000 other dependent Jews, 300,000 in Israel and the rest in Western Europe and tension-ridden Moslem lands.

Strengthen Israel by helping the young democracy to speed the absorption of 240,000 recent newcomers and to increase food production through the establishment of new farm settlements and the expansion of irrigation.

Furnish adjustment and settlement assistance to refugees coming to the United States, 5,000 of whom are expected this year.

This is a program necessary to save as many lives as possible during this year and to make those lives useful and constructive. In our community, the United Jewish Appeal is supported by the United Jewish Welfare Fund of Kingston. Your maximum contribution will make this program a living reality.

Contributions may be sent to the United Jewish Welfare Fund of Kingston, 265 Wall street.

CHANGING PEACE SCENE

Shock follows shock in the newly formed Russian peace offensive. One of the least expected was the dropping of charges against the doctors accused of murdering Soviet officials. These arrests, following soon after the Czechoslovakian purge trials, were the foundation of many of the anti-semitic charges made against the Soviet Union.

Many of these doctors were Jews. Many of the victims in the Prague purge were Jewish. Another event that crystallized the anti-Jewish attitude was the breaking off of Russo-Israeli relations.

Little is said these days about Russia's relations with the Moslem world or her influence there. Has Russia decided that the Free World, since recent atomic tests were made in Nevada, is suddenly worth courting at the expense of the states of southern Asia?

MODERN ARMADA

The ships of all the world's great powers will steam past Queen Elizabeth of England on June 15th. The Coronation naval review will be one of the greatest collections of warships ever to assemble. It will include a battleship from Russia, a cruiser from the United States, a training ship from Italy and ships from all the far-flung outposts of the British Commonwealth. In addition a part of the great British Navy will steam past the new sovereign.

The ceremony will be a naval tribute to the Queen. It is a fitting one for a Queen who bears the name of Elizabeth. During the reign of the first Elizabeth, Englishmen ventured out on voyages of adventure and discovery which brought everlasting glory to Great Britain.

What a paradise for self-seeking politicians Russia must be! Any influential man can start an intrigue which ends by putting his rivals in a concentration camp or before a firing squad. The only trouble is that the other fellow may get there first.

'These Days'

By GEORGE SOKOLSKY

THE CHICKEN OR THE EGG

An old conundrum which no man has yet answered, not even the scientists or the theologians who have an answer for everything, is which came first, the chicken or the egg?

I am minded of this in the discussion concerning budgets and taxes. Some very wise men say that there can be no tax cut until the budget is balanced. Other equally great minds say that governments are like sponges; they can absorb all the money that is given to them; they swell up on the additional revenue, growing ever larger. Therefore, a ceiling must be put on governmental income; otherwise, expenditures will not be cut.

The Republicans are in the awkward position that having promised a tax cut in the course of the campaign, they are unwilling to be pushed into what they regard as precipitous action. The President and his Secretary of the Treasury prefer to balance the budget before they announce a tax cut. On the other hand, members of Congress who will be up for re-election in 1954 realize they must have a cut if they are to win.

Some strategists hold that the tax cut can be delayed until next January, with perhaps a retroactive period so that the cut will be felt by March 15, 1954, and will help to win in November, 1954. Other equally competent strategists hold that such action will be too late and too small in amount to make much difference. They want a tax cut announced during the present session of the 83rd Congress.

This situation is complicated by the actual tax cuts in Canada and Great Britain during the year 1953. The British cut is particularly embarrassing because that country is able to do it while it is receiving substantial American aid—an aid which is one reason why it is so difficult to reduce American taxes. In a word, we subsidize a British tax cut by avoiding an American tax cut.

This is actually what the British did:

1. Income taxes have been reduced between 5 and 17 per cent, with the greatest relief to smaller incomes.
2. The purchase tax (sales tax to us) has been cut by a minimum of 25 per cent.
3. The 30 per cent excess profits tax will end next January.
4. Incentives in tax reductions will be arranged to stimulate production.

The Canadians have announced an 11 per cent cut. Both countries stipulate that the cuts are incentives to production. If they need incentives, why do we not need incentives?

It is a very curious situation because what it amounts to is that the Canadians and the British are acting with fiscal wisdom in a post-war situation, while the United States maintains a wartime economy. Yet, American aid continues to go to Great Britain. Furthermore, the American Congress is being asked to reduce its tariffs even to the point of free trade in order to stimulate European production while this country maintains an excess profits tax which keeps American prices high.

This particular issue is the most important before Congress and is being fought over among Republicans with greater vigor than appears in the press. Those Senators who do not come up for election in 1954 are willing to go along with the President's slow-motion program which they feel will come out all right in the end. Those Senators who face an election in 1954, and all Representatives, cannot wait that long. When they go home in August, they want to be able to say that the U. S. Congress will do as well as the British Parliament. Few of them will be able to use the alibi that it will cheer the American heart to get a tax cut in time for the November, 1954 election.

The Democrats never promised a tax cut and therefore can evade the issue. The danger for the Republicans is that the Democrats might take advantage of the situation to advocate a tax reduction.

No one questions the intent or purpose of President Eisenhower or of Secretary of the Treasury George Humphrey. It is a political matter of timing that is at issue. Unless there is a world war, a tax cut is bound to come, but will it affect earnings in 1953, in 1954 or in 1955? Politically, the sooner the better.

That Body of Yours

FACTS THAT GIVE FOOD FOR THOUGHT

Some of us may remember the deadly menace of yellow fever to the inhabitants of certain districts in Africa. It was a terrible picture. In the Transactions of the Royal Society of Tropical Medicine and Hygiene, London, Drs. G. W. A. Dick and F. L. Gee make the following report:

"In 1941, more than 145,000 persons in the Toro district of Uganda were vaccinated with 17D yellow fever vaccine which was prepared in the laboratories of the International Health Division of the Rockefeller Foundation, New York."

What was the result of this mass vaccination against yellow fever?

The report covers the survey of November, 1950, nine years after the vaccination. No epidemic of yellow fever had occurred in the areas mentioned above. It was found that where vaccination had been done, 77.2 per cent of the sample of persons of nine years and over were immune to yellow fever, while in the area where no vaccinations were done in 1941, only 17.5 per cent were immune. It is believed that a number of persons who had been vaccinated had migrated to the latter area and that a number of non-vaccinated persons now lived in the area where vaccinations were done.

In the vaccinated area there was a significant difference in the immunity rates in the samples of children 9 to 15 years (63.2 per cent) as compared with that of females of 16 years and over (82.8 per cent). While this difference may indicate one in the response of young children compared with older children and adults to vaccination, it seems more likely that it is due to an excess of non-vaccinated children having been included in one of the samples. The results of this study suggest that the validity of yellow fever certificates could be extended up to at least nine years after vaccination, except in the case of children who were less than 7 years old when vaccinated. It certainly seems a small price to pay (just being vaccinated) for these natives to keep themselves free of yellow fever for all these years.

As we think of the ravages of yellow fever of the days before vaccination and compare it with the above figures, it should make us more willing, as a people and as individuals, to give financial aid to these unselfish laboratory workers who often take their lives in their hands to help prevent the suffering and death of their fellows.

Washington (NEA) — A test case to put the Republican administration on record about its policy in firing high-ranking Civil Service employes, to replace them with political patronage appointees, has just been raised by Marion Clawson. For the last five years Mr. Clawson has been director of the Bureau of Land Management in Department of Interior, at $13,200 a year.

As a matter of principle, he does not believe that a Civil Service administrative job, set up under a congressionally-approved reorganization plan to remove it from political pressure, should again be made subject to the spoils system and the political pressure of the old General Land Office days, with their scandals.

Secretary McKay says Clawson had agreed to step aside. Mr. Clawson says he did not agree to take any other job in the department than the one he has. So he's going to make them fire him, and tell why just to clear the political atmosphere.

Economy Given as Reason for Firing

When West Virginia Republicans heard about his appointment to the Pentagon job, they raised such a terrific fuss that Dr. Burnside was fired. The reason given for the dismissal was that this was an economy move, and as one of the most recently hired, he would have to be one of the first fired.

The political pressure from West Virginia, however, was all to the effect that since Dr. Burnside had been repudiated at the polls in November, he was not entitled to a government job.

Water That Turns Wood Into Stone

Kremlin Viewed as Getting Pleasure, Comfort From Comment on Allied Economy

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, April 21 (AP)—Nothing could please the Kremlin more than to have its constant propaganda against capitalism confirmed by the oft-repeated comment that the United States and its allies have a vested interest in war and really fear the coming of peace.

The behavior of the stock market, which started dipping downward recently when the first moves of the Soviet peace maneuvers were revealed, has misled many people into believing that peace could bring a business depression. What many people fail to realize is that the stock market reflects short-term rather than long-range trends and that it also reflects uncertainty due to lack of information at the moment concerning the meaning of world events.

The administration sent the secretary of the treasury, George Humphrey, to New York to deliver a speech at the annual luncheon of the Associated Press and, though the arrangements for the address were made some time ago, it was natural that Mr. Humphrey should take advantage of the opportunity to answer questions about the "fear of peace."

"We are not going to have a depression in America," said the treasury secretary, "whether we have an armistice, a real peace, or continue to develop a proper and balance posture of defense. There is no reason for a depression unless we fail ourselves to do the things we ought to do and lack the courage and foresight to do them.

"There will be readjustments, of course. There are always readjustments taking place in any active economy, sometimes to the advantage or detriment of one group and sometimes to another. But depression, no. We cannot preserve our way of life through another long, deep depression and we must never permit it to occur."

There, in a nutshell, is the whole economic philosophy of the Eisenhower administration. Government will use its emergency powers and its immense powers over credit and money and its lending experience to stave off a depression if one is threatened. But Mr. Humphrey pointed out that a reduction in spending for armament today is not likely to produce as drastic an impact on the national economy as it did when World War 2 ended in 1945, and total government expenses came down from $98.7 billion in 1945 to $49.3 billion in 1947. He pointed out that defense spending alone was reduced in two years from $9.5 billion in 1945 to $16.8 billion, plus about $5 billion in foreign.

When the drop, therefore, in defense and foreign-aid spending can go from $90.5 to approximately $21 billion in two years and the economy does not suffer a depression, it confirms the underlying strength and flexibility of the American business structure.

The secretary of the treasury reminded his audience and the country that America makes its greatest strides in peacetime and that the trend always is toward "more and better goods at less cost for more people."

This is the outlook of thoughful business men who have appraised accurately the meaning of the gradually increasing population in terms of demand as well as the increased productivity of labor and machines.

Mr. Humphrey is right when he says that peace is not to be feared but really should be welcomed from a business standpoint, for no country today can for any length of time support an unbalanced economy—unbalanced, that is, by a disproportionate amount of labor and resources that go into the unproductive spending for war or preparation for war.

The treasury secretary gave hope that there would soon be a reduction of spending and tax reduction, too, but did not specify dates.

"So long as we maintain," he said, "the soundness of our money; attain that nice balance between achieving security from aggression and maintaining economic strength; eliminate waste and handle our fiscal affairs with wisdom, America can look forward to good jobs at good pay and real advances in the scale of living. We can have a stronger economy based on sounder fundamental conditions than we have known in many years."

The theory back of that statement is a simple one—the people generally can spend their money for their own account and in their own way for what they want much better than the government can spend it for them.

That's the doctrine which the secretary of the treasury proclaimed. It is as old as the law of supply and demand. It's the sturdiest principle in the individual enterprise system. It has built up America under a citizen's capitalism to greater strength than any system of state capitalism or socialism that has yet been tried throughout centuries of time.

Need Grows for More Money For Industries and Farms

By SAM DAWSON

New York, April 16 (AP)—The need for more money to run the nation's industries and farms grows. The cost of coming by the money is pushing up again.

Interest rates on mortgages feel the upward pressure. So do bank loans to business and agriculture.

Small-loan companies are paying higher rates today to borrow from banks so they may get the money to lend to buyers of autos and appliances.

Rates that brokers and dealers must pay for bank loans to buy and carry corporate securities are up again.

The U. S. Treasury is paying more to borrow the money it needs to meet the growing deficit.

And corporations find they must pay more interest on the securities they sell the public to finance plant expansion or to carry their business operations.

Here are the upward revisions in the cost of borrowing money made so far this week, and others that bankers say are in the works:

Three large consumer finance companies raised by ⅛ of a percentage point interest rates on the short-term, unsecured notes they sell to banks. It was the second such hike in five weeks. The volume of bank loans to these small-loan companies went up by 52 million dollars this week, indicating the high demand that is pushing against the tight money market.

New York banks lending call money to brokers and dealers on corporate securities collateral raised the minimum rate to 3 per cent, up by ¼.

The larger New York banks are debating another hike in the rates on prime loans—those made to big business firms with the highest credit ratings. This rate rose from 2¼ to 3 per cent during 1951, held all last year, but may rise now to 3¼ per cent.

Tight Money Market

Pressure for the increase arises from the tight money market as managed by the federal reserve banks, and the larger than usual demand at this time of year for business loans.

Commercial, industrial and agricultural loans by banks now total 23¼ billion dollars, two billion dollars higher than a year ago. The usual drop in the first part of the year fell far short of expectations this year.

The U. S. Treasury's rate on long-term bonds advanced this week from 2½ to 3¼ per cent. To borrow on its 91-day bills the treasury is now paying the highest rate in nearly 20 years.

Pressure to raise the rates on treasury savings bonds continues, but the treasury is standing pat so far. The American Bankers Association is starting a new drive to push sales of these bonds to the public. Sales in each of the first three months of this year topped redemptions.

Holders of maturing F and G bonds got the chance this week to turn in these 2½ per cent issues for 3¼ per cent long-term bonds.

Mortgage interest rates have been easing upwards in many parts of the country, as higher rates in other investment forms lured available money away.

A drive is on to boost the interest charges on the guaranteed housing loans of the Veterans Administration and the Federal Housing Administration. Proponents say its' the only way to find the money now.

The V. A. has a 27,000 backlog of applications for G. I. housing loans, and its direct lending power at 4 per cent runs out in June. Congress is expected to extend it and to seek ways to hold down the interest costs.

Savings Volume Is Still Climbing

Savings account balances in the 235 savings and loan associations of New York state continued to grow during March and reached a new peak of $1,714,972,747 at the month's end, according to David Ford, president, Savings Association League of New York State.

The volume of new savings received during the month was 23.3 per cent above the $51,952,000 reported for March, 1952. "This is a continuation of the high level of new savings which has prevailed since the defense program was initiated," Ford stated.

Although withdrawals of previously accumulated savings during March, 1953 were 23.5 per cent above the outflow for a year ago, the rate of withdrawal was only one-tenth of a percentage point above that for the same month last year.

Record Increase

The gain in savings for the month was $19,340,527. This increase, Ford points out, was 22.6 per cent greater than the gain for March, 1952, and is the largest increase on record for any month of March.

For the 12-month period ended March 31, 1953, savings in these mutual thrift and home-financing institutions increased $241,809,734, which is a gain of 16.4 per cent per annum.

On the basis of the present rate of growth, Ford predicts that the assets of New York savings and loan associations will pass the two billion dollar mark by the end of May.

Some 325,000 Indians in the U. S. and Alaska received medical treatment from the government in 1952.

Youthful Offender

Prince street A. & P. Market and several other burglaries, including Ann's Delicatessen in Woodstock and the Van Kleeck service station at Port Ewen.

Officers Carl Janasiewicz and Thomas Tomshaw were on duty in a prowl car on February 16 when they found a Chevrolet car parked near the Supreme Beverage Company plant.

The motor of the car was running and inside was a loaded rifle. While they guarded the car and building, reinforcements were sent to the scene and the Banks boys were captured.

What disposition of the case will be made is not known but because of the seriousness of the acts and the long string of crimes involved the couple could be sent to the Elmira Reformatory for classification and transfer to some other institution.

Detective Clarence Brophy later reported the boys had confessed to entering the Sam Kogon store on North Front street, Spada Sports Shop, Samuels Market, Greenkill Restaurant, Strauss Stores. The car which they were using when arrested displayed a license plate reported to have been stolen February 6 from the Kingston Coal Company.

Other cases before Judge Cashin on Monday in County Court were:

Theodore Aposporus, Poughkeepsie, who was charged with grand larceny, first degree, for his part in the larceny at a Highland diner, entered a plea of guilty to that charge when his case was moved in County Court Monday afternoon. Charles H. Gaffney appeared for defendant. Sentence will be pronounced on Friday at 10 o'clock, County Judge Cashin decreed.

District Attorney Howard C. St. John moved over until Friday the Samuel Schifano manslaughter, first degree case. Schifano is charged with the killing of Mrs. Emelia Nusca at her Highland apartment in June 1952. Also moved over to Friday was the Anthony Broccoli rape case and the Sheppard Parlin, Ruth Schwartz case which charges violation of Section 1293-a.

George Emil Barringer of Ellenville, charged with a burglary and entry to a tavern there in December 1952, entered a plea of guilty to the charge and will be sentenced Friday at 10 o'clock. John Bonomi appeared for Barringer.

An abandonment charge against Daniel J. Coleman, Jr., was moved over the term.

Mills Pleads Guilty

James Alfred Mills, 56, Tillson, who was charged with criminal negligence in the operation of a motor vehicle and also leaving the scene of an accident, entered a plea of guilty to leaving the scene of an accident. On that plea being accepted his license to drive was revoked. Charles H. Gaffney appeared for Mills. Sentence will be pronounced on Friday at 10 o'clock. Mills was charged with having struck and fatally injuring Mrs. Eleanor Simpson, 58, of New Paltz, as she was crossing a street to mail a letter on October 16, 1952. An occupant of the Mills truck later told state police the car operated by Mills had struck a woman in New Paltz. Mills was then arrested.

Thomas O'Hara, Baton Rouge, La., painter who was charged with illegal possession of an unloaded revolver, found his acquaintanceship with the mayor of Baton Rouge and his congressman stood him in good stead. O'Hara was stopped at a state police road block while they were looking for a Middletown person. Asked if he had a gun he replied he did. The police took the gun and arrested O'Hara, who tours the country painting barns, and charged him with illegal possession. O'Hara told Judge Cashin he had been given the gun by his father and he carried it in his trailer as a keep-sake. It never had been loaded or used. In Louisiana no license is needed. Andrew J. Cook, Jr., who appeared for O'Hara said the court had been contacted on behalf of O'Hara and clemency had been sought.

Judge Cashin said that the Mayor of Baton Rouge had called by long distance and told him O'Hara was a very reputable citizen, never had been in trouble and was a law abiding resident there. O'Hara's congressman also sent a communication telling of O'Hara's good reputation.

In view of the interest taken by these officials in O'Hara, Judge Cashin suspended any imposition of sentence.

"You must be a prominent man in your community, well thought of. You must be a politician to have such prominent men vouch for you," remarked Judge Cashin.

"No, sir," replied O'Hara, "I am an honest man just working for a living," he replied with a smile. "I am not a politician."

James B. Raymo, Sr., charged with robbery, first degree, appeared in court and through his attorney Joseph H. Forman entered a plea of guilty to larceny, second degree. He will be sentenced on Friday at 10 o'clock. Raymo and Helen M. Chambers have been charged with robbing an aged Kingston man and turning him loose on a back road in the town of Lloyd. Raymo has been previous convicted, according to his statement to the court.

Herbert Barringer of Ellenville, charged with rape as a misdemeanor, entered a plea of guilty as charged. John Bonomi appeared for defendant. Bail was continued and sentence will be pronounced on Friday at 10 o'clock.

Family Cottage Doomed

Wexford, Ireland (AP) — The tiny thatched cottage where Michael Fenelon fathered his 63 children is to be pulled down. Local authorities have ruled it unfit for habitation. Michael married at 17. He had 25 children by his first wife, 18 by his second and 20 by the third. He died in 1900, aged 99. More than 250 of Michael's descendants still live in Wexford. Others have settled in New York, Chicago, San Francisco and Boston. Still more live in Australia and South Africa. The cottage is in Wexford's Black Cow Lane. Once 43 of Michael's children gathered there for a Christmas dinner.

Japanese POWs Help Reds

Hong Kong (AP) — The pro-Nationalist Kung Sheung Daily News reported recently from Canton that the Chinese red military had arrested a Japanese adviser for "leakage of military information." The paper said that Yanagida Jio, attached to the central-south military district command of the Reds, was arrested for revealing that at least 7,000 Japanese prisoners of war remain in the hands of the Communists Fourth Field Army. These Japanese POWs are reported to be serving the army as gunners, engineers and technicians.

The 200-inch telescope in California could detect the flame of a single candle 18,000 miles away.

Governor . . .

Assembly still were in session. He signed 747 others and vetoed 333 in the 30-day period, giving him a veto percentage of 27.5. His veto record was set in 1951, when he vetoed 33.6 per cent of the 1,264 bills sent him by the Legislature.

The governor is expected to order a special legislative session, probably next month, and perhaps one or two additional extra sessions, to handle legislative reapportionment, anti-crime legislation, highway financing needs and any measures needed to install a city-manager form of government in New York city.

Signing the chemical-test bill, Dewey said that "in these days of high-speed travel, the safety of the driver and of those around him depend on his split-second decisions and reactions."

He said that for a number of years, adequate law enforcement in "drinking driver" cases had been hampered by inability to prove intoxication through objective tests. The most widely used tests are those of the blood, urine and breath.

The bill was introduced by Republican Sen. Seymour Halpern of Queens.

The governor vetoed two bills that would have freed certain cities and villages of liability for injuries sustained because of defective streets or sidewalks unless written notice of the defects had been given to the municipality prior to the accident.

He said the "practical effect of the bills would be to abolish the right of action in such . . . cases."

The bill affecting suits against cities for defective or dangerous streets was introduced by the Assembly Rules Committee. GOP Assemblyman John J. Burns of Nassau county sponsored the other, which would have covered defective or dangerous sidewalks of villages.

The governor approved legislation that permits the arrest of any person under 18 who presents false written evidence of his age in an effort to buy alcoholic beverages. The offense is punishable by a year's probation and a $10 fine.

Savings Volume Is Still Climbing

Savings account balances in the 235 savings and loan associations of New York state continued to grow during March and reached a new peak of $1,714,972,747 at the month's end, according to David Ford, president, Savings Association League of New York State.

The volume of new savings received during the month was 23.3 per cent above the $51,952,000 reported for March, 1952. "This is a continuation of the high level of new savings which has prevailed since the defense program was initiated," Ford stated.

Although withdrawals of previously accumulated savings during March, 1953 were 23.5 per cent above the outflow for a year ago, the rate of withdrawal was only one-tenth of a percentage point above that for the same month last year.

Record Increase

The gain in savings for the month was $19,340,527. This increase, Ford points out, was 22.6 per cent greater than the gain for March, 1952, and is the largest increase on record for any month of March.

For the 12-month period ended March 31, 1953, savings in these mutual thrift and home-financing institutions increased $241,809,734, which is a gain of 16.4 per cent per annum.

On the basis of the present rate of growth, Ford predicts that the assets of New York savings and loan associations will pass the two billion dollar mark by the end of May.

Family Cottage Doomed

Wexford, Ireland (AP) — The tiny thatched cottage where Michael Fenelon fathered his 63 children is to be pulled down. Local authorities have ruled it unfit for habitation. Michael married at 17. He had 25 children by his first wife, 18 by his second and 20 by the third. He died in 1900, aged 99. More than 250 of Michael's descendants still live in Wexford. Others have settled in New York, Chicago, San Francisco and Boston. Still more live in Australia and South Africa. The cottage is in Wexford's Black Cow Lane. Once 43 of Michael's children gathered there for a Christmas dinner.

Japanese POWs Help Reds

Hong Kong (AP) — The pro-Nationalist Kung Sheung Daily News reported recently from Canton that the Chinese red military had arrested a Japanese adviser for "leakage of military information." The paper said that Yanagida Jio, attached to the central-south military district command of the Reds, was arrested for revealing that at least 7,000 Japanese prisoners of war remain in the hands of the Communists Fourth Field Army. These Japanese POWs are reported to be serving the army as gunners, engineers and technicians.

Governor . . .

Assembly still were in session. He signed 747 others and vetoed 333 in the 30-day period, giving him a veto percentage of 27.5. His veto record was set in 1951, when he vetoed 33.6 per cent of the 1,264 bills sent him by the Legislature.

The governor is expected to order a special legislative session, probably next month, and perhaps one or two additional extra sessions, to handle legislative reapportionment, anti-crime legislation, highway financing needs and any measures needed to install a city-manager form of government in New York city.

Signing the chemical-test bill, Dewey said that "in these days of high-speed travel, the safety of the driver and of those around him depend on his split-second decisions and reactions."

He said that for a number of years, adequate law enforcement in "drinking driver" cases had been hampered by inability to prove intoxication through objective tests. The most widely used tests are those of the blood, urine and breath.

The bill was introduced by Republican Sen. Seymour Halpern of Queens.

The governor vetoed two bills that would have freed certain cities and villages of liability for injuries sustained because of defective streets or sidewalks unless written notice of the defects had been given to the municipality prior to the accident.

He said the "practical effect of the bills would be to abolish the right of action in such . . . cases."

The bill affecting suits against cities for defective or dangerous streets was introduced by the Assembly Rules Committee. GOP Assemblyman John J. Burns of Nassau county sponsored the other, which would have covered defective or dangerous sidewalks of villages.

The governor approved legislation that permits the arrest of any person under 18 who presents false written evidence of his age in an effort to buy alcoholic beverages. The offense is punishable by a year's probation and a $10 fine.

All-Out Support Of UJA Campaign Asked by Newkirk

Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk today called for all-out support of the United Jewish Appeal's 1953 drive, "as means of expressing our democratic principles and our humanitarian concern for those men and women," who were victims of the Kremlin - inspired anti - Semitism, and for "the other thousands whom the United Jewish Appeal aids in many lands."

The recent wave of anti-Semitism, he said, "puts in serious jeopardy," the safety and security of hundreds of thousands of Jews behind the Iron Curtain.

The UJA in its nationwide drive, he stressed, seeks to meet urgent rescue, settlement, welfare and rehabilitation needs totaling $144,524,250.

Founded in the traditional American spirit of aiding the oppressed, he said, UJA has value in exporting humanitarian and democratic principles throughout the world.

Stands as Bastion

Despite Soviet attacks on it, he said, the young State of Israel stands as a bastion of democracy in the Middle East, and to help Israel achieve economic stability soon, is to help provide a strong haven that may ultimately be the place of refuge for hundreds of thousands of men, women and children now living in lands of fear and danger.

"Through the agency of the UJA," he said, "we in Kingston have helped aid and save 2,240,000 persons during the past 15 years. Only through continued support of the UJA can we Americans extend hope to those who call out to us from every headline that tells of tyranny and oppression."

As part of the local campaign, a city-wide home-to-home solicitation is scheduled for Sunday, April 26. Contributions may be sent to the UJA Welfare Fund, 265 Wall street.

U. S. Gets Irish Pony

Dublin, Ireland (AP) — A new kind of Irish emigrant leaves for the United States in April — a four-year-old Connemara pony. The pony, a roan mare, is believed to be the first of this graceful breed ever sold to the United States. Frank Tierney of Ridgefield, Conn., saw it running wild on Connemara bogland and bought it on the spot. Former owner R. T. Curley now has had the pony trained for children's riding and hopes it may start a demand for Connemaras among American youngsters.

The average railroad car carries about 60 tons of coal.

UP-TO-DATE WILLS

Will your last will and testament read like ancient history? Or will its provisions be so impossible that some of your heirs will ask: "Was he in his right mind when he had this instrument drawn up?"

Hundreds of wills today are completely out-of-date. Executors are hamstrung when estates are being settled. Since adequate liquidity is usually a basic requirement of a solvent estate, sound investment principles are involved in making a will.

Every estate differs from every other estate. For this reason, wills should be written in the accurate scholarship of the best scientific writing. Among other things, benefactors often give away far more than there is to give at the time the will is probated.

A wealthy man with a generous heart, whose estate is not easily marketable, often leaves a will full of contradictions and noble intentions. Even big estates do have limitations, especially when an army of persons and institutions is sharing the assets.

Not long ago, a very distinguished man, skilled in finance, died. He left millions of dollars in each bequest without making proper provision for paying them. There were assets in the estate to pay everything, fortunately.

But to meet the bequests 100 cents on a dollar, a lot of sound values had to be secrificed. He owned 25,000 shares of a fine investment stock. They had to be sold. When news of this enforced liquidation became public, these shares quickly fell $50 each in price. Thus, a forced liquidation of sound assets resulted in a quick market depreciation of a million and a quarter dollars.

In my desk is a printed copy of a twenty-page will. The printer, I fear, will be the best treated of those sharing an estate. His bill will be paid in full.

Yes, the kindly benefactor was most generous—with the millions he once had.

With the steady social, economic and moral deterioration of a great city, his assets at the time of his death were worth only a fraction of their value 25 years ago.

His will contains three pages of names of relatives, of institutions and of charities. They will remain just names insofar as the generous benefactions are concerned. The dollars simply aren't there.

Here are some principles I think all members of wills should keep in mind:

1. Always be sure there are enough dollars, or non-fluctuating dollar values, to pay estate expenses, taxes and cash bequests.

(Parenthetically let me say that often a person aged 40 or 50, believing that at age 70 or 80 he will be wealthy, should take out substantial amounts of insurance. And, if not insurable, he should start accumulating an easily marketable portfolio of sound securities).

2. Beginning at age 70, if not before, have a periodic appraisal of estates made and determine what the tax liabilities are. This is very important.

3. Leave property in kind and not in cash if its marketability is in question.

And, above all, don't hesitate to seek advice from seasoned and responsible council. Often a suspicious benefactor shuts himself off from the world and, in so doing, leaves a bad will.

(Q) "Our society has been carrying a $10,000 collateral four per cent bank loan for six years. The securities backing the loan have doubled in price and more. The yield on a cost basis is 10 per cent. Unless we take some capital gains, the prospect of paying the loan aren't good. Our trustees hesitate to sell 10 per cent securities to pay a four per cent loan. What should we do?"

(A) Securities that have more than doubled in price in six years are enjoying the present inflationary prosperity. Your capital gains are tax-exempt. Of coure, you should take some profits and pay off the debt. High yield and low interest are poor excuses for retention of debt. Obligations are certain, capital gains most uncertain.

Heavy Water Sought

Rio de Janeiro (AP) — President Getulio Vargas has authorized the foreign ministry to open negotiations to obtain seven tons of heavy water from Norway. The heavy water would be for use in Brazilian experimental nuclear reactors, which are being planned. Adm. Alvaro Alberto, president of the National Research Council, says the heavy water, acting as a "moderator," would permit use of less metallic uranium in the reactors.

Has Double Trouble

Houston (AP) — A truck driver was arrested recently after he had hit a parked car and injured a woman but forgot to stop. He turned the next corner and hit another parked car, this time injuring a man.

Boomerang Ballyhoo

By FRANK TRIPP

"Cigarette smoking only" is a common warning in commercial airplanes. They can be domestic, Egyptian or cubeb, and they can be regular or king size; or you can roll your own and burn up your clothes.

To one who rolled his own for years to save money, then spent twice the saving buying new shirts, this airplane restriction doesn't make sense — nor to cigar and pipe smokers.

There you are, two miles in the air, surrounded by 500 gallons of the highest test gasoline, and the man says that you may smoke only the culprit that gets blamed for half of the forest fires and home burnings.

It must be a concession to sensitive nostrils, and to women. I've conceded as much to woman as the next one, but I won't concede an inch on the stinko issue. If there's any smell worse than a closed room full of cigarette smoke, this chronicler hasn't encountered it.

NO, THIS IS not the gripe of a non-smoker. For something like 40 years he was a two pack a day bird. He defended the cigarette against its enemies; contending that no matter how many a man smokes he embraces Lady Nicotine less than does a constant cigar or pipe smoker; consumes less tobacco, and much milder tobacco at that.

His argument was that it takes the tobacco of two cigarettes to fill the average pipe, plus the fact that most cigarette smokers really smoke only one third of a cigarette. They throw away a third, and another third burns up in their hand or in an ash tray.

So, he said, it's all hooey about cigarettes being more harmful than tobacco consumed in any other form. At least he sold himself on the idea and never discovered the difference.

NOT UNTIL the cigarette advertising boys, in their desperation to out-ballyhoo and out-slogan each other, started to slaying their own goose.

If they keep on emphasizing newly admitted faults of the common cigarette, as smoked contentedly for the last half century, they can reach the day when they are just holding their own against the old-time smoker who never gave faults a thought until they began blaring them at him morning, noon and night.

A good half of heavy smokers have spouses, associates or friends who ding at them for smoking so many cigarettes. Some fight it every time they light up.

Along come folks who make and sell cigarettes, saying that there's a way to use them safely. The reformers attack afresh, hammer and tongs. The cigarette's friend resists, but he's human, and no literate human is beyond the persuasive force of advertising, deny it all he may.

HE READS and listens to the "warnings," hears cigarette makers themselves say that scientific tests show that one out of three is a "sensitive smoker." that this cigarette is safer than others—so be kind to your throat.

Maybe he's been wrong, he thinks. He tries the dehorned fags and filters; misses Lady Nick, but rediscovers her (and her sister) in a pipe. He finds a nice rum-flavored tobacco that comes in half-pound cans that are swell for bolts and nuts.

His wife, who only knows what she's read about The Ladys, says, "I love to see you smoke a pipe." He still enjoys the maligned, convenient cigarette but only smokes them when traveling and at dinners.

I JUST COUNTED 24 of those handy cans on a shelf in my shop, to say nothing of the dozen I didn't save. They shame me, in a way. I hate to see an old friend, that has given me so much pleasure, get such a dirty deal.

Each tobacco can replaced two cartons of cigarettes, and cost about $3.00 less. I hadn't smoked a pipe for 20 years.

Advertising is an irresistible gadget. Sooner or later it makes everybody act—and always leaves the choice of action to the buyer.

1955 'Distinctives' To Cost Added Fee

Albany, April 21 (AP)—A "distinctive" license plate with low numbers or distinctive initials probably will cost an extra $10, beginning in 1955.

Gov. Dewey signed legislation yesterday permitting the state motor vehicle commissioner to levy the additional charge. The law will not be used for 1954 registrations because the state plans to issue only tabs next year, to be attached to 1953 plates.

Under the new law, the commissioner must decide what constitutes a "distinctive" plate.

Esopus Is Allocated $1,000 in State Aid

The Town of Esopus has been allocated $1,000 in state-aid for a recreation project for a 12-month period, the New York State Youth Commission announced today.

An application for state-aid submitted by Supervisor Edward R. Eckert indicates that the town will spend a total of $2,000 during the year to provide a recreation program. Activities to be provided include games, volleyball teams, badminton, movies and talent shows. Facilities to be used include Ross Memorial Park.

The agency responsible for the conduct of this program is the town board of which Eckert is chairman. Director of recreation is Robert Graves.

The Town of Esopus is one of more than 830 municipalities that have participated in the State Youth Commission's recreation program. This is the second year that the Town and the state have joined in a program to provide wholesome recreation activities for the youth of the community.

One Name, Two Preachers

Rocky Ford, Colo. (AP) — Rev. Charles S. Mundell of Rocky Ford and his house guest, the Rev. Charles S. Mundell of Los Angeles, have a lot in common besides having the same name. Both are retired ministers, but the Fev. Charles Simeon Mundell of Rocky Ford was a minister in the Methodist church and the Rev. Charles Mundell of Los Angeles was a Congregational minister. Both are the fathers of two sons and two daughters, but the Los Angeles Mundell has forged ahead in the grandchildren department. He boasts seven, although he is younger than his Colorado colleague, who has only five. The Rev. Mundell of Rocky Ford first started a correspondence with his Los Angeles friend when he read about Charles Samuel Mundell, who was known as the boy preacher back in high-button shoe days. The Rev. Charles Simeon was then living in Illinois. The Rev. Charles Samuel was born in Texas, where his father was a cowboy on the famous old XIT Ranch.

Church Fire Problem

Wilsonville, Neb. (AP)—Members of the Wilsonville Methodist Church are hoping that the third time will prove a charm and that their new church will last for a while. Three times in the past 50 years the congregation has built a new church. The first two burned down; the third is now in use. The new one has asbestos siding and fireproof roofing plus "a lot of fire insurance," according to Clarence Treat, who headed the building committee.

1. ONCE UPON A TIME there were just the horse and buggy and the Iron Horse. Every village and town needed the only known kind of rapid passenger transportation. So railroads built hundreds of branch lines out from their main trunk routes to meet America's need.

2. THEN THE HORSELESS CARRIAGE and its big brother the bus began to bring a change. Dirt roads became paved highways. Soon cars and busses proved more convenient for short trips. So fewer . . . and fewer . . . and FEWER people used those branch-line passenger trains.

3. YET OLD REGULATIONS FORCE these unneeded, almost-empty trains to go on running. Sometimes they carry more crew than passengers! With every turn of the wheels they waste money... millions a year that railroads could otherwise use to improve their through train service.

4. WOULDN'T YOU RATHER have such outdated regulations changed, so that little-used trains could be dropped? Then the wasted millions could build more trains like this New York Central streamliner. The modern transportation modern America needs. For that's the CENTRAL IDEA!

Boomerang Ballyhoo

By FRANK TRIPP

"Cigarette smoking only" is a common warning in commercial airplanes. They can be domestic, Egyptian or cubeb, and they can be regular or king size; or you can roll your own and burn up your clothes.

To one who rolled his own for years to save money, then spent twice the saving buying new shirts, this airplane restriction doesn't make sense — nor to cigar and pipe smokers.

There you are, two miles in the air, surrounded by 500 gallons of the highest test gasoline, and the man says that you may smoke only the culprit that gets blamed for half of the forest fires and home burnings.

It must be a concession to sensitive nostrils, and to women. I've conceded as much to woman as the next one, but I won't concede an inch on the stinko issue. If there's any smell worse than a closed room full of cigarette smoke, this chronicler hasn't encountered it.

NO, THIS IS not the gripe of a non-smoker. For something like 40 years he was a two pack a day bird. He defended the cigarette against its enemies; contending that no matter how many a man smokes he embraces Lady Nicotine less than does a constant cigar or pipe smoker; consumes less tobacco, and much milder tobacco at that.

His argument was that it takes the tobacco of two cigarettes to fill the average pipe, plus the fact that most cigarette smokers really smoke only one third of a cigarette. They throw away a third, and another third burns up in their hand or in an ash tray.

So, he said, it's all hooey about cigarettes being more harmful than tobacco consumed in any other form. At least he sold himself on the idea and never discovered the difference.

NOT UNTIL the cigarette advertising boys, in their desperation to out-ballyhoo and out-slogan each other, started to slaying their own goose.

If they keep on emphasizing newly admitted faults of the common cigarette, as smoked contentedly for the last half century, they can reach the day when they are just holding their own against the old-time smoker who never gave faults a thought until they began blaring them at him morning, noon and night.

A good half of heavy smokers have spouses, associates or friends who ding at them for smoking so many cigarettes. Some fight it every time they light up.

Along come folks who make and sell cigarettes, saying that there's a way to use them safely. The reformers attack afresh, hammer and tongs. The cigarette's friend resists, but he's human, and no literate human is beyond the persuasive force of advertising, deny it all he may.

HE READS and listens to the "warnings," hears cigarette makers themselves say that scientific tests show that one out of three is a "sensitive smoker," that this cigarette is safer than others—so be kind to your throat.

Maybe he's been wrong, he thinks. He tries the dehorned fags and filters; misses Lady Nick, but rediscovers her (and her sister) in a pipe. He finds a nice rum-flavored tobacco that comes in half-pound cans that are swell for bolts and nuts.

His wife, who only knows what she's read about The Ladys, says, "I love to see you smoke a pipe." He still enjoys the maligned, convenient cigarette but only smokes them when traveling and at dinners.

I JUST COUNTED 24 of those handy cans on a shelf in my shop, to say nothing of the dozen I didn't save. They shame me, in a way. I hate to see an old friend, that has given me so much pleasure, get such a dirty deal.

Each tobacco can replaced two cartons of cigarettes, and cost about $3.00 less. I hadn't smoked a pipe for 20 years.

Advertising is an irresistible gadget. Sooner or later it makes everybody act—and always leaves the choice of action to the buyer.

1955 'Distinctives' To Cost Added Fee

Albany, April 21 (AP)—A "distinctive" license plate with low numbers or distinctive initials probably will cost an extra $10, beginning in 1955.

Gov. Dewey signed legislation yesterday permitting the state motor vehicle commissioner to levy the additional charge. The law will not be used for 1954 registrations because the state plans to issue only tabs next year, to be attached to 1953 plates.

Under the new law, the commissioner must decide what constitutes a "distinctive" plate.

Esopus Is Allocated $1,000 in State Aid

The Town of Esopus has been allocated $1,000 in state-aid for a recreation project for a 12-month period, the New York State Youth Commission announced today.

An application for state-aid submitted by Supervisor Edward R. Eckert indicates that the town will spend a total of $2,000 during the year to provide a recreation program. Activities to be provided include games, volleyball teams, badminton, movies and talent shows. Facilities to be used include Ross Memorial Park.

The agency responsible for the conduct of this program is the town board of which Eckert is chairman. Director of recreation is Robert Graves.

The Town of Esopus is one of more than 830 municipalities that have participated in the State Youth Commission's recreation program. This is the second year that the Town and the state have joined in a program to provide wholesome recreation activities for the youth of the community.

One Name, Two Preachers

Rocky Ford, Colo. (AP) — Rev. Charles S. Mundell of Rocky Ford and his house guest, the Rev. Charles S. Mundell of Los Angeles, have a lot in common besides having the same name. Both are retired ministers, but the Rev. Charles Simeon Mundell of Rocky Ford was a minister in the Methodist church and the Rev. Charles Mundell of Los Angeles was a Congregational minister. Both are the fathers of two sons and two daughters, but the Los Angeles Mundell has forged ahead in the grandchildren department. He boasts seven, although he is younger than his Colorado colleague, who has only five. The Rev. Mundell of Rocky Ford first started a correspondence with his Los Angeles friend when he read about Charles Samuel Mundell, who was known as the boy preacher back in high-button shoe days. The Rev. Charles Simeon was then living in Illinois. The Rev. Charles Samuel was born in Texas, where his father was a cowboy on the famous old XIT Ranch.

Three times in the past 50 years the congregation has built a new church. The first two burned down; the third is now in use. The new one has asbestos siding and fireproof roofing plus "a lot of fire insurance," according to Clarence Treat, who headed the building committee.

At Least 5 Killed

N. C., where two ACL passenger trains crashed Dec. 16, 1943, killing 72 persons and injuring 187.

The ACL's annual stockholder's meeting was scheduled to be held today in Richmond.

Roaring northward through the night, the train carried an estimated 300 passengers, many of them vacationers returning from a winter in Florida. The train left Miami at 9:45 a. m. yesterday and was scheduled to reach New York at 10:50 a. m. today.

The engineer, B. B. Sweeney of Rocky Mount, N. C., injured seriously, told Sheriff Pete Rogers he didn't know what happened. He said a freight train covered the same stretch only 10 minutes before the Champion derailed.

Fireman Is Killed

The train's fireman, Charlie Hunt, also of Rocky Mount, died in his flaming locomotive. His body was cut out with torches.

Five coaches, seven Pullmans, two diners, two lounge cars and a baggage car comprised the streamliner. Eleven overturned and six remained upright.

Dozens of passengers were trapped in the overturned cars. Joe Dabney of the Florence Morning News, one of the first reporters at the scene, said the five day coaches on their sides "apparently are full of passengers unable to get out."

All were ultimately released.

Mrs. Frank Hicken of Springfield, Mass., lay pinned in the wreckage for nearly five hours. She joked with her rescuers until a doctor reached her with a hypodermic. She was dug out from beneath a car at 4:12 a. m., and taken to a hospital.

Amputates Leg

A surgeon was lowered into one of the telescoped coaches to cut off the left leg of a woman in an effort to free her.

Dabney said: In one coach I saw three people pleading for help. It seemed impossible that anything could be left of the legs of any of them.

"Wonderful first aid assistance was given by several sailors who were in the seven passenger cars behind the locomotives," the reporter added.

The ACL's double track was torn up and blocked completely. A special train was made up at Florence, S. C., and moved to the scene to pick up uninjured passengers and take them on to their destinations.

Survivors on Way North

Philadelphia, April 21 (AP)—A relief train carrying survivors of the train wreck at Dillon, S. C., will reach Washington, D. C., about 6 p. m. today, the Atlantic Coast Line Railroad office here was advised this morning.

At Washington, the relief train will be taken over by the Pennsylvania Railroad and is due in New York about 10 p. m.

The railroad offices here said they had no information on the number of persons aboard the train nor whether any of them are injured.

Testimony Heard In Collision Case

William Kaznowski of Flatbush road brings an action in County Court against Richard Terpening and his son, Robert Terpening of East Chester street to recover damages to his car which was involved in an accident with the Terpening car on January 22, 1952, at the intersection of Cassidy street and East Chester street.

Plaintiff alleges the Terpening car, owned by Robert and operated by Richard Terpening, was attempting to turn into Cassidy street when the Kaznowski car was endeavoring to pass. Plaintiff alleges the Terpening car cut over to the left and forced him to collide with the Terpening car, strike a fire hydrant and damage his car.

Happened During Storm

Terpening, accompanied by his daughter, Rose Mary, was on his way home. It was a snowy, sleeting evening and Terpening testified he had stopped his car about 500 to 600 feet south of the intersection and cleaned off the windshield and windows. He then proceeded at a slow pace to the intersection. He had pulled to the center of the road when the Kaznowski car passed, striking his left fender slightly. Just before the impact he said he heard a horn and stopped his car. He said he had not yet started to turn into Cassidy street when the collision happened.

Kaznowski testified he had sounded his horn some distance before he overtook the Terpening car, pulled to the left to pass when the Terpening car started to make a left turn without signaling such a turn. He pulled to the left of the road to avoid the accident but the cars came into contact. His car then struck the fire hydrant and stopped about 10 feet beyond.

Say Car Traveling Fast

Terpening and his daughter both testified that the Kaznowski car ran on some 100 to 150 feet after striking the hydrant. Both testified a hand signal had been given and that the Kaznowski car was traveling at a fast pace.

Hubert Richter and Seymour Werbalowsky appeared for plaintiff and G. R. Bartlett appears for defendants.

There were no personal injuries and the damage to the car of Robert Terpening was slight. The Kaznowski car was considerably damaged. Kaznowski was returning home from the IBM plant where he is employed.

Testimony was closed at 11:30 and the case sent to the jury after summations and charge.

Jurors not on the case had been excused until 10 o'clock Wednesday.

Other Cases

Additional cases settled are:

No. 46, Ida Roseman and another against William Nathan, negligence. Kopperman & Kooperman for plaintiff and Cook & Cook for defense.

No. 72, Edward F. Jordan against Rae Rhodes, negligence. Napoletano, Kelly and Saccoman for plaintiff and Roy L. Featherstone for defense.

No. 76, Franklin Thorpe against Thomas Grier, negligence. Napoletano, Kelly and Saccoman for plaintiff and Schirmer & Carnright for defendant.

Hearing Is Postponed

City Judge Raymond J. Mino today postponed hearing until tomorrow on the charge against Clinton Gardner, 40, for allegedly escaping custody after sentence in City Court in May, 1952. The judge imposed a suspended sentence of 30 days in jail on Gardner yesterday on a public intoxication charge, and he was arrested on the other charge. Gardner, who has no permanent address, told the judge he has a job in Albany.

Sorensen Is Improved

Jens Erick Sorensen of Route 1, Kingston, a motorcyclist, who was injured seriously Sunday afternoon in an accident on Route 32 about four miles north of Kingston, was reported slightly improved today at Kingston Hospital.

Soviet Goad . . .

the march was "millet and cracked corn...one bowl a day."

Herndon just laughed when asked if attempts to indoctrinate him in communism had worked.

"I've never been so happy as to reach freedom today," he said.

Mullins told of a march north from Pyongyang in August, 1951, just as the truce talks were beginning. He recounted an incredible tale of cold-blooded brutality.

Russians Wanted Shooting

"We passed two jeep-loads of Russian soldiers," he said. They stopped us on the road and tried to get our guards drunk so they would shoot us.

Mullins said the Russians were armed and in uniform. He said he knew the Russians wanted the guards to shoot because "they made motions."

Sgt. Mitchell said about 20 serious hospital cases were left behind: "Medical attention was not good at all, very few guys got any."

His story was confirmed by Pvt. Louis Kerkstra of Byron Center, Mich., who contracted tuberculosis.

"Some of the TB patients in my hospital were in worse condition than I was," he said.

Would Hit Press First

"The way I see it, they took me because I was in a little better shape and knew we would hit the press first."

His statement tended to confirm a growing suspicion that the first allied troops, at least, are only "showcase samples" of better Communist treatment. It raised the sinister possibility that the Reds have buried or concealed their mistakes.

Treatment of the prisoners varied widely from place to place and time to time.

Pfc. Tibor Rubin of Long Beach, Calif., a Hungarian who spent 14 months in a Nazi prison camp in World War 2, said Red treatment was better than the Nazis gave him.

"The Chinese treated us much better—I'm not Communist, but they did treat me better than the Germans," he said.

Rubin said that when the Reds asked him if he wanted to go back to Hungary he would tell them "yes—on occupation duty."

Now suffering from stomach trouble, he was captured from the First Cavalry Division in late 1950.

Men Report . . .

castle, Eng., stepped out and started to clown.

"Any Limey's out there," he called.

Another member of the almost decimated Gloucestershire regiment yelled:

Any Scotch out there?"

There was no burr in his voice, so his meaning was plain.

From another ambulance there came the muffled voice of an American:

"Hubba hubba."

Two Turks saluted smartly as they stepped down from the ambulance. They were greeted by the Turkish liaison officer on hand to speed them to Freedom Village, a tent city erected to give first attention to the warped bodies of the men on the road back.

The first 50 of the allied trickle of 100 moved out fast. By a little after 11 a. m. the second 50 were emptying out of the Communist vehicles and stepping on free ground again.

Speedy Care Given

They moved slower and were less jocular. All were given speedy medical care, food, cigarettes and a warm welcome.

Many of the returning prisoners showed few signs of wounds or illness. Some spoke bitterly of friends left behind who, they said, were hurt far worse but for some reason did not make the Communist repatriation list.

All wore the blue cotton uniform, peaked cap and tennis shoes the Reds gave them just six miles up the road at rubbled Kaesong, ancient Korean drinking town and now the Communists' truce headquarters.

Allied officers reported the Reds were carrying out a strange procedure at their receiving point. Chinese and North Korean prisoners returned from allied camps were dusted with insecticide—even their rations and personal possessions were sprayed.

The allied officers said Red spokesmen explained that it was all a precaution against allied germ warfare.

Progress Reported On Hospital Site

Frank Matthews, as building committee chairman of the Kingston Hospital Board of Trustees reported at a meeting of the board last night that work is progressing on preparation of the site for the hospital's new wing on the Foxhall avenue side.

Buildings have been razed on the site, he said, and work has been progressing on subsequent phases of the project.

The hospital's administrator was authorized to purchase an anesthesia machine at a cost of $800. It will replace an obsolete machine used in the minor operating room.

No Open House This Year

The Rev. Frank L. Gollnick, chairman of the public relations committee, said the hospital will not hold open house in observance of National Hospital Week this year, but a program is planned to impress the public with the importance of hospital through the press, radio and displays.

The board was informed that one of several fire drills, scheduled for the year was held this month under direction of Fire Chief Joseph L. Murphy.

At Least 5 Killed

N. C., where two ACL passenger trains crashed Dec. 16, 1943, killing 72 persons and injuring 187.

The ACL's annual stockholder's meeting was scheduled to be held today in Richmond.

Roaring northward through the night, the train carried an estimated 300 passengers, many of them vacationers returning from a winter in Florida. The train left Miami at 9:45 a. m. yesterday and was scheduled to reach New York at 10:50 a. m. today.

The engineer, B. B. Sweeney of Rocky Mount, N. C., injured seriously, told Sheriff Pete Rogers he didn't know what happened. He said a freight train covered the same stretch only 10 minutes before the Champion derailed.

Fireman Is Killed

The train's fireman, Charlie Hunt, also of Rocky Mount, died in his flaming locomotive. His body was cut out with torches.

Five coaches, seven Pullmans, two diners, two lounge cars and a baggage car comprised the streamliner. Eleven overturned and six remained upright.

Dozens of passengers were trapped in the overturned cars. Joe Dabney of the Florence Morning News, one of the first reporters at the scene, said the five day coaches on their sides "apparently are full of passengers unable to get out."

All were ultimately released.

Mrs. Frank Hicken of Springfield, Mass., lay pinned in the wreckage for nearly five hours. She joked with her rescuers until a doctor reached her with a hypodermic. She was dug out from beneath a car at 4:12 a. m., and taken to a hospital.

Amputates Leg

A surgeon was lowered into one of the telescoped coaches to cut off the left leg of a woman in an effort to free her.

Dabney said: In one coach I saw three people pleading for help. It seemed impossible that anything could be left of the legs of any of them.

"Wonderful first aid assistance was given by several sailors who were in the seven passenger cars behind the locomotives," the reporter added.

The ACL's double track was torn up and blocked completely. A special train was made up at Florence, S. C., and moved to the scene to pick up uninjured passengers and take them on to their destinations.

Survivors on Way North

Philadelphia, April 21 (AP)—A relief train carrying survivors of the train wreck at Dillon, S. C., will reach Washington, D. C., about 6 p. m. today, the Atlantic Coast Line Railroad office here was advised this morning.

At Washington, the relief train will be taken over by the Pennsylvania Railroad and is due in New York about 10 p. m.

Spring Wing-Ding To Be Held April 25

Woodstock, April 21—The colorful swing-your-partner posters announcing the Spring Wing-Ding, the box social and square dance to be given Saturday evening by the Public Health Nursing Committee, were designed by Rosemary Bare. They were printed by the silk screen process by Mrs. Bare and Jerry Jerominek. The posters were placed during the weekend in various store windows in the area, and several are accompanied by gaily wrapped boxes such as those to be auctioned at the box supper, which begins at 6 p. m., at the Town House.

Square dancing to music by the Dog Patch Dudes will start at 8 p. m. and continue until midnight. Proceeds from the event will be for the benefit of the committee's various projects, including the dental clinic for children. The public is cordially invited to attend.

In accordance with the custom of a country box social, each couple bringing a box supper for two will be admitted free, to the square dance as well, but the gentleman must bid for a box at the auction. Serving as auctioneers will be two of Woodstock's experts, Edmund Gilligan and Leo Herbert. The boxes should be decorated with gay spring motifs.

Prizes will be awarded for the prettiest box and for the best costumes in barn dance style.

Testimony Heard In Collision Case

William Kaznowski of Flatbush road brings an action in County Court against Richard Terpening and his son, Robert Terpening of East Chester street to recover damages to his car which was involved in an accident with the Terpening car on January 22, 1952, at the intersection of Cassidy street and East Chester street.

Plaintiff alleges the Terpening car, owned by Robert and operated by Richard Terpening, was attempting to turn into Cassidy street when the Kaznowski car was endeavoring to pass. Plaintiff alleges the Terpening car cut over to the left and forced him to collide with the Terpening car, strike a fire hydrant and damage his car.

Happened During Storm

Terpening, accompanied by his daughter, Rose Mary, was on his way home. It was a snowy, sleeting evening and Terpening testified he had stopped his car about 500 to 600 feet south of the intersection and cleaned off the windshield and windows. He then proceeded at a slow pace to the intersection. He had pulled to the center of the road when the Kaznowski car passed, striking his left fender slightly. Just before the impact he said he heard a horn and stopped his car. He said he had not yet started to turn into Cassidy street when the collision happened.

Kaznowski testified he had sounded his horn some distance before he overtook the Terpening car, pulled to the left to pass when the Terpening car started to make a left turn without signaling such a turn. He pulled to the left of the road to avoid the accident but the cars came into contact. His car then struck the fire hydrant and stopped about 10 feet beyond.

Say Car Traveling Fast

Terpening and his daughter both testified that the Kaznowski car ran on some 100 to 150 feet after striking the hydrant. Both testified a hand signal had been given and that the Kaznowski car was traveling at a fast pace.

Hubert Richter and Seymour Werbalowsky appeared for plaintiff and G. R. Bartlett appears for defendants.

There were no personal injuries and the damage to the car of Robert Terpening was slight. The Kaznowski car was considerably damaged. Kaznowski was returning home from the IBM plant where he is employed.

Testimony was closed at 11:30 and the case sent to the jury after summations and charge.

Jurors not on the case had been excused until 10 o'clock Wednesday.

Other Cases

Additional cases settled are:

No. 46, Ida Roseman and another against William Nathan, negligence. Kopperman & Kooperman for plaintiff and Cook & Cook for defense.

No. 72, Edward F. Jordan against Rae Rhodes, negligence. Napoletano, Kelly and Saccoman for plaintiff and Roy L. Featherstone for defense.

No. 76, Franklin Thorpe against Thomas Grier, negligence. Napoletano, Kelly and Saccoman for plaintiff and Schirmer & Carnright for defendant.

Hearing Is Postponed

City Judge Raymond J. Mino today postponed hearing until tomorrow on the charge against Clinton Gardner, 40, for allegedly escaping custody after sentence in City Court in May, 1952. The judge imposed a suspended sentence of 30 days in jail on Gardner yesterday on a public intoxication charge, and he was arrested on the other charge. Gardner, who has no permanent address, told the judge he has a job in Albany.

Sorensen Is Improved

Jens Erick Sorensen of Route 1, Kingston, a motorcyclist, who was injured seriously Sunday afternoon in an accident on Route 32 about four miles north of Kingston, was reported slightly improved today at Kingston Hospital.

Soviet Goad . . .

the march was "millet and cracked corn...one bowl a day."

Herndon just laughed when asked if attempts to indoctrinate him in communism had worked.

"I've never been so happy as to reach freedom today," he said.

Mullins told of a march north from Pyongyang in August, 1951, just as the truce talks were beginning. He recounted an incredible tale of cold-blooded brutality.

Russians Wanted Shooting

"We passed two jeep-loads of Russian soldiers," he said. They stopped us on the road and tried to get our guards drunk so they would shoot us."

Mullins said the Russians were armed and in uniform. He said he knew the Russians wanted the guards to shoot because "they made motions."

Sgt. Mitchell said about 20 serious hospital cases were left behind: "Medical attention was not good at all, very few guys got any."

His story was confirmed by Pvt. Louis Kerkstra of Byron Center, Mich., who contracted tuberculosis.

"Some of the TB patients in my hospital were in worse condition than I was," he said.

Would Hit Press First

"The way I see it, they took me because I was in a little better shape and knew we would hit the press first."

His statement tended to confirm a growing suspicion that the first allied troops, at least, are only "showcase samples" of better Communist treatment. It raised the sinister possibility that the Reds have buried or concealed their mistakes.

Treatment of the prisoners varied widely from place to place and time to time.

Pfc. Tibor Rubin of Long Beach, Calif., a Hungarian who spent 14 months in a Nazi prison camp in World War 2, said Red treatment was better than the Nazis gave him.

"The Chinese treated us much better—I'm not Communist, but they did treat me better than the Germans," he said.

Rubin said that when the Reds asked him if he wanted to go back to Hungary he would tell them "yes—on occupation duty."

Now suffering from stomach trouble, he was captured from the First Cavalry Division in late 1950.

Men Report . . .

castle, Eng., stepped out and started to clown.

"Any Limey's out there," he called.

Another member of the almost decimated Gloucestershire regiment yelled:

Any Scotch out there?"

There was no burr in his voice, so his meaning was plain.

From another ambulance there came the muffled voice of an American:

"Hubba hubba."

Two Turks saluted smartly as they stepped down from the ambulance. They were greeted by the Turkish liaison officer on hand to speed them to Freedom Village, a tent city erected to give first attention to the warped bodies of the men on the road back.

The first 50 of the allied trickle of 100 moved out fast. By a little after 11 a. m. the second 50 were emptying out of the Communist vehicles and stepping on free ground again.

Speedy Care Given

They moved slower and were less jocular. All were given speedy medical care, food, cigarettes and a warm welcome.

Many of the returning prisoners showed few signs of wounds or illness. Some spoke bitterly of friends left behind who, they said, were hurt far worse but for some reason did not make the Communist repatriation list.

All wore the blue cotton uniform, peaked cap and tennis shoes the Reds gave them just six miles up the road at rubbled Kaesong, ancient Korean drinking town and now the Communists' truce headquarters.

Allied officers reported the Reds were carrying out a strange procedure at their receiving point. Chinese and North Korean prisoners returned from allied camps were dusted with insecticide—even their rations and personal possessions were sprayed.

The allied officers said Red spokesmen explained that it was all a precaution against allied germ warfare.

Do You Remember

By SOPHIE MILLER

Capt. Andrew J. Hickey, author of The Story of Kingston, a fine illustrated book on our city just gave me a good photograph of the old steamboat Norwich or Ice King as she was called by many. The photo is a glossy large print and printed on the old side-wheeler is following: "Oldest Steamboat in the World—built 1836—Norwich." I would say the background looks like off Kingston Point Beach as one can see the long, flat, open buildings from which white smoke is emerging, no doubt in the process of drying bricks. A man in uniform is standing on the bridge, with binoculars.

I take it this picture was snapped while the Norwich was in full action with working crew and it must have been some 30 years ago, as the Norwich was dismantled in November of 1923. Michael Tucker of Port Ewen bought it at the time. The Norwich had played a part in our Hudson-Fulton celebration back in 1909. On March of 1924, the Cornell Steamboat Co. presented to the trustees of the Senate House Assn. the bell from the Ice King. According to reports, she was known as the Ice King because she was a very heavy and sturdy steamboat for its size and could ride right up on thick sheets of ice, and by her weight alone break through the ice without harming her own self. She was used for that purpose. The Norwich, as well as the Mary Powell, the Skilly-pot and others should have all been preserved here or perhaps at Tucker's Beach for a local Marine Museum, for they were our own local steamboats and well known far and wide.

So much could be constantly added to such a Marine Museum. For instance just looking through copies of the Ulster Republican of 1850 I found advertisements running in each issue reading partly as follows: "The Steamboat Norwich makes regular trips with freight and passengers, leaving fireproof brick storehouse at foot of Division street, Rondout on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays and docking at Chamber street, New York. Leaves New York alterate days. She is independent of any other line; has no connection with the Highlander. Particular attention given to the business of tanners. Hides and leather will at no time be left in open sheds, or on the dock. They have ample storage room for 50,000 hides in fireproof storehouse. The Norwich will also deliver and receive freight at E. Fitch & Co. dock, Wilbur, throughout the season. (signed) Thomas Cornell & Co. (dated) March 1850—Rondout."

The other evening talking to the night watchman down in Rondout about Harry Staples, the late truant officer, he said he remembered Edward Dreyfus of Hasbrouck avenue. I found an item which reads: "At the December, 1910 meeting of the Board of Education Edward Dreyfus filed his resignation to take effect on January 1, 1911. He said he was resigning owing to ill health. The board, that night elected Homer Goodsell to succeed Dreyfus." No doubt folks remember both Dreyfus and Goodsell. During my time we had Harry Staples. Back in my school days I knew Staples as he was also the rent collector for the Elizabeth Hutton properties, managed by Mr. Klingberg in which my father had his store and we lived above it. Staples often used to stop in to pass the time of day and buy a cigar and tell about the trials and tribulations of juvenile delinquency in the neighborhood to my father, always a patient and sympathetic listener to all the woes of his customers.

Tillson

Tillson, April 20 — The Tillson Volunteer Fire Company responded to two alarms Friday. In the morning, a grass and brush fire on Hardenburgh avenue was extinguished. Both company trucks were dispatched to the scene.

Shortly after 5 p. m., fire destroyed a small building used to store lime on the property of Bertram VanKleeck, located on Route 32 about a mile south of Tillson. Some lime was destroyed also, but the loss was not considered excessive by Van Kleeck. Firemen wet down the charred remains and prevented it from spreading.

Burbank, Calif. This traffic may grow to about 1,500 million ton-miles per year by 1960, the survey indicated

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

Use Squeeze; Avoid Losing a Finesse

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

Most bridge players think of the squeeze play as a method of developing a trick that "isn't there." In today's hand, however, we see the squeeze used to avoid a losing finesse.

West opened the nine of clubs and Leonard Harmon, playing the South hand, tried the finesse, since it was quite possible that West was trickily leading from a king. As it happened, East was able to win the first trick with the king of clubs, and the club return knocked out dummy's ace.

South now needed a successful spade finesse and a third trick in spades in order to get rid of his losing diamond. He therefore led the queen of spades immediately from dummy.

East would have been glad to play low except for the fact that his low card was the ten-spot. If East played the ten of spades on dummy's queen, South would continue with a low spade to his ace, return to dummy with a trump, and lead the jack of spades.

East would have to ruff to prevent a discard, and South would overruff. South could then get back to dummy with a trump, simultaneously drawing East's last trump. Dummy's nine of spades could then be cashed.

East actually covered dummy's queen of spades with the king, and Harmon won in his own hand with the ace. South now began to lead out his trumps.

As declarer ran his trumps, West signaled diamond strength by discarding first the seven and then the five. South thereupon cashed the ace of diamonds and continued trumps, winding up with a trump, a low spade and the ten of diamonds in his own hand.

When South led his last trump, West had to save the king of diamonds and consequently only one spade. Dummy saved and jack and nine of spades, and East saved the ten of spades and a diamond.

Harmon now led his low spade, and West followed suit with the eight. Declarer had been holding a spade finesse in reserve all this time, but he now decided against it. It was apparent that West's remaining card was the king of diamonds, and that West therefore could not hold the ten of spades.

Since the spade finesse could not work, Harmon went up with dummy's jack and dropped East's ten of spades. The nine of spades took the last trick, thus giving Harmon his slam contract.

James Sprague, training officer at Kansas City's police academy, thinks. He is recommending the following code of etiquette to his rookies: Be courteous. Don't snarl at the victim, and above all don't needle him with wise-cracks ("Flying a little low today, bud?" or the even hoarier, "Where's the fire?") Be serious, however, so the offender won't be unduly tickled by his brush with the law. Don't put your foot on the bumper of his car like a hunter on the back of a lion he just bagged. This somehow annoys motorists. Stand erect, in dignified posture as you write out the ticket.

To Hold Mission In Late September

Plans for the Christian Teaching Mission to be held in this city September 25 to October 1 were outlined Sunday afternoon at a meeting of ministers and laymen at the St. James Methodist Church by Dr. Harry H. Kalas, director of educational evangelism of the National Council of Churches of Christ in the U.S.A.

The mission is a local church-centered project, in which the participating churches unit to take a complete religious census of the area, resulting in a responsibility list for each church. Using its own denominational materials programs and plans, each church makes a self-study, embarks upon a fellowship cultivation plan and an enlargement plan for its evangelistic and educational program.

The Rev. William J. McVey, chairman of the provisional committee, presided at the meeting. Dr. Kalas also delivered the regular morning sermon at the First Dutch Church on Sunday.

Money Doesn't Grow on Trees

There are about 100,000 homes here in the Mid-Hudson Valley, each supplied with electricity. In order that you may have a complete and dependable supply, $61,000,000 is invested in the electric portion of this business. Each home, then, is backed by $610 in generating stations and plants, power lines and poles, trucks and other equipment.

Where, you may ask, did all this money come from? The answer is simple. If you have bought any of the securities of this company with your savings, you are a direct owner of the company. If you have a savings account or hold life insurance you are an indirect owner. Because banks and insurance companies make your money work for you by investing much of it in the nation's electric light and power companies.

This means that companies like Central Hudson, which are run for you, are really owned by you, too.

No — money does not grow on trees. $61,000,000 is the product of the hard work and individual savings of many thousands. Put to work in this Company it should work for you, too. And it does — either in the interest or dividends you receive if you are a direct owner or the accrued benefits you receive if you are an indirect owner.

Savings at work — this is the heart of our traditional American system of business enterprise.

Do You Remember

By SOPHIE MILLER

Capt. Andrew J. Hickey, author of The Story of Kingston, a fine illustrated book on our city just gave me a good photograph of the old steamboat Norwich or Ice King as she was called by many. The photo is a glossy large print and printed on the old side-wheeler is following: "Oldest Steamboat in the World—built 1836—Norwich." I would say the background looks like off Kingston Point Beach as one can see the long, flat, open buildings from which white smoke is emerging, no doubt in the process of drying bricks. A man in uniform is standing on the bridge, with binoculars.

I take it this picture was snapped while the Norwich was in full action with working crew and it must have been some 30 years ago, as the Norwich was dismantled in November of 1923. Michael Tucker of Port Ewen bought it at the time. The Norwich had played a part in our Hudson-Fulton celebration back in 1909. On March of 1924, the Cornell Steamboat Co. presented to the trustees of the Senate House Assn. the bell from the Ice King. According to reports, she was known as the Ice King because she was a very heavy and sturdy steamboat for its size and could ride right up on thick sheets of ice, and by her weight alone break through the ice without harming her own self. She was used for that purpose. The Norwich, as well as the Mary Powell, the Skilly-pot and others should have all been preserved here or perhaps at Tucker's Beach for a local Marine Museum, for they were our own local steamboats and well known far and wide.

So much could be constantly added to such a Marine Museum. For instance just looking through copies of the Ulster Republican of 1850 I found advertisements running in each issue reading partly as follows: "The Steamboat Norwich makes regular trips with freight and passengers, leaving fireproof brick storehouse at foot of Division street, Rondout on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays and docking at Chamber street, New York. Leaves New York alterate days. She is independent of any other line; has no connection with the Highlander. Particular attention given to the business of tanners. Hides and leather will at no time be left in open sheds, or on the dock. They have ample storage room for 50,000 hides in fireproof storehouse. The Norwich will also deliver and receive freight at E. Fitch & Co. dock, Wilbur, throughout the season. (signed) Thomas Cornell & Co. (dated) March 1850—Rondout."

The other evening talking to the night watchman down in Rondout about Harry Staples, the late truant officer, he said he remembered Edward Dreyfus of Hasbrouck avenue. I found an item which reads: "At the December, 1910 meeting of the Board of Education Edward Dreyfus filed his resignation to take effect on January 1, 1911. Growth of Music Is Topic for YWCA Appreciation Group

The Music Appreciation Group of the YWCA met Thursday afternoon in the home of Mrs. W. L. Rider. An interesting survey of the growth of music in America, was given by Mrs. Arthur Laidlaw.

Mrs. Laidlaw traced the growth from early times when almost no classical music was played by orchestras in this country, until today when the great symphonies are in such demand. The Boston Symphony was cited as the earliest in the group. The Philharmonic soon followed, having its beginning in 1842. The Kaneisel String Quartet was named as one of the first groups to become popular, but opera has always been well received in this country, said the speaker.

Music Festivals

Music festivals in America were described as becoming increasingly popular. Miss Florence Cordts mentioned the Bach Festival held each year at Bethlehem, Pa.; Mrs. Ward Brigham, the Berkshire Festival held at Tanglewood, Mass. Mrs. George Ross spoke of the Chautauqua, a series of lectures and concerts held for six weeks each summer. Mrs. Henry Millonig reported on the meeting of the Federation of Music Clubs in New York city.

The group heard recordings from Roy Harris Symphony 3, conducted by Koussevitzky; the Symphony in C Major by Mozart, and MacDowell's Concerto 2, in D Minor.

Officers for the ensuing year were announced. They are Mrs. Ralph Harper, chairman; Mrs. C. J. Heiselman, secretary, and Mrs. Alfred Schmid, treasurer.

Hostesses at the tea following the meeting, were Mrs. Florence Cubberly, and Mrs. Worthington Rider. Mrs. George Ross poured.

Mother Discloses Task for Having Son Who Is Child Actor

By DOROTHY ROE
AP Women's Editor

It takes a bit of doing to keep America's No. 1 child actor from becoming a little pain-in-the-neck, says Eugenia De Wilde, whose 11-year-old son, Brandon is being hailed as the new prodigy of Broadway and Hollywood.

Brandon, a tow-headed "regular guy", got into the acting profession by chance. His father, Frederick De Wilde, was stage manager for "Member of the Wedding," with Ethel Waters and Julie Harris, and they needed a little boy to play the part of John Henry with the situation growing desperate, somebody pointed a finger at De Wilde and said accusingly:

"You have a little boy. Why are you hiding him?"

Horror of Child Actor

"We talked it over and decided against it," said Brandon's young and pretty mother. "Both of us had a horror of child actors. Then we decided maybe we'd let him try it if he could continue at his own school out in Baldwin, L. I., and we could manage to keep his life entirely normal."

Brandon became the hit of Broadway at the tender age of seven. Next he appeared with Helen Hayes in "Mrs. McThing," playing the difficult dual role of Howay, the boy who was turned into a stick. Now he has completed work in Paramount's new epic western, "Shane", in which he has the role of Joey, the boy whose love for a stranger forms the basis of the plot.

Although Paramount paid him $100,000 for his work in the new picture, Brandon still operates on his usual 50-cent allowance, says his mother and he gets that only if he does his chores, which include bringing in the garbage cans and setting the table. She explains:

Earnings Kept Separate

"We're keeping all Brandon's earnings in a separate account for him, to take care of his education and his needs when he grows up. He has no idea how much he makes, and we never let him see the reviews of his plays. We're determined that he shall grow up just like any other normal boy."

When he opened in "Member of the Wedding," Brandon's total stage experience up to then had been in the Baldwin School's first grade production of "The Three Little Kittens", in which he had a part with no lines.

Parents in Show Business

Although his mother was an actress before her marriage, and his father has worked in show business all his life, Brandon's parents had no idea their son would turn out to be an actor. Says Mrs. De Wilde:

"We never noticed that Brandon showed any special talent. He didn't mimic TV stars as a baby, he never performed for company, he didn't even 'speak pieces' when the relatives came to call."

Brandon and his parents had a whale of a good time during the filming of "Shane", which took place during school vacation last summer at Jackson Hole, Wyomng. As to Hollywood, Brandon describes it thus:

"It's all false fronts — no backs."

Won't Move to Hollywood

Mrs. De Wilde says the family will under no circumstances move to Hollywood. Brandon's commitments are for a single picture at a time—and that has to be done when it doesn't interfere with his school work.

Present plans are for Brandon to retire at the age of 12 or 13.

"We want him to go to prep school and college without worrying about his professional career," says his mother.

Miss Scardefield To Represent Ulster At GOP Conference

Twelve hundred Republican women leaders from 28 states will convene in Washington, D. C., Thursday and Friday, to receive briefings on the New Horizons and the progress of specific objectives of the Eisenhower administration. Miss Alice M. Scardefield, president of the Ulster County Women's Republican Club, will represent this county.

Miss Scardefield will be accompanied by Mrs. J. Francis Purdy, Albany county; Mrs. Edwyn Mason, Delaware county; Miss Mary G. Krone, Westchester county; Mrs. Paul Peabody, Dutchess county; and Mrs. Betty Hawley Donnelly, Orange county.

President Dwight D. Eisenhower, members of the cabinet and other top officials in the executive branch and leaders of both the Senate and House of Represenatives will report personally to the conference. Three working sessions, a luncheon and dinner make up the schedule.

First of Briefing Series

As a prelude to women's work in the '54 congressional campaign, this conference is the first of a "briefing series" launched by Miss Bertha S. The first working session on Thursday will be addressed by Sherman Adams, assistant to the President; Secretary of the Interior Douglas McKay, the Attorney General Herbert Brownell, Jr. and Secretary of Labor Martin Durkin. At the second session, delegates will get first-hand information on departmental and agency programs from Marion N. Halleck, House Majority leader; Representative Leslie C. Arends, House majority whip.

Children Will Give Plays at School 5 April 23 and 24

Sleeping Beauty by Helen Cotts Bennett, and The Happy Journey, by Thornton Wilder, will be staged by a group of sixth-grade students of School 5 in the assembly room on Thursday and Friday.

Children's drama has an appeal of its own and both adults and children will find Sleeping Beauty, a traditional children's favorite, and The Happy Journey, a humorous take-off on an American family and the many problems they become involved in during a trip from Newark to Trenton, N. J., both delightfully entertaining and enjoyable. An initial performance and final dress rehearsal is planned for Thursday at 3:30 p. m., at which time all children should plan to attend. An evening performance, open to adults, is scheduled for Friday at 8 p. m. Seating capacity is limited and the public is urged to obtain their tickets early.

Tickets may be purchased from Mrs. Raymond Gilkey, president of the Parents and Teachers Organization, school 5, phone 3332-J; John Finerty, principal, school 5, phone 1975; and Barry Willard, student ticket chairman, or any member of the sixth grade.

The production is an outgrowth of the cooperative planning of the Parent Teacher Organization and the sixth-grade students. Since the adult group had established the custom of annually sponsoring some form of entertainment for the sixth grade as it prepared to leave the school for entrance into the MJM High School, the organization decided that a joint affair for the purpose of raising funds might be a desirable and worthwhile activity.

Early in the season at a preliminary meeting of the Sixth Grade and the adult committee, the two plays were selected and initial plans formed for staging them. Under the leadership of Hobart Armstrong, grade chairman, activities were launched. Formal try-outs for character roles were held and the final cast chosen. Throughout the remaining weeks, there has been a hum of busy activity as the many student committees engaged in the various phases of the stagecraft required for the production and the actual rehearsing of the plays.

Mrs. Raymond Gilkey, president of the adult group, has directed the entire program.

John Finerty, principal, has headed the stagecraft committee assisted by Myron Elting and Larry Clinton. Foremost among their efforts has been the creating of the scenic backdrops for the plays. The parents of the group have given whole-hearted support to the project by making elaborate costumes. Members of the school faculty are assisting in the shaping-up of the many details. Mrs. Richard Stillings, member of the organization, has assumed the responsibility for the musical background of the evening's performance.

Growth of Music Is Topic for YWCA Appreciation Group

The Music Appreciation Group of the YWCA met Thursday afternoon in the home of Mrs. W. L. Rider. An interesting survey of the growth of music in America, was given by Mrs. Arthur Laidlaw.

Mrs. Laidlaw traced the growth from early times when almost no classical music was played by orchestras in this country, until today when the great symphonies are in such demand. The Boston Symphony was cited as the earliest in the group. The Philharmonic soon followed, having its beginning in 1842. The Kaneisel String Quartet was named as one of the first groups to become popular, but opera has always been well received in this country, said the speaker.

Music Festivals

Music festivals in America were described as becoming increasingly popular. Miss Florence Cordts mentioned the Bach Festival held each year at Bethlehem, Pa.; Mrs. Ward Brigham, the Berkshire Festival held at Tanglewood, Mass. Mrs. George Ross spoke of the Chautauqua, a series of lectures and concerts held for six weeks each summer. Mrs. Henry Millonig reported on the meeting of the Federation of Music Clubs in New York city.

The group heard recordings from Roy Harris Symphony 3, conducted by Koussevitzky; the Symphony in C Major by Mozart, and MacDowell's Concerto 2, in D Minor.

Officers for the ensuing year were announced. They are Mrs. Ralph Harper, chairman; Mrs. C. J. Heiselman, secretary, and Mrs. Alfred Schmid, treasurer.

Hostesses at the tea following the meeting, were Mrs. Florence Cubberly, and Mrs. Worthington Rider. Mrs. George Ross poured.

AP Women's Editor

It takes a bit of doing to keep America's No. 1 child actor from becoming a little pain-in-the-neck, says Eugenia De Wilde, whose 11-year-old son, Brandon is being hailed as the new prodigy of Broadway and Hollywood.

Brandon, a tow-headed "regular guy", got into the acting profession by chance. His father, Frederick De Wilde, was stage manager for "Member of the Wedding," with Ethel Waters and Julie Harris, and they needed a little boy to play the part of John Henry with the situation growing desperate, somebody pointed a finger at De Wilde and said accusingly:

"You have a little boy. Why are you hiding him?"

Horror of Child Actor

"We talked it over and decided against it," said Brandon's young and pretty mother. "Both of us had a horror of child actors. Then we decided maybe we'd let him try it if he could continue at his own school out in Baldwin, L. I., and we could manage to keep his life entirely normal."

Brandon became the hit of Broadway at the tender age of seven. Next he appeared with Helen Hayes in "Mrs. McThing," playing the difficult dual role of Howay, the boy who was turned into a stick. Now he has completed work in Paramount's new epic western, "Shane", in which he has the role of Joey, the boy whose love for a stranger forms the basis of the plot.

Although Paramount paid him $100,000 for his work in the new picture, Brandon still operates on his usual 50-cent allowance, says his mother and he gets that only if he does his chores, which include bringing in the garbage cans and setting the table. She explains:

Earnings Kept Separate

"We're keeping all Brandon's earnings in a separate account for him, to take care of his education and his needs when he grows up. He has no idea how much he makes, and we never let him see the reviews of his plays. We're determined that he shall grow up just like any other normal boy."

When he opened in "Member of the Wedding," Brandon's total stage experience up to then had been in the Baldwin School's first grade production of "The Three Little Kittens", in which he had a part with no lines.

Parents in Show Business

Although his mother was an actress before her marriage, and his father has worked in show business all his life, Brandon's parents had no idea their son would turn out to be an actor. Says Mrs. De Wilde:

"We never noticed that Brandon showed any special talent. He didn't mimic TV stars as a baby, he never performed for company, he didn't even 'speak pieces' when the relatives came to call."

Brandon and his parents had a whale of a good time during the filming of "Shane", which took place during school vacation last summer at Jackson Hole, Wyomng. As to Hollywood, Brandon describes it thus:

"It's all false fronts — no backs."

Won't Move to Hollywood

Mrs. De Wilde says the family will under no circumstances move to Hollywood. Brandon's commitments are for a single picture at a time—and that has to be done when it doesn't interfere with his school work.

Present plans are for Brandon to retire at the age of 12 or 13.

"We want him to go to prep school and college without worrying about his professional career," says his mother.

The Mature Parent

Adolescent's Emotional Pain No Different From Our Own

By MURIEL LAWRENCE

The program called the young lady a "child development expert." I was in her audience. Her subject was "Adolescent Problems."

At her talk's end, an anxious-faced mother rose and said, "You say that the adolescent child needs emotional privacy. Is that why my 15-year-old boy gets so angry when I ask questions about the break-up he's had with his steady girl?"

The lady expert nodded vigorously. "Yes," she said. "The ego strengths of the adolescent child are not secure. This affects his sex confidence. Any rejection. . . ."

I don't enjoy listening to anyone present a child to his parent as a human freak, so I walked out on the lecture.

When I've been hurt by someone important to me, I need emotional privacy. So do you. It is not an adolescent need. It is a universal human one.

It would have been nice if the lady expert had made this point — If she'd said, "Madam, I do not welcome other people's anxious curiosity when my husband has hurt my feelings. I bet you don't, either. Your son resents yours for much the same reasons."

She couldn't say it, because she is so fascinated by the age classification of human feelings that age has become more important than the feelings. If we listen to her too long, Johnny's distress at losing his girl will not remind us of similar distress of our own, but of his age. So his distress won't touch us. We'll treat it with impatience or amusement.

To the child who needs help and is alienated from us by the artificial barrier of age, we won't be able to say, "John, I know about this, dear. I've felt it. I also know what to do about it. Come and talk when you're ready."

And child-guidance theory that suggests that Johnny's pain is different from our pain, no matter what his age, is an alienating force between Johnny and us.

When such theories ask us to classify his feelings by age, they are confusing us with their clinical staff members whose interest in feelings is like a physicist's interest in the interaction of chemicals.

Let's leave the age classifications to the clinics, along with their records on weights, IQs and other scientific data.

In a fine new book, "Man's Search for Himself," psychoanalyst Rollo May has some mighty important things to say about modern man's disease of anxiety. Other members of his profession, too, make constant use of the word "alienation" to describe the morbid emotional states that develop from our failure to recognize ourselves in our children.

HOME BUREAU NEWS

Executive Committee

Former members of the executive committee of the Ulster County Home Bureau were invited to attend a meeting on Friday, April 17 at the Albany Avenue Baptist Church Hall to decide whether or not they would care to form a permanent organization. Mrs. William Douglas, chairman of the executive committee presided, and was named temporary chairman.

Mrs. Arnold VanLaer of High Falls was elected chairman, Mrs. Francis Davenport of Stone Ridge, vice-chairman, and Mrs. David DuBois of Forest Glen was elected secretary of a group which named itself the Greater Executive Committee of the Ulster County Home Bureau, whose membership is made up not only of former members of the executive committee but also present members.

Organization Purpose

The purpose of the organization as established by those present is to meet annually, the third Wednesday in April, for a friendly get-together of those who served in the past or are serving in the present on the executive committee, who hold the welfare of the Home Bureau in high regard, who are interested in assisting the present executive committee in lending them moral support in any way they may. At the annual meeting, highlights of the year's work will be reviewed and these, in turn, will serve as the information necessary for the historian who is to be named by the chairman. The new chairman was empowered to carry any additional meetings whenever necessary or advisable.

The meeting was adjourned and tea was served by the committee which consisted of Mrs. William Douglas, Mrs. Millard Davis, and Mrs. William Cranston.

THOSE WHO DON'T PLAY CARDS

A letter tells me: "My husband and I were invited to a family gathering at his mother's house last Saturday to help celebrate her birthday. There were twelve altogether, including my niece and her fiance who were our week-end guests. We had midday dinner, after which my mother-in-law opened her birthday presents. After this was over, someone suggested playing cards. As we do not play cards, the four of us decided to go to a movie rather than sit around and watch the others play. We have been told since that the elder relatives thought this was very rude. Will you please give me your opinion?"

Answer: As soon as the players were seated at their tables, there was no possible discourtesy on the part of you nonplayers to take your leave. Whether you went home, or shopping, or to a movie, was surely of no interest to the card players.

Invitation Without R.S.V.P.

Dear Mrs. Post: I have just received an invitation written on an "informal" card, reading "To meet Mrs. Henry Brown" and the time and date. This invitation does not include R.s.v.p. However, I am wondering whether it should be acknowledged anyway, and if so, how?

Answer: Because no special preparation has to be made for a definite number of guests, no answer is necessary if you are going. If you cannot go, a note of regret would be a thoughtful courtesy.

Making a Fourth

Dear Mrs. Post: I have been asked to substitute at a bridge club on several occasions, and I would like to know if I am obliged to return these invitations?

Answer: There is no obligation on your part to return these invitations—unless you want to. You are the one doing the favor by "filling in" for your hostess.

School 5 Group Has Talk on Literature

"Let the story work for itself" Mrs. G. Cramer Dodge asserted as she discussed children's literature at the Spring meeting of the Parent-Teachers Organization of School 5, held recently in the kindergarten assembly room.

Having read to informal groups of children in her home and to organized groups of children at the local library, Mrs. Dodge expressed the belief that strict adherence to the interest level of a child in the selection of a book, is not too important. She gave as an illustration the book, The Old Man and the Sea by Ernest Hemingway, which Mrs. Dodge said has always met with the young children's acclaim, despite innumerable readings.

The speaker said adult oral reading stimulates children to read "on their own." They become aware of the enticing adventures and excitement awaiting them in the realm of books and are encouraged to read by themselves. Children's favorites are selections from Alice in Wonderland, The Fairies by William Allingham, and poems by James Whitcombe Riley.

Foremost among the current books available in the Kingston Public Library, Mrs. Dodge places Marcia Brown's stories. Marcia Brown, a former Kingstonian, lives in Greenwich Village, New York city. Miss Brown commenced her career as an artist and an illustrator of children's books. Later she read to children in the Lennox Public Library, New York, to gain an understanding and insight into the the interests and the desires of children. Mrs. Dodge recommended The Little Carousel, Stone Soup, Henry Fisherman, and Dick Whittington's Cat as delightful children's reading.

Also of local interest are the stories for children by Maud and Miska Petersham of Woodstock. Among these, 'The Box with the Red Wheels' has singular appeal. Other recent books recommended were Little Boy Brown by Isobel Harris; A Day on the Farm, Alf Evers; The Bells of Bleecker Street, Valenti Angelo; The Door in the Wall, Marguerite De Angell; The Painted Pig, Elizabeth Morrow; Charlotte's Web, E. B. White and A Hole Is to Dig by Ruth Krauss.

Classics and old favorites by renowned authors such as Louisa M. Alcott, Eugene Field, Howard Pyle and Mark Twain will continue to hold a place of distinction in children's reading interests, Mrs. Dodge concluded. Likewise, Biblical stories will have genuine interest for some children.

Preceding the evening's talk, a brief discussion of problems pertaining to the Parent Teacher group was held with Mrs. Raymond Gilkey, president, conducting the meeting. Mrs. Gilkey announced that the forthcoming production of The Sleeping Beauty and The Happy Journey would be presented in the school auditorium on Thursday and Friday. All parents and teachers were urged to support the joint project. Refreshments were served by Mmes. Warren Maisenhelder, Francis Celuch and Norman Spinneweber.

Wisconsin Cooks Like Pickles

UPSIDE-DOWN PICKLE LOAF bears the distinctive mark of German cookery in its rich use of sweet pickle relish and gherkins.

By GAYNOR MADDOX, NEA Food and Markets Editor

Pickles—all kinds—are part of the American menu. But Americans of German descent seem to use them even more frequently than most of us. At least that's the way it seemed to me recently when I ate my way through Wisconsin, noted for its many fine German cooks.

Here are two ideas I picked up there, each rich with the tang of pickles:

Upside-Down Pickle Meat Loaf (Makes 4-6 servings)

One-half cup fine dry bread crumbs, ½ cup milk, 1 pound ground beef chuck, ½ pound lean pork shoulder (ground), ¼ cup sweet pickle relish, 1 tablespoon horseradish, 1 tablespoon prepared mustard, 1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce, 1 teaspoon salt, dash Tabasco, 2½ tablespoons chopped parsley, 1 egg (slightly beaten), ½ cup sliced sweet gherkins.

Soak bread crumbs in milk. In a large bowl, combine remaining ingredients except sliced gherkins. Add bread crumb mixture and mix well. Arrange sweet gherkin slices over bottom of a greased 9x5x3-inch loaf pan. Place meat mixture over gherkins. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) 1 hour and 30 minutes or until done.

Braised Liver Creole (Makes 4-6 servings)

Two tablespoons butter or margarine, 1 pound sliced beef liver, 2 tablespoons all-purpose flour, 1 large onion (sliced), 1 medium-sized green pepper (chopped), 1 No. 2 can tomatoes, ½ cup sliced dill pickles, 1/3 cup chopped parsley, 1½ cups sliced carrots, 2 teaspoons salt.

In a heavy skillet, melt butter or margarine. Dredge liver with flour. Brown liver with onion and green pepper in skillet. Add tomatoes, dill pickles, parsley, carrots and salt; mix lightly. Cover and cook over low heat 1 hour, or until liver and carrots are done.

TOMORROW'S MENU

Breakfast: Sliced fresh pineapple, creamed chipped beef on toast, enriched rolls, butter or margarine, coffee, milk.

Luncheon: Barbecued franks in heated buns, cole slaw, sliced bananas and oranges, tea, milk.

Dinner: Upside-down pickle meat loaf, brown gravy, baked potatoes, buttered broccoli, rye bread, butter or margarine, sliced tomatoes and cucumbers, rhubarb pie, cheese, coffee, milk.

The Mature Parent

Adolescent's Emotional Pain No Different From Our Own

By MURIEL LAWRENCE

The program called the young lady a "child development expert." I was in her audience. Her subject was "Adolescent Problems."

At her talk's end, an anxious-faced mother rose and said, "You say that the adolescent child needs emotional privacy. Is that why my 15-year-old boy gets so angry when I ask questions about the break-up he's had with his steady girl?"

The lady expert nodded vigorously. "Yes," she said. "The ego strengths of the adolescent child are not secure. This affects his sex confidence. Any rejection. . . ."

I don't enjoy listening to anyone present a child to his parent as a human freak, so I walked out on the lecture.

When I've been hurt by someone important to me, I need emotional privacy. So do you. It is not an adolescent need. It is a universal human one.

It would have been nice if the lady expert had made this point — If she'd said, "Madam, I do not welcome other people's anxious curiosity when my husband has hurt my feelings. I bet you don't, either. Your son resents yours for much the same reasons."

She couldn't say it, because she is so fascinated by the age classification of human feelings that age has become more important than the feelings. If we listen to her too long, Johnny's distress at losing his girl will not remind us of similar distress of our own, but of his age. So his distress won't touch us. We'll treat it with impatience or amusement.

To the child who needs help and is alienated from us by the artificial barrier of age, we won't be able to say, "John, I know about this, dear. I've felt it. I also know what to do about it. Come and talk when you're ready."

And child-guidance theory that suggests that Johnny's pain is different from our pain, no matter what his age, is an alienating force between Johnny and us.

When such theories ask us to classify his feelings by age, they are confusing us with their clinical staff members whose interest in feelings is like a physicist's interest in the interaction of chemicals.

Let's leave the age classifications to the clinics, along with their records on weights, IQs and other scientific data.

In a fine new book, "Man's Search for Himself," psychoanalyst Rollo May has some mighty important things to say about modern man's disease of anxiety. Other members of his profession, too, make constant use of the word "alienation" to describe the morbid emotional states that develop from our failure to recognize ourselves in our children.

New Paltz Gun Club Wins At Invitational Trapshoot

Post Score of 196; Van Gonsic Hits 45

Led by John Van Gonsic, the New Paltz Rod and Gun Club trapshooting team won Sunday's New Paltz Invitational with a score of 196.

Rosendale Sportsmen finished second with 176.

Poor weather conditions held down the number of entries and contributed to generally low scores. The meet was held under a dull sky with intermittent drizzle and windy gusts that resulted in shifty targets.

The doubles competition was cancelled because of limited visibility.

Van Gonsic put together rounds of 22 and 23 for a 45. Second best in the team event was Bub Merrihew of Rosendale with 20-22-42. Merrihew also won a $25 jackpot in a special Class A match that attracted five standout marksmen.

Merrihew gained further laurels in the All-Open Individual with a 22-21-43 to nose out Tony Benoit, Howard Mosher and Ed Modjeska who had 42s.

Van Gonsic and Fred Thiel, the 1952 Ulster county individual champion, posted 41s.

Competing against Merrihew in the $25 special were Tony Benoit, John Guerrera, and Howard Mosher.

The SCOREBOARD

By ED CORRIGAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

How often during the spring do you hear the plaint of major league managers:

"Just give me one long ball hitter. Then we'd show them."

Manager Lou Boudreau of the Boston Red Sox doesn't have to worry on that count—he's got the long ball hitter, but not much else.

Young Dick Gernert, his first-baseman, is just what the doctor ordered for the clean-up man for the Sox. He may not get many hits, but that inviting left field fence in Fenway Park is a fair target for his big blows.

The "Bobby Sox," as they're beginning to call Boudreau's kid outfit around the circuit, won a Patriots' Day doubleheader from the Washington Senators yesterday, 4-2 and 11-4, with Gernert clouting two home runs in the first game and one more in the second. He almost had a fourth in the afterpiece, but it went for a double, barely missing the center field bleachers.

Has the Power

Gernert batted only .243 after he was brought up from Louisville last season, but he had 19 home runs, good enough to lead the club. He collected 89 hits and 41 of them were for extra bases. In 21 times at the plate this year, he has made six hits—three home runs, two doubles and one single.

In yesterday's first game, both his home runs accounted for a total of two runs batted in. His first round-tripper in the second inning was the first Boston run after 19 scoreless innings. Mel Parnell, Ellis Kinder and Bill Kennedy combined to hurl a good game, though, so not much in the way of run-production was needed.

The second game was close for seven innings but in the bottom of the seventh, the Sox exploded for seven runs against the Senators, and got rid of Bob Porterfield in short order. Gernert's double was the big blow, accounting for three runs.

Bilko Hits Homer

The St. Louis Cardinals crushed the Milwaukee Braves under a 13-hit barrage, 9-4. Steve Bilko, the Card first baseman up for his fourth try, knocked in four runs with a home run and a single.

Bilko never had been able to hit major league pitching, although year in and year out he has looked like a comer. If he flops this time, the Cards probably will give up on him.

Joe Presko went until the ninth, for the winners, but when he yielded a single by Jack Dittmer, who had tapped him for a home run earlier, Al Brazle came on and retired the side with no trouble.

In the only other action in the majors, Robin Roberts of the Philadelphia Phillies evened the score with the New York Giants' Larry Jansen by setting Leo Durocher's operatives down with three hits, 2-1. The Phillies could do little with Jansen's offerings until Johnny Wyrostek hit a home run in the sixth. Then Granny Hamner broke it up with another homer in the ninth.

Jansen beat Roberts in Philadelphia on opening day.

The Brooklyn-Pittsburgh game was called off because of cold weather and all the other teams had the day off.

Actually, the handsome Chicago-born pugilist is an humble youth. He has an abiding interest in youth activities as was reflected in weekend trips to the Wiltwyck School and Kingston Boys Club.

"Every time I go past a boys club," Johnny says, "I am impressed."

Maybe he remembers an earlier day, before his lightning fists had propelled him to national boxing fame.

Johnny Bratton has one consuming passion—to get Kid Gavilan into the same ring with him. That's happened twice before with the results in the Cuban Keed's favor. Gavilan relieved Bratton of the American welterweight title in May 1951 and fought a draw with him December of the same year.

Since then Gavilan has studiously avoided any headon collision with Bratton, who, in his flashy moments, is one of the most spectacular performers in boxing today.

There was a quiet confidence about Bratton as he talked about future plans at Richards Farms, high on a bluff overlooking the Hudson River below Port Ewen. It augurs nothing but serious trouble for the champion who is in no hurry to accomplish this rendezvous with Bratton.

Bratton had warm words of encouragement for a couple of Fred Davi's Glasco Athletic Club champions—Phil Gatti and Eddie Kithcart.

"Don't keep on fighting unless that's what you really want to do," he warned. "But if you want to be a boxer, you have to pay a price. You have to take care of yourself, stay in shape and don't cheat on yourself."

• Flotsam and Jetsam:

Hudson Valley keglers dined at the Flamingo Saturday amid the usual spirit of friendliness. The HVBL is a monument to the bowling interest kindled by Addison Jones 17 years ago at an unheralded meeting in Walden. As a matter of fact, Jones and your correspondent were the only two remaining originals at the banquet. Jones didn't speak but the unbroken success story of the HVBL is eloquent testimony to his contribution to the game. Miron Lumber hit the jackpot with the team title, high single and high series and four keglers in the top five. Johnny Ferraro set a new all-time individual series record with his fabulous 818 but the other Lumberjack accomplishments fell below the league's all-time standards. Charles Riccardi, the Old Prof, who retired as league president, gave a gracious speech. He arose to say only a few words but talked for several minutes in a heart-warming statement that was as genuine as the rising sun. Miron's pennant was only the third for Kingston in 16 years, but a footnote might be added that our town's keglers have blown a half dozen in the latter stages.

Charlie Manfro, the new president, told an amusing story. When Liberty Toros came to Kingston earlier in the season, they knocked off Rapp's Express and warned Miron's: "When you come to Liberty on the last day, you better have the pennant sewed up or we'll give you the business." P.S.—When Miron's went to the mountains they had the flag wrapped up but Liberty needed three desperately to "stay in the money." P.P.S.—Miron's bowled them over three straight. "The shoe was on the other foot," Manfro said. A home-and-home challenge match between Larry Weishaupt and Wally Gerken, Newburgh veteran, for $200 fizzled before it ever got started. When Weishaupt's friends raised the jackpot, it suddenly developed that Gerken could not accept the match because he has "no home alley." That's slightly on the incredible side when you consider Gerken has been rolling in Newburgh for nearly 30 years. Poughkeepsie bowling fans are all steamed up over a squabble as to who is the Bridge City's best. The outside votes would go to Phil Versace, the match game hustler. With Jake Charter and George Baird logical contenders.

Was it in Newburgh that a rumor developed that the reason Johnny Ferraro shot 818 was because "he fixed the alleys to suit his ball." And we always rated Newburgh as a major league bowling team.

Sixteen Post 190 Average In HV Circuit

Sixteen keglers averaged "190" or better in the 1952-53 Hudson Valley League campaign, while Miron Lumber of Kingston finished six games ahead of its nearest competitor in the team race, final statistics released by Secretary Bert Rhea revealed today.

Johnny Ferraro led the pack with 201-63 for 84 games. Phil Versace, Poughkeepsie sharpshooter, edged Wally Gerken of Newburgh, 198-69 to 198-54 in the race for second place.

Frank Greco, Ellenville star who was in front most of the way, slumped in the final weeks and wound up in fourth place with 197-77.

Two Kingston stalwarts, Hammerin' Hank Kemmerer and Harold Broskie, staged a photo finish for fifth spot, with Hank winning 196-3 to 196-2. Larry Weishaupt tossed 195-4.

Others in the first ten were Jake Charter of Poughkeepsie with 193-22; George Baird, Poughkeepsie, 192-88; and Fred Morse, Ellenville, 192-61.

Ferraro's 298 and 818 were individual records, while the Lumberjacks racked up 1171 and 3253 for team honors. Their 978-29 team average fell below the all-time mark of 982 held by Cy's Diner of Newburgh.

Near Record Entry For Saratoga Races

Saratoga Springs—A smashing entry of 1,554 nominations has been received for the 36 early-closing events of the 30-night fall meeting at Saratoga Raceway.

Announced by Racing Secretary Harold Haswell, the entry is the second largest in the history of the Spa fall trots and includes two records. It involves 553 horses, eclipsing the old autumn mark of 475 set in 1951, and provides an average of 43 eligibles per feature, topping the 38 average of the past two years.

The nominations' list is all the more remarkable, Haswell notes, because it falls only 136 shy of last year's record fall entry of 1,690 which was for 45 events, or nine more than the current program.

Brooklyn—Tuzo (Kid) Portuguez, 163½, Costa Rica, outpointed Garth Panter, 162½, Salt Lake City, 10.

Johnstown, Pa.—Billy Gilliam, 207, Orange, N. J., outpointed Nino Valdes, 208, Havana, Cuba, 10.

Hot Springs Yields To Pressure Group In Negro Dispute

Hot Springs, Ark., April 21 (AP)—In an 11th hour bow to Cotton States League harmony, the Hot Springs baseball club has backed down from its plan to use two Negro pitchers.

The club announced last night—just 24 hours before the Class C circuit's opening games—that it had optioned Jim and Leander Tugerson, brothers of Florence Villa, Fla., to Knoxville, Tenn., of the Class D Mountain States League.

At the same time, however, the Bather management let it be known it is not giving up its fight to break down the racial barriers in the league embracing Arkansas, Louisiana and Mississippi.

The announcement said the Tugersons, stars for Indianapolis of the Negro American League last year, were being sent down on 24-hour recall and expressed hope that "other members of the league will reconsider the matter so we can recall these players."

The Cotton States League voted April 6 to revoke Hot Springs' franchise, with league president Al Haraway declaring "survival" of the loop was at stake.

George M. Trautman, president of the National Association of Professional Baseball Leagues, overruled the league's action and gave Hot Springs a green light to use the Tugersons.

But there were veiled threats by other CSL members, particularly those in Mississippi, of withdrawal in event Hot Springs went through with the plan.

Also Clip Cabbies For $75 Challenge

Miron Lumber's HVBL champion keglers gained further laurels last night when they won $200 first prize in the net division of the annual Dover Plains Sweepstakes.

Simultaneously, they added another $75 to their treasury in a special challenge match with Veteran Cabs of Poughkeepsie. The Cabs had finished second to Miron's in the HVBL race.

With Johnny Ferraro pouring a 649 blast in the anchor slot, the Lumberjacks totalled 2815 net and 2857 gross. The Cabbies posted 2761 net and 2851 gross. Ferraro won an additional $10 for high net series.

Ferraro reeled off scores of 232, 231 and 186. Harold Broskie slammed 213-194-209 in the No. 2 slot. George Baird, Poughkeepsie leadoff, led his squad with 155-238-228-621.

Harness Racing May Be the Farmer's Sport, But It Does All Right in Big Towns, Too

By JOHN McCULLUM
(NEA Sports Writer)

Harness racing is a comparative newcomer to big city life, not yet dry behind the tote board, but it learns fast.

The pari-mutuel handle throughout the nation last year was 362 million dollars. This compared to 10 million in 1938. More than 16 million were paid out in purses in 1952, less than a million in '38.

Demonstrating there's a comfortable living in them thar curves, free-wheeling Bill Haughton of Fultonville, N. Y., packed off $311,728 in total purses last season as the top money driver in the United States.

The saga of standardbred racing in this country began more than a century and a half ago. It received its biggest impetus with the formation of the U. S. Trotting Association in 1938. Since then, with time out for war, the trots have moved steadily ahead.

Not That Way Once

"It is difficult," admits press agent Jim Harrison of the USTA "to convince thoroughbred folks that more than a corporal's guard would come out to watch a horse race when there's no betting. I've seen more han 35,000 turn out.

"When the Grand Circuit, the major league of harness racing, swings through Indiana, Illinois, Ohio and Missouri each summer, it is the signal for fans to pour in from far and wide to watch a production that forbids wagering—and only the right to see the harness racers."

While harness racing is the farmer's sport, upwards of 25,000 hayshakers from nearby New York nightly make Yonkers Raceway the busiest track in the business. Last November 14, this layout handled $1,543,642, a world record for one night.

Horse players like an open betting race, and the trots are generally open like a politician's lips.

"Up to now," a Yonkers official says, "this has been a track for the $2 bettor, but the professional plunger is beginning to liven things up."

Yonkers Is Supreme

Yonkers Raceway has added such fascinating gadgets as a nose rest for horses on the starting gate, but there's no rest for the bettors. They have 184 nights, split up between Yonkers and Roosevelt Raceway, the latter at Westbury, L. I., in which to lose their money.

"I did okay at Yonkers last season," relates Dumb Dan Morgan, the noted boxing manager. "The trotters took good care of me. Or rather I took care of them. I was up there one night and put my dough on No. 3. It got away about three lengths in front and looked like a cinch. Then a wheel came off the sulky. I put up a loud beef and demanded my money back, but the joker said no money was refunded after the hosses left the post.

"Well, can't you let me have the wheel or something?" I asked. "I'm out five bucks. My wife ain't gonna like that."

"In another race, the announcer said No. 4 had broken. He didn't say anything about the suckers who bet on No. 4.

Post Score of 196; Van Gonsic Hits 45

Led by John Van Gonsic, the New Paltz Rod and Gun Club trapshooting team won Sunday's New Paltz Invitational with a score of 196.

Rosendale Sportsmen finished second with 176.

Poor weather conditions held down the number of entries and contributed to generally low scores. The meet was held under a dull sky with intermittent drizzle and windy gusts that resulted in shifty targets.

The doubles competition was cancelled because of limited visibility.

Van Gonsic put together rounds of 22 and 23 for a 45. Second best in the team event was Bub Merrihew of Rosendale with 20-22-42. Merrihew also won a $25 jackpot in a special Class A match that attracted five standout marksmen.

Merrihew gained further laurels in the All-Open Individual with a 22-21-43 to nose out Tony Benoit, Howard Mosher and Ed Modjeska who had 42s.

Van Gonsic and Fred Thiel, the 1952 Ulster county individual champion, posted 41s.

Competing against Merrihew in the $25 special were Tony Benoit, John Guerrera, and Howard Mosher.

The SCOREBOARD

(By The Associated Press)

By ED CORRIGAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

How often during the spring do you hear the plaint of major league managers:

"Just give me one long ball hitter. Then we'd show them."

Manager Lou Boudreau of the Boston Red Sox doesn't have to worry on that count—he's got the long ball hitter, but not much else.

Young Dick Gernert, his first-baseman, is just what the doctor ordered for the clean-up man for the Sox. He may not get many hits, but that inviting left field fence in Fenway Park is a fair target for his big blows.

The "Bobby Sox," as they're beginning to call Boudreau's kid outfit around the circuit, won a Patriots' Day doubleheader from the Washington Senators yesterday, 4-2 and 11-4, with Gernert clouting two home runs in the first game and one more in the second. He almost had a fourth in the afterpiece, but it went for a double, barely missing the center field bleachers.

Has the Power

Gernert batted only .243 after he was brought up from Louisville last season, but he had 19 home runs, good enough to lead the club. He collected 89 hits and 41 of them were for extra bases. In 21 times at the plate this year, he has made six hits—three home runs, two doubles and one single.

In yesterday's first game, both his home runs accounted for a total of two runs batted in. His first round-tripper in the second inning was the first Boston run after 19 scoreless innings. Mel Parnell, Ellis Kinder and Bill Kennedy combined to hurl a good game, though, so not much in the way of run-production was needed.

The second game was close for seven innings but in the bottom of the seventh, the Sox exploded for seven runs against the Senators, and got rid of Bob Porterfield in short order. Gernert's double was the big blow, accounting for three runs.

Bilko Hits Homer

The St. Louis Cardinals crushed the Milwaukee Braves under a 13-hit barrage, 9-4. Steve Bilko, the Card first baseman up for his fourth try, knocked in four runs with a home run and a single.

Bilko never had been able to hit major league pitching, although year in and year out he has looked like a comer. If he flops this time, the Cards probably will give up on him.

Joe Presko went until the ninth, for the winners, but when he yielded a single by Jack Dittmer, who had tapped him for a home run earlier, Al Brazle came on and retired the side with no trouble.

In the only other action in the majors, Robin Roberts of the Philadelphia Phillies evened the score with the New York Giants' Larry Jansen by setting Leo Durocher's operatives down with three hits, 2-1. The Phillies could do little with Jansen's offerings until Johnny Wyrostek hit a home run in the sixth. Then Granny Hamner broke it up with another homer in the ninth.

Jansen beat Roberts in Philadelphia on opening day.

The Brooklyn-Pittsburgh game was called off because of cold weather and all the other teams had the day off.

Actually, the handsome Chicago-born pugilist is an humble youth. He has an abiding interest in youth activities as was reflected in weekend trips to the Wiltwyck School and Kingston Boys Club.

"Every time I go past a boys club," Johnny says, "I am impressed."

Maybe he remembers an earlier day, before his lightning fists had propelled him to national boxing fame.

Johnny Bratton has one consuming passion—to get Kid Gavilan into the same ring with him. That's happened twice before with the results in the Cuban Keed's favor. Gavilan relieved Bratton of the American welterweight title in May 1951 and fought a draw with him December of the same year.

Since then Gavilan has studiously avoided any headon collision with Bratton, who, in his flashy moments, is one of the most spectacular performers in boxing today.

There was a quiet confidence about Bratton as he talked about future plans at Richards Farms, high on a bluff overlooking the Hudson River below Port Ewen. It augurs nothing but serious trouble for the champion who is in no hurry to accomplish this rendezvous with Bratton.

Bratton had warm words of encouragement for a couple of Fred Davi's Glasco Athletic Club champions—Phil Gatti and Eddie Kithcart.

"Don't keep on fighting unless that's what you really want to do," he warned. "But if you want to be a boxer, you have to pay a price. You have to take care of yourself, stay in shape and don't cheat on yourself."

• Flotsam and Jetsam:

Hudson Valley keglers dined at the Flamingo Saturday amid the usual spirit of friendliness. The HVBL is a monument to the bowling interest kindled by Addison Jones 17 years ago at an unheralded meeting in Walden. As a matter of fact, Jones and your correspondent were the only two remaining originals at the banquet. Jones didn't speak but the unbroken success story of the HVBL is eloquent testimony to his contribution to the game. Miron Lumber hit the jackpot with the team title, high single and high series and four keglers in the top five. Johnny Ferraro set a new all-time individual series record with his fabulous 818 but the other Lumberjack accomplishments fell below the league's all-time standards. Charles Riccardi, the Old Prof, who retired as league president, gave a gracious speech. He arose to say only a few words but talked for several minutes in a heart-warming statement that was as genuine as the rising sun. Miron's pennant was only the third for Kingston in 16 years, but a footnote might be added that our town's keglers have blown a half dozen in the latter stages.

Charlie Manfro, the new president, told an amusing story. When Liberty Toros came to Kingston earlier in the season, they knocked off Rapp's Express and warned Miron's: "When you come to Liberty on the last day, you better have the pennant sewed up or we'll give you the business." P.S.—When Miron's went to the mountains they had the flag wrapped up but Liberty needed three desperately to "stay in the money." P.P.S.—Miron's bowled them over three straight. "The shoe was on the other foot," Manfro said. A home-and-home challenge match between Larry Weishaupt and Wally Gerken, Newburgh veteran, for $200 fizzled before it ever got started. When Weishaupt's friends raised the jackpot, it suddenly developed that Gerken could not accept the match because he has "no home alley." That's slightly on the incredible side when you consider Gerken has been rolling in Newburgh for nearly 30 years. Poughkeepsie bowling fans are all steamed up over a squabble as to who is the Bridge City's best. The outside votes would go to Phil Versace, the match game hustler. With Jake Charter and George Baird logical contenders.

Was it in Newburgh that a rumor developed that the reason Johnny Ferraro shot 818 was because "he fixed the alleys to suit his ball." And we always rated Newburgh as a major league bowling team.

Sixteen Post 190 Average In HV Circuit

Sixteen keglers averaged "190" or better in the 1952-53 Hudson Valley League campaign, while Miron Lumber of Kingston finished six games ahead of its nearest competitor in the team race, final statistics released by Secretary Bert Rhea revealed today.

Johnny Ferraro led the pack with 201-63 for 84 games. Phil Versace, Poughkeepsie sharpshooter, edged Wally Gerken of Newburgh, 198-69 to 198-54 in the race for second place.

Frank Greco, Ellenville star who was in front most of the way, slumped in the final weeks and wound up in fourth place with 197-77.

Two Kingston stalwarts, Hammerin' Hank Kemmerer and Harold Broskie, staged a photo finish for fifth spot, with Hank winning 196-3 to 196-2. Larry Weishaupt tossed 195-4.

Others in the first ten were Jake Charter of Poughkeepsie with 193-22; George Baird, Poughkeepsie, 192-88; and Fred Morse, Ellenville, 192-61.

Near Record Entry For Saratoga Races

Saratoga Springs—A smashing entry of 1,554 nominations has been received for the 36 early-closing events of the 30-night fall meeting at Saratoga Raceway.

Announced by Racing Secretary Harold Haswell, the entry is the second largest in the history of the Spa fall trots and includes two records. It involves 553 horses, eclipsing the old autumn mark of 475 set in 1951, and provides an average of 43 eligibles per feature, topping the 38 average of the past two years.

The nominations' list is all the more remarkable, Haswell notes, because it falls only 136 shy of last year's record fall entry of 1,690 which was for 45 events, or nine more than the current program.

Brooklyn—Tuzo (Kid) Portuguez, 163½, Costa Rica, outpointed Garth Panter, 162½, Salt Lake City, 10.

Johnstown, Pa.—Billy Gilliam, 207, Orange, N. J., outpointed Nino Valdes, 208, Havana, Cuba, 10.

Hot Springs Yields To Pressure Group In Negro Dispute

Hot Springs, Ark., April 21 (AP)—In an 11th hour bow to Cotton States League harmony, the Hot Springs baseball club has backed down from its plan to use two Negro pitchers.

The club announced last night—just 24 hours before the Class C circuit's opening games—that it had optioned Jim and Leander Tugerson, brothers of Florence Villa, Fla., to Knoxville, Tenn., of the Class D Mountain States League.

At the same time, however, the Bather management let it be known it is not giving up its fight to break down the racial barriers in the league embracing Arkansas, Louisiana and Mississippi.

The announcement said the Tugersons, stars for Indianapolis of the Negro American League last year, were being sent down on 24-hour recall and expressed hope that "other members of the league will reconsider the matter so we can recall these players."

The Cotton States League voted April 6 to revoke Hot Springs' franchise, with league president Al Haraway declaring "survival" of the loop was at stake.

George M. Trautman, president of the National Association of Professional Baseball Leagues, overruled the league's action and gave Hot Springs a green light to use the Tugersons.

But there were veiled threats by other CSL members, particularly those in Mississippi, of withdrawal in event Hot Springs went through with the plan.

Also Clip Cabbies For $75 Challenge

Miron Lumber's HVBL champion keglers gained further laurels last night when they won $200 first prize in the net division of the annual Dover Plains Sweepstakes.

Simultaneously, they added another $75 to their treasury in a special challenge match with Veteran Cabs of Poughkeepsie. The Cabs had finished second to Miron's in the HVBL race.

With Johnny Ferraro pouring a 649 blast in the anchor slot, the Lumberjacks totalled 2815 net and 2857 gross. The Cabbies posted 2761 net and 2851 gross. Ferraro won an additional $10 for high net series.

Ferraro reeled off scores of 232, 231 and 186 Harold Broskie slammed 213-194-209 in the No. 2 slot. George Baird, Poughkeepsie leadoff, led his squad with 155-238-228-621.

Harness Racing May Be the Farmer's Sport, But It Does All Right in Big Towns, Too

By JOHN McCULLUM
(NEA Sports Writer)

Harness racing is a comparative newcomer to big city life, not yet dry behind the tote board, but it learns fast.

The pari-mutuel handle throughout the nation last year was 362 million dollars. This compared to 10 million in 1938. More than 16 million were paid out in purses in 1952, less than a million in '38.

Demonstrating there's a comfortable living in them thar curves, free-wheeling Bill Haughton of Fultonville, N. Y., packed off $311,728 in total purses last season as the top money driver in the United States.

The saga of standardbred racing in this country began more than a century and a half ago. It received its biggest impetus with the formation of the U. S. Trotting Association in 1938. Since then, with time out for war, the trots have moved steadily ahead.

Not That Way Once

"It is difficult," admits press agent Jim Harrison of the USTA "to convince thoroughbred folks that more than a corporal's guard would come out to watch a horse race when there's no betting. I've seen more han 35,000 turn out.

"When the Grand Circuit, the major league of harness racing, swings through Indiana, Illinois, Ohio and Missouri each summer, it is the signal for fans to pour in from far and wide to watch a production that forbids wagering—and only the right to see the harness racers."

While harness racing is the farmer's sport, upwards of 25,000 hayshakers from nearby New York nightly make Yonkers Raceway the busiest track in the business. Last November 14, this layout handled $1,543,642, a world record for one night.

Horse players like an open betting race, and the trots are generally open like a politician's lips.

"Up to now," a Yonkers official says, "this has been a track for the $2 bettor, but the professional plunger is beginning to liven things up."

Yonkers Is Supreme

Yonkers Raceway has added such fascinating gadgets as a nose rest for horses on the starting gate, but there's no rest for the bettors. They have 184 nights, split up between Yonkers and Roosevelt Raceway, the latter at Westbury, L. I., in which to lose their money.

"I did okay at Yonkers last season," relates Dumb Dan Morgan, the noted boxing manager. "The trotters took good care of me. Or rather I took care of them. I was up there one night and put my dough on No. 3. It got away about three lengths in front and looked like a cinch. Then a wheel came off the sulky. I put up a loud beef and demanded my money back, but the joker said no money was refunded after the hosses left the post.

"Well, can't you let me have the wheel or something?" I asked. "I'm out five bucks. My wife ain't gonna like that."

"In another race, the announcer said No. 4 had broken. He didn't say anything about the suckers who bet on No. 4.

"They're the ones who were broke."

Ronnie Etchison Beats Meyers in Feature Bout

Cops First Fall In 42 Seconds

Ronnie Etchison, 220, of Chicago, turned the tables on his hometown nemesis, Sonny Meyers, 225, with a best-of-three falls victory last night in a riotous wrestling feature at the municipal auditorium. About 500 fans attended.

Etchison surprised Meyers with a body slam at the 42-second mark for the first fall. The action was so fast and furious that many of the spectators missed it.

It got rougher and more exciting at one stage with Etchison and Meyers blasting one of the ringposts loose in a wild exchange.

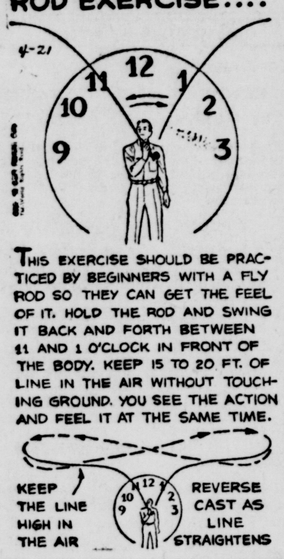
Frank Taylor of Toronto won two out of three falls from wild man Pedro Godoy, of South America, in the semi-final event.

An Australian newcomer, Paddy Costello, made his local debut in the curtain raiser but was victimized by Al Getz of St. Louis in 25 minutes.

Promoter Ted Bayly has announced May 1 as the date for the next card.



Redeemers Edge Boys Club, 55-51

A second period splurge in which they gained a 21-12 edge enabled the Redeemers to shade the Boys Club Juniors, 55-51, Friday at the Boys Club gym.

The losers held a 13-10 edge at the first quarter and battled the Redeemers on even terms in the second half, but could never undo the damages of the second quarter.

Bruce Clair fired 23 points for Redeemers, with Robert Campbell and Phil Hendricks each getting 10. Ronnie Anderson's sparked the Boys Club with 17 markers.

Sember and Van Buren had 13 and 10 respectively.

Japs' Yamada Sets Record In Marathon

Boston, April 21 (AP)—Japan's Keizo Yamada—a tireless, five-foot-two, 108-pound running machine—sped the fastest marathon ever recorded to win yesterday's 57th Boston A.A. race from an international field of 157.

The 25-year-old Jap, who earns $30 a month as a mining company clerk, found the cool breeze and rugged hills just his dish as he swung rhythmically along to a sparkling 2:18:51 effort for the 26-mile, 385-yard course.

Never more than 300 yards behind the pace-setting Karl Gosta Leandersson in the first 19 miles, Yamada chose "Heartbreak Hill" to glide past the 1949 winner and Finland's Veikko Karvonen.

That last of three steep grades—about six miles from the finish in Boston's Back Bay—spelled defeat for the Finn and the Swede. Yamada spurted ahead of his two rivals and sailed smoothly the rest of the way. A stiff following wind favored the runners.

All three of them bettered the best previously recorded marathon time of 2:20:42.2, made by British Olympic ace Jim Peters in London, June 14, 1952.

Second-place Karvonen — a 26-year-old mail clerk—was timed in 2:19:19 and third-place Leandersson, 34-year-old mountain guide, was close behind at 2:19:36. Japanese champion Katsuo Nishida was fourth in 2:21:35, as all four smashed the former B.A.A. record of 2:25:39, set by Korean Yun Bok Suh in 1947. Yamada clipped 6 minutes and 48 seconds off the old mark.

Portuguez Beats Garth Panter

Brooklyn, April 21 (AP)—One good fight deserves another so both winner Tuzo (Kid) Portuguez and loser Garth Panter were rewarded today with a May date.

Portuguez, solid punching Costa Rican middleweight, edged the aggressive Salt Lake City youngster in a bruising ten-round bout at Eastern Parkway Arena last night. It was a split decision, decided by two points. Panter, outweighed 163½ to 162½, was a seven to five favorite.

Parkway matchmaker Teddy Brenner, pleased at the lively scrap, promptly signed Portuguez to meet Francis (Mickey) Laurent on May 4. He contracted Panter for a May 25 ten-rounder with Joey Giambra, a Buffalo, N. Y., middleweight contender.

Both fights will be telecast to some sections of the country, as was last night's bout, attended by a crowd of around 2,100.

Panter, a 22-year-old father of three making his eastern debut, got off fast with a heavy body attack, then faded midway in the scrap from Tuzo's own body barrages.

WIBC Delegates Choose 1955 Site

Detroit, April 21 (AP)—The Women's International Bowling Congress will determine its 1955 tournament site today in concluding sessions of its annual convention.

Omaha, Dayton and Miami are the cities bidding for the honor. The 1954 tournament already has been awarded to Syracuse, N .Y.

Monday, only one major change was posted on the scoreboard. In singles, Janet Plum, of St. Paul, Minn., hoisted a 607 total on games of 180, 254 and 173. It sent her into fifth place in the standings.

La Starza and Bucceroni Rated 4-5 Among Heavies

Washington, April 21 (AP)—Roland La Starza and Dan Bucceroni jumped into the heavyweight title picture today on the strength of the National Boxing Association's spring ratings.

La Starza, a slick boxer who lost a much-disputed split decision to champion Rocky Marciano three years ago, hopped into the No. 3 challenger spot on the basis of his victory over Rex Layne during the winter.

Bucceroni, a slugger from Philadelphia, climbed from nowhere into the No. 4 challenger position, and he claims he's ready to take on all comers.

Former champions Jersey Joe Walcott and Ezzard Charles are rated one-two behind Marciano. Walcott gets a shot at the title May 15.

Col. Harvey Miller, NBA secretary, said "the natural assumption" is that Charles will take on La Starza, with the winner getting the next crack at the title.

No Major Surprises

There were no major surprises in the NBA's spring ratings, announced yesterday. Four men were lumped in the top middleweight bracket, where a champion still is to be crowned to replace the retired Sugar Ray Robinson.

Randy Turpin of England, who took the title from Robinson once only to lose it again, is listed at the top, followed in order by Bobo Olson of Hawaii, Charles Humez of France and Paddy Young of New York.

The NBA said the eventual champion is expected to come from a meeting of the winners in semi-final bouts between Turpin and Humez, Olson and Young.

Jimmy Carter, the lightweight champion, is the first of the current titlists to defend his championship. He takes on Tommy Collins of Massachusetts in a nationally televised 15-round fight at Boston Friday.

Collins is rated the No. 4 challenger in the NBA listings. Ahead of him come George Araujo of Rhode Island, Henry Davis of Hawaii and Johnny Gonzales of California.

Wagner's DA Will Address Sports Night

Herbert Sutter, Director of Athletics and basketball coach, will address the second annual Sports Night of Trinity Lutheran Church on Wednesday at 6:30 p. m.

The banquet will be held at the Trinity Lutheran Church and will honor the Senior basketball team and the No. 1 bowling squad who won championships in their respective leagues.

In all, two basketball teams and two bowling squads will be honored.

Sutter has had considerable success in coaching, having won several of the small college championships in the Metropolitan area.

Toronto — Arthur King, 138, Toronto, outpointed Henry Davis, 137, Hawaii, 10.

Mannie's CM Champs

Mannie's Barbers cinched the 1952-53 City Minor League pennant last night by winning two games from Kingston Knitting Mills, while the runnerup Johnny's Drive-In was upset twice by D-D's Drive-In.

The win gave Mannie's a two-game margin in the final standings. The Barbers held a three-set lead two weeks ago but dropped a trio to Johnny's.

A week later on a "position night" the Barbers copped a 2-1 decision to send them into the last week's play with a one-game edge. Then came last night's finale.

Berardi Leads Loop

The runnerup, Leo Bechtold, trailed several sticks behind with 555 and Frank Pavlick posted 210-554. Pete Nagy bombed 211-554, Lou Nardi 220-552, Frank Nerone 212-544, B. Schneider 225-543, Joe Mannello 540, Joe Misasi 536, Ralph Dumenigo 535.

Also top drawer were Ed Dasher 244 (high solo for the night); Joe Dulin 532, Tom Parker 562, Joe Maurer, R. Geisler (233), Ed Smedes and Tony La Rocca 525. Harry Secreto qualified for an ABC shoulder patch with a 149-triplicate.

Ronnie Etchison Beats Meyers in Feature Bout

Cops First Fall In 42 Seconds

Ronnie Etchison, 220, of Chicago, turned the tables on his hometown nemesis, Sonny Meyers, 225, with a best-of-three falls victory last night in a riotous wrestling feature at the municipal auditorium. About 500 fans attended.

Etchison surprised Meyers with a body slam at the 42-second mark for the first fall. The action was so fast and furious that many of the spectators missed it.

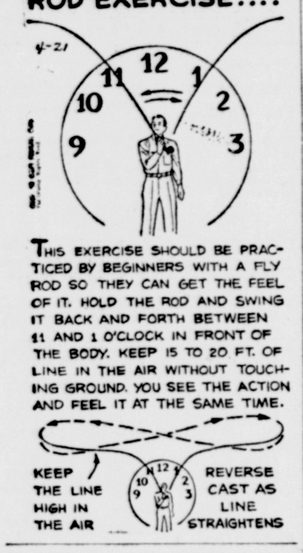
It got rougher and more exciting at one stage with Etchison and Meyers blasting one of the ringposts loose in a wild exchange.

Etchison completed the job of demolishing in 13:45 of the third fall.

Frank Taylor of Toronto won two out of three falls from wild man Pedro Godoy, of South America, in the semi-final event.

An Australian newcomer, Paddy Costello, made his local debut in the curtain raiser but was victimized by Al Getz of St. Louis in 25 minutes.

Promoter Ted Bayly has announced May 1 as the date for the next card.



Redeemers Edge Boys Club, 55-51

A second period splurge in which they gained a 21-12 edge enabled the Redeemers to shade the Boys Club Juniors, 55-51, Friday at the Boys Club gym.

The losers held a 13-10 edge at the first quarter and battled the Redeemers on even terms in the second half, but could never undo the damages of the second quarter.

Bruce Clair fired 23 points for Redeemers, with Robert Campbell and Phil Hendricks each getting 10. Ronnie Anderson's sparked the Boys Club with 17 markers.

Sember and Van Buren had 13 and 10 respectively.

Japs' Yamada Sets Record In Marathon

Boston, April 21 (AP)—Japan's Keizo Yamada—a tireless, five-foot-two, 108-pound running machine—sped the fastest marathon ever recorded to win yesterday's 57th Boston A.A. race from an international field of 157.

The 25-year-old Jap, who earns $30 a month as a mining company clerk, found the cool breeze and rugged hills just his dish as he swung rhythmically along to a sparkling 2:18:51 effort for the 26-mile, 385-yard course.

Never more than 300 yards behind the pace-setting Karl Gosta Leandersson in the first 19 miles, Yamada chose "Heartbreak Hill" to glide past the 1949 winner and Finland's Veikko Karvonen.

That last of three steep grades —about six miles from the finish in Boston's Back Bay—spelled defeat for the Finn and the Swede. Yamada spurted ahead of his two rivals and sailed smoothly the rest of the way. A stiff following wind favored the runners.

All three of them bettered the best previously recorded marathon time of 2:20:42.2, made by British Olympic ace Jim Peters in London, June 14, 1952.

Second-place Karvonen — a 26-year-old mail clerk—was timed in 2:19:19 and third-place Leandersson, 34-year-old mountain guide, was close behind at 2:19:36. Japanese champion Katsuo Nishida was fourth in 2:21:35, as all four smashed the former B.A.A. record of 2:25:39, set by Korean Yun Bok Suh in 1947. Yamada clipped 6 minutes and 48 seconds off the old mark.

La Starza and Bucceroni Rated 4-5 Among Heavies

Washington, April 21 (AP)—Roland La Starza and Dan Bucceroni jumped into the heavyweight title picture today on the strength of the National Boxing Association's spring ratings.

La Starza, a slick boxer who lost a much-disputed split decision to champion Rocky Marciano three years ago, hopped into the No. 3 challenger spot on the basis of his victory over Rex Layne during the winter.

Bucceroni, a slugger from Philadelphia, climbed from nowhere into the No. 4 challenger position, and he claims he's ready to take on all comers.

Former champions Jersey Joe Walcott and Ezzard Charles are rated one-two behind Marciano. Walcott gets a shot at the title May 15.

Col. Harvey Miller, NBA secretary, said "the natural assumption" is that Charles will take on La Starza, with the winner getting the next crack at the title.

No Major Surprises

There were no major surprises in the NBA's spring ratings, announced yesterday. Four men were lumped in the top middleweight bracket, where a champion still is to be crowned to replace the retired Sugar Ray Robinson.

Randy Turpin of England, who took the title from Robinson once only to lose it again, is listed at the top, followed in order by Bobo Olson of Hawaii, Charles Humez of France and Paddy Young of New York.

The NBA said the eventual champion is expected to come from a meeting of the winners in semi-final bouts between Turpin and Humez, Olson and Young.

Jimmy Carter, the lightweight champion, is the first of the current titlists to defend his championship. He takes on Tommy Collins of Massachusetts in a nationally televised 15-round fight at Boston Friday.

Collins is rated the No. 4 challenger in the NBA listings. Ahead of him come George Araujo of Rhode Island, Henry Davis of Hawaii and Johnny Gonzales of California.

WIBC Delegates Choose 1955 Site

Detroit, April 21 (AP)—The Women's International Bowling Congress will determine its 1955 tournament site today in concluding sessions of its annual convention.

Omaha, Dayton and Miami are the cities bidding for the honor. The 1954 tournament already has been awarded to Syracuse, N. Y.

Monday, only one major change was posted on the scoreboard. In singles, Janet Plum, of St. Paul, Minn., hoisted a 607 total on games of 180, 254 and 173. It sent her into fifth place in the standings.

Wagner's DA Will Address Sports Night

Herbert Sutter, Director of Athletics and basketball coach, will address the second annual Sports Night of Trinity Lutheran Church on Wednesday at 6:30 p. m.

The banquet will be held at the Trinity Lutheran Church and will honor the Senior basketball team and the No. 1 bowling squad who won championships in their respective leagues.

In all, two basketball teams and two bowling squads will be honored.

Sutter has had considerable success in coaching, having won several of the small college championships in the Metropolitan area.

Toronto — Arthur King, 138, Toronto, outpointed Henry Davis, 137, Hawaii, 10.

Mannie's CM Champs

Mannie's Barbers cinched the 1952-53 City Minor League pennant last night by winning two games from Kingston Knitting Mills, while the runnerup Johnny's Drive-In was upset twice by D-D's Drive-In.

The win gave Mannie's a two-game margin in the final standings. The Barbers held a three-set lead two weeks ago but dropped a trio to Johnny's.

A week later on a "position night" the Barbers copped a 2-1 decision to send them into the last week's play with a one-game edge. Then came last night's finale.

Berardi Leads Loop

Amelio Berardi, known to the bowling and baseball trade as "Millie" captured individual honors in the closing session with 200-181-200 for 601.

The runnerup, Leo Bechtold, trailed several sticks behind with 555 and Frank Pavlick posted 210-554. Pete Nagy bombed 211-554, Lou Nardi 220-552, Frank Nerone 212-544, B. Schneider 225-543, Joe Mannello 540, Joe Misasi 536, Ralph Dumenigo 535.

Also top drawer were Ed Dasher 244 (high solo for the night); Joe Dulin 532, Tom Parker 562, Joe Maurer, R. Geisler (233), Ed Smedes and Tony La Rocca 525. Harry Secreto qualified for an ABC shoulder patch with a 149-triplicate.

You get High Road-Octane performance because of the selective blending of the anti-knock components in new Richfield Ethyl. To get top anti-knock performance on the road from your high-compression engine, be sure it is adjusted to take full advantage of this ultra-modern gasoline. Pull up to the Richfield Ethyl pump and try the new "101 PLUS" today!

*ROAD-OCTANE – A term used by automotive engineers to evaluate the actual anti-knock performance of a gasoline not in the laboratory but on the road.

PSC Concludes Its

at Kingston, and W. R. Main, research engineer in the vice president's office.

Attorney John L. Larkin put Keating under fire with questions designed to leave the implication that the railroad had neglected its passenger service on the Catskill Mountain Branch and had made no effort to improve its business.

After establishing that Keating was employed by the railroad for 37 years and was trainmaster at Kingston for the past 13 years, Larkin asked whether he had ever received any complaints about the placing of "a couple of cattle cars" ahead of the coach on Train No. 527.

"I have a faint recollection of several years ago," Keating replied. After Larkin pursued the subject further, Keating testified, "There was an occasion when we did handle some stock on that train for Hobart."

Not Supposed to Do It

Asked if he knew whether the use of cattle cars on passenger trains was according to proper procedure and allowable under the rules of the company, Keating replied, "We are not supposed to do it."

Attorney William R. Stevens, railroad counsel, injected a remark that there may not have been any passengers on the train, to which Hearing Examiner A. H. Williamson replied that the absence of passengers has no bearing on whether or not it is proper to put cattle cars on a passenger train.

Larkin pointed out that testimony in the previous session had disclosed that on Oct. 11, 1952, a group of 61 children and 11 adults rode the train from Phoenicia to Grand Hotel and returned by bus. Asked whether or not the railroad was asked to provide transportation back and refused, Keating replied that he had no recollection of it. In cross examination, Stevens brought out that these were 61 half-fares and the total mileage from Phoenicia to Grand Hotel is 13 miles.

"The railroad company isn't running any special trains to carry half-fares for 13 miles are they?" Stevens asked. Keating replied, "No, not as a rule."

Larkin also asked Keating if he ever recalled the trains in question running without communication signals. The reply was affirmative.

"Isn't that against the rules," Larkin asked. Keating replied, "Yes."

Doesn't Recall Incident

"Is it true that on Labor Day, 1949, 300 passengers were left stranded along stations on the Catskill Mountain Branch?" Larkin asked. "I don't recall that," Keating answered.

When he testified later, Conductor Ryan said that on Labor Day of 1949 a train was scheduled in the public timetables to run between Kingston and Oneonta and his crew "got orders not to pick up passengers."

"Was the public notified," Larkin asked.

"No," Ryan replied.

Asked if he knew how many passengers were stranded, Ryan replied, "From what I heard there were around 300 passengers." This reply was stricken from the record after Stevens objected to it as hearsay evidence.

Other testimony brought out by Larkin included the fact that on several occasion the engines on the Kingston-Oneonta run were used at night on the River Division or in the yards when not scheduled on their regular run. Stevens then injected, "Certainly there is nothing immoral in using our equipment whenever we can."

Had 1,000 Passengers

Keating also testified after questioning by Larkin that the "Rip Van Winkle Flier" excursion special train which ran last year in connection with Kingston's 300th Anniversary carried "over a thousand" passengers and consisted of 15 coaches. He testified that the particular exercusion was well advertised and "there was quite a lot printed up about it" in the newspapers.

After none of the railroad men present were able to state what the round trip fare was on that occasion, a telephone call to the station was made during a short recess, and it was ascertained to be $2.75, including tax, from Kingston to Stamford and return. This revenue was not reflected in the railroad's statement of operating loss, it was testified by W. R. Main, research engineer, since the exhibits concerned only the two trains the railroad is seeking to have discontinued and included no special excursions.

Main testified that he had made no study or survey of the possibility of running frequent excursions on the line. Asked if there had been "any study of what might be done to offset the operating deficit," Main replied, "None I know of."

"The fact that between 1,200 and 1,400 people were carried would not have any influence on your decision," Larkin stated. Stevens brought out in cross examination that the train was run in connection with a centennial celebration. "How often does a centennial occur," Stevens asked, "Once every hundred years, doesn't it."

There was much other testimoney, some of it aimed at the railroad's expense figures in an attempt to imply that they were higher than actual cost. Main explained in detail how he arrived at the figures, emphasizing the facts that in all items the labor cost was included, with railroad retirement funds and vacation allowances being important items.

Other witnesses included E. C. Snyder, railroad fireman with 42 years service on the Catskill Mountain Branch, and Thomas Melvin, accountant for the Catskill Craftsmen and Hearthside Industries of Catskill, makers of book cases and book racks for The Grolier Society of New York, publishers of the Book of Knowledge and other sets.

John Taylor Breen, attorney for the village of Stamford, and Assemblyman Edwyn E. Mason of Delaware county, with Attorney Larkin presented the case for the opponents of the discontinuance of the trains.

Car Scatters Trash, Beer Bottle Thrown

Police were notified at 9:05 p. m., yesterday that someone drove a car up over the curb near 279 Clinton avenue, scattered rubbish containers over the street, and someone in the vehicle tossed a beer bottle through the window of an upstairs apartment. The car then drove away. Officers Meyer Levy and John Crespino were assigned to investigate, and the public works department was called to clean up the scattered rubbish.

Other officers elected were Bev. Anderson, vice-president; Robert Matthews, treasurer, and J. H. Haulenbeek, secretary.

It was announced that no definite operational plan would be prepared until the board had studied other similar plans. A meeting will be called in the near future, it was said.

Bus to Washington Added to Schedule

Frank Roe, owner of the Central Bus Terminal, local agency for Greyhound Lines, today announced that with the change of schedules to Daylight Saving Time a new service will be inaugurated — a through service without change of bus between Kingston and Washington, D. C. This trip leaves Kingston at 10:20 p. m., DST and, routed via the New Jersey Turnpike, arrives in Washington at 7:40 a. m. A similar trip leaves Washington daily at 7 a. m. and arrives in Kingston at 3:50 p. m.

Other schedules have been adjusted for the change in time, with seven daily trips scheduled between Kingston and New York plus extra trips on weekends. This service will be approximately doubled at the end of June when trips will be added to carry vacationists from New York to the nearby resort areas.

Future Benefits of Atom Are Explained to Dinner Club

An atom-powered, disease-free society, a world of magic in which human beings might live 150 years, enjoy steaks cooked in 15 seconds and wear wrinkle-and-soil-proof clothing was described last night by Luther Gable in a lecture before the Kingston National Dinner Club at the Governor Clinton Hotel.

The lecturer, a member of the faculty of the American Television Institute of Technology, told 125 dinner guests at the final meeting of the club's seventh season that he brought them a "message of hope . . . in this, the year 10 of the Atomic Age."

"We are the dawn people of this new age, holding in our hand the atom bomb."

Gable did not minimize the danger inherent in the bomb but laid particular emphasis on the positive aspects of atomic energy.

Officers Relected

Officers of the club were re-elected for the 1953-54 season as follows: Major Thomas J. Hanlon, president; Clyde F. Gardner, vice-president; Warren F. Smith, secretary, and Ray A. White, treasurer. Mrs. Millard Davis of Kerhonkson and James H. Betts of Kingston were elected to the board of directors for three-year terms. Other directors are Jay W. Rifenbary of Kingston and Mrs. Ashton Hart of High Falls, who have two years to serve, and Miss Alice E. Toole and DeWeese W. DeWitt, both of Kingston, with one year to serve.

Secretary Smith announced that applications for membership for the 1953-54 season which begins in the fall were now open. Smith's office is located at 95 John street, telephone 1819.

Included in Gable's message of hope were contained a strong personal conviction that the Russians do not possess the atom bomb, despite contrary assertions by representatives of government and the armed forces.

Listed as "Accidents"

The atomic explosions were in all probability the result of laboratory accidents, he said, pointing out that the "trick" was not in exploding the bomb but "how to keep a bomb from going off until you want it to."

If the Russians had the bomb, he argued they would have moved on Turkey and the Dardanelles.

Gable traced the development of modern science from the discovery of radium by Madame Curie in 1896, emphasizing the pioneering nature of the atomic age.

"We're on our way to undreamed-of miracles," he stated.

Employing a variety of miscellaneous factual and anecdotal material which was thoroughly enjoyed by a highly responsive audience, Gable described a world of fabulous scientific creations. All telephone wires will come down ultimately and turned into copper pipes, he said, giving way to wireless telephonic communication in which the parties could not only speak to one another but see each other at the same time.

He also envisaged color television "as gorgeous as anything you have seen in technicolor."

Used 'Black Light'

He drew a gasp from the audience when he listed among the new-dawn miracles the cooking of steak in 15 seconds and a roast in a minute and a half. A century and a half of life for the average human was foreseeable through the new magic, he stated.

Gable illustrated his lecture by means of "black light" technique in which the lights were extinguished and charts employed with luminous color which glowed in the dark.

He concluded with the admonition that in order to avoid disaster "social science must be brought apace" with scientific invention—"or Armageddon will be at our door."

Linking the mysterious universe with God, Gable stated that the problem of modern society was a theological one. "Scientists are not all atheists—not anymore," he asserted, explaining that just the contrary was true, that the scientist in the modern world was drawing closer to God in the realization that the universe was the divine creation of some omnipotent Deity.

at Kingston, and W. R. Main, research engineer in the vice president's office.

Attorney John L. Larkin put Keating under fire with questions designed to leave the implication that the railroad had neglected its passenger service on the Catskill Mountain Branch and had made no effort to improve its business.

After establishing that Keating was employed by the railroad for 37 years and was trainmaster at Kingston for the past 13 years, Larkin asked whether he had ever received any complaints about the placing of "a couple of cattle cars" ahead of the coach on Train No. 527.

"I have a faint recollection of several years ago," Keating replied. After Larkin pursued the subject further, Keating testified, "There was an occasion when we did handle some stock on that train for Hobart."

Not Supposed to Do It

Asked if he knew whether the use of cattle cars on passenger trains was according to proper procedure and allowable under the rules of the company, Keating replied, "We are not supposed to do it."

Attorney William R. Stevens, railroad counsel, injected a remark that there may not have been any passengers on the train, to which Hearing Examiner A. H. Williamson replied that the absence of passengers has no bearing on whether or not it is proper to put cattle cars on a passenger train.

(A later witness, Ernest J. Ryan, New York Central conductor, testified that the cattle car was put on behind the coach, and not ahead of the coach).

Larkin pointed out that testimony in the previous session had disclosed that on Oct. 11, 1952, a group of 61 children and 11 adults rode the train from Phoenicia to Grand Hotel and returned by bus. Asked whether or not the railroad was asked to provide transportation back and refused, Keating replied that he had no recollection of it. In cross examination, Stevens brought out that these were 61 half-fares and the total mileage from Phoenicia to Grand Hotel is 13 miles.

"The railroad company isn't running any special trains to carry half-fares for 13 miles are they?" Stevens asked. Keating replied, "No, not as a rule."

Larkin also asked Keating if he ever recalled the trains in question running without communication signals. The reply was affirmative.

"Isn't that against the rules," Larkin asked. Keating replied, "Yes."

Doesn't Recall Incident

"Is it true that on Labor Day, 1949, 300 passengers were left stranded along stations on the Catskill Mountain Branch?" Larkin asked. "I don't recall that," Keating answered.

When he testified later, Conductor Ryan said that on Labor Day of 1949 a train was scheduled in the public timetables to run between Kingston and Oneonta and his crew "got orders not to pick up passengers."

"Was the public notified," Larkin asked.

"No," Ryan replied.

Asked if he knew how many passengers were stranded, Ryan replied, "From what I heard there were around 300 passengers." This reply was stricken from the record after Stevens objected to it as hearsay evidence.

Other testimony brought out by Larkin included the fact that on several occasion the engines on the Kingston-Oneonta run were used at night on the River Division or in the yards when not scheduled on their regular run. Stevens then injected, "Certainly there is nothing immoral in using our equipment whenever we can."

Had 1,000 Passengers

Keating also testified after questioning by Larkin that the "Rip Van Winkle Flier" excursion special train which ran last year in connection with Kingston's 300th Anniversary carried "over a thousand" passengers and consisted of 15 coaches. He testified that the particular exercusion was well advertised and "there was quite a lot printed up about it" in the newspapers.

This revenue was not reflected in the railroad's statement of operating loss, it was testified by W. R. Main testified that he had made no study or survey of the possibility of running frequent excursions on the line. Asked if there had been "any study of what might be done to offset the operating deficit," Main replied, "None I know of."

"The fact that between 1,200 and 1,400 people were carried would not have any influence on your decision," Larkin stated. Stevens brought out in cross examination that the train was run in connection with a centennial celebration. "How often does a centennial occur," Stevens asked, "Once every hundred years, doesn't it."

There was much other testimoney, some of it aimed at the railroad's expense figures in an attempt to imply that they were higher than actual cost. Main explained in detail how he arrived at the figures, emphasizing the facts that in all items the labor cost was included, with railroad retirement funds and vacation allowances being important items.

Other witnesses included E. C. Snyder, railroad fireman with 42 years service on the Catskill Mountain Branch, and Thomas Melvin, accountant for the Catskill Craftsmen and Hearthside Industries of Catskill, makers of book cases and book racks for The Grolier Society of New York, publishers of the Book of Knowledge and other sets.

John Taylor Breen, attorney for the village of Stamford, and Assemblyman Edwyn E. Mason of Delaware county, with Attorney Larkin presented the case for the opponents of the discontinuance of the trains.

Future Benefits of Atom Are Explained to Dinner Club

An atom-powered, disease-free society, a world of magic in which human beings might live 150 years, enjoy steaks cooked in 15 seconds and wear wrinkle-and-soil-proof clothing was described last night by Luther Gable in a lecture before the Kingston National Dinner Club at the Governor Clinton Hotel.

The lecturer, a member of the faculty of the American Television Institute of Technology, told 125 dinner guests at the final meeting of the club's seventh season that he brought them a "message of hope . . . in this, the year 10 of the Atomic Age."

"We are the dawn people of this new age, holding in our hand the atom bomb."

Gable did not minimize the danger inherent in the bomb but laid particular emphasis on the positive aspects of atomic energy.

Officers Relected

Officers of the club were re-elected for the 1953-54 season as follows: Major Thomas J. Hanlon, president; Clyde F. Gardner, vice-president; Warren F. Smith, secretary, and Ray A. White, treasurer. Mrs. Millard Davis of Kerhonkson and James H. Betts of Kingston were elected to the board of directors for three-year terms. Other directors are Jay W. Rifenbary of Kingston and Mrs. Ashton Hart of High Falls, who have two years to serve, and Miss Alice E. Toole and DeWeese W. DeWitt, both of Kingston, with one year to serve.

Secretary Smith announced that applications for membership for the 1953-54 season which begins in the fall were now open. Smith's office is located at 95 John street, telephone 1819.

Included in Gable's message of hope were contained a strong personal conviction that the Russians do not possess the atom bomb, despite contrary assertions by representatives of government and the armed forces.

Listed as "Accidents"

"The atomic explosions were in all probability the result of laboratory accidents, he said, pointing out that the "trick" was not in exploding the bomb but "how to keep a bomb from going off until you want it to."

If the Russians had the bomb, he argued they would have moved on Turkey and the Dardanelles.

Gable traced the development of modern science from the discovery of radium by Madame Curie in 1896, emphasizing the pioneering nature of the atomic age.

"We're on our way to undreamed-of miracles," he stated.

Employing a variety of miscellaneous factual and anecdotal material which was thoroughly enjoyed by a highly responsive audience, Gable described a world of fabulous scientific creations. All telephone wires will come down ultimately and turned into copper pipes, he said, giving way to wireless telephonic communication in which the parties could not only speak to one another but see each other at the same time.

He also envisaged color television "as gorgeous as anything you have seen in technicolor."

Used 'Black Light'

He drew a gasp from the audience when he listed among the new-dawn miracles the cooking of steak in 15 seconds and a roast in a minute and a half. A century and a half of life for the average human was foreseeable through the new magic, he stated.

Gable illustrated his lecture by means of "black light" technique in which the lights were extinguished and charts employed with luminous color which glowed in the dark.

He concluded with the admonition that in order to avoid disaster "social science must be brought apace" with scientific invention—"or Armageddon will be at our door."

Linking the mysterious universe with God, Gable stated that the problem of modern society was a theological one. "Scientists are not all atheists—not anymore," he asserted, explaining that just the contrary was true, that the scientist in the modern world was drawing closer to God in the realization that the universe was the divine creation of some omnipotent Deity.

Cold Air Chills Parts of South

(By The Associated Press)

Parts of the southland shivered today as cold air from the mid-continent dipped into wide areas of Dixie.

Temperatures dropped into the 30's in many sections of the south and fell below freezing in some areas. The cold air, moving out of the chilled midwest and northern plains, extended over most of the eastern half of the country.

While the east and south got most of the chilly weather, westerly winds carried warm air into the north central region. The warming covered the area from the western Great Lakes region to the Rocky Mountains and south to Missouri, Kansas and western Texas.

Generally fair weather prevailed over most of the country. There were snow flurries along the western slopes of the Appalachians and in parts of New England and New York. Rain showers were reported along the New England coast and along the Washington coast.

Police Blame Maniac For Widow's Slaying

New York, April 21 (AP)—A middleaged widow was found savagely slain in her Brooklyn apartment last night, and police said she died at the hands of a sex maniac.

It was the second sex murder within six weeks in the same Brooklyn area. Both crimes appeared to have been committed by the same person, police said.

The new victim was Mrs. Virginia Bronson, about 60, a Negro, who was brutally attacked and stabbed in her four-room apartment at 164 Thatford avenue where she lived alone.

Her mutilated body was discovered last night by a friend.

The apartment is only a few blocks from that of Mrs. Mary Buckle, 72, another widow of 253 Hendrix street, who was fatally beaten and assaulted last March 11.

Police Detective William Matchim said that "undoubtedly a sex degenerate was responsible" for both attacks, and that evidence indicated the assailant was the same in both cases.

An average of eight hours a day of sunshine indicates the dry climate of Perth, capital of Western Australia.

Hadassah Drive Will Be Held Thursday

Rising Costs Called Biggest Problem By U. S. Publishers

New York, April 21 (AP)—An executive of the American Newspaper Publishers Association said today rising costs are more of a problem to the nation's newspapers than competition from television.

George C. Biggers of the Atlanta Journal and Constitution, vice-president of the ANPA, told one of the opening sessions of the ANPA's 67th annual convention:

"I am not one of those who views with alarm the future of newspapers because of television. Newspapers years ago took radio in their stride and I think will do the same with television."

"I do believe," he said in his prepared address, "that with the advent of this new form of communication, newspapers will have to take another look at their picture. They will have to extend themselves to improve their product. Executives will have to learn from their readers just what it is about the newspaper that appeals to them and—what is far more important—just what it is about the newspaper that does not appeal to them ***.

Costs Main Problem

"A more serious problem than television as I see it confronts us today in the actual cost of producing our newspapers. Labor costs have risen and continue to rise. The cost of materials continues to spiral upwards.

"There seems to be no end and in the face of this newspapers find themselves with a product the price of which cannot be increased to meet these constant increases in costs because they are faced, as a majority of manufacturers and sellers of other products are not, with the law of diminishing returns."

Albert Spendlove of the Nashua, N. H., Telegraph, chairman of a conference for publishers of papers with a circulation between 10,000 and 50,000, also touched on what he called the major problem confronting the industry — "the continuing and steadily increasing shrinkage of the margin between expense and income."

Must Study Small Details

He advocated a closer look at the problem, with an eye to good housekeeping methods and added:

"Such a close look at each step in our day-to-day operations, even to the smallest detail which until now has not been deemed important in the face of larger matters of obvious concern, can save more of us money than we now realize."

In a separate morning session for newspapers under 10,000 circulation, ANPA President Charles F. McCahill of the Cleveland News stressed the importance to the whole industry of the nation's small newspaper.

Expect Papers to Lead

The chairman of the session, David B. Lindsay, Jr., of the Sarasota, Fla., Herald Tribune, called this a challenging era for newspapers, not only because of increased competition from other media but also because the public expects more from its newspapers. He continued:

"In charity drives, in political affairs, in exposure of gangsterism and corruption in government, the people expect their local newspapers to take the lead.

"Sometimes these expectations are excessive, beyond the capabilities of a small newspaper staff. But always they should be heartening to us, for they represent a real expression of the vital place given to newspapers by our readers. This in itself in the greatest reassurance we can receive in the face of media competition."

The Willlamette meteorite, weighing 15½ tons, actually was stolen in 1903, and moved almost a mile from the spot where it originally rested.

Mayor Sets Date For Eye Collection

Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk today proclaimed Thursday April 23 Hadassah Eye Bank Day and granted permission to the women of Hadassah to collect funds on business corners of the city to "save an eye for Israel."

April 20 was the fifth birthday of the State of Israel and in commemoration of the milestone, Independence Week is to be observed here by the save-an-eye drive.

The women will be at their stations between 10 a. m., and 6 p. m., Thursday and will carry small, blue dime banks.

The funds will be used to save children and adults afflicted with trachoma, an eye disease causing eventual blindness.

Each small bank holds $5. This is enough to treat an eye afflicted with the disease.

Arabs Carry Disease

Trachoma is a common malady in the overcrowded population centers of the Middle East. It had been wiped out in Israel until the recent influx of peoples from the Arab lands, where it is widespread.

Local contributions will go toward preventing further spread of the disease, and help provide proper medical care in time to prevent permanent blindness.

Miss Rhoda Mollott is chairman of the local Hadassah drive, and on her committee are Mrs. Alex Parnett, Mrs. Jack Smollen, and Mrs. George Starkman, president of Hadassah in Kingston.

Local Officials To Attend Meeting On Dwelling Code

Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk, Fire Chief Joseph L. Murphy and other city officials and groups have been invited to attend a conference to be conducted on the proposed state multiple dwelling code in Albany April 29 at 2:30 p. m., it was learned today.

The State Building Code Commission, this week, began a series of such meetings to be held in 13 cities in the state, and the one for municipalities of the upper Hudson valley area will be held in the Gov. Alfred E. Smith building at Albany.

Municipal officials, members of professional societies, building trades councils, chambers of commerce, real estate boards, building contractors associations and similar groups in the area have been invited to attend. It is expected that Attorney Joseph Avis, chairman of the local zoning board will also attend along with representatives of the above organizations.

To Make Report

The proposed state multiple dwelling code is to be promulgated later this year. The commission will present a progress report of its work, and other phases of the state's code program will be discussed at the Albany meeting.

Col. Edward J. McGrew, Jr., chairman of the commission, and other officials will answer questions on the proposed code, and receive criticism and suggestions.

The multiple dwelling section is the second part of the state building construction code. The one and two-family section of the state code was promulgated in November, 1951. The third section, covering all other types of buildings, is to be promulgated later.

Western Air said it was the line's first crash since December.

"I do believe," he said in his prepared address, "that with the advent of this new form of communication, newspapers will have to take another look at their picture. They will have to extend themselves to improve their product. Executives will have to learn from their readers just what it is about the newspaper that appeals to them and—what is far more important—just what it is about the newspaper that does not appeal to them ***.

Costs Main Problem

"A more serious problem than television as I see it confronts us today in the actual cost of producing our newspapers. Labor costs have risen and continue to rise. The cost of materials continues to spiral upwards.

"There seems to be no end and in the face of this newspapers find themselves with a product the price of which cannot be increased to meet these constant increases in costs because they are faced, as a majority of manufacturers and sellers of other products are not, with the law of diminishing returns."

Albert Spendlove of the Nashua, N. H., Telegraph, chairman of a conference for publishers of papers with a circulation between 10,000 and 50,000, also touched on what he called the major problem confronting the industry — "the continuing and steadily increasing shrinkage of the margin between expense and income."

Must Study Small Details

He advocated a closer look at the problem, with an eye to good housekeeping methods and added:

"Such a close look at each step in our day-to-day operations, even to the smallest detail which until now has not been deemed important in the face of larger matters of obvious concern, can save more of us money than we now realize."

In a separate morning session for newspapers under 10,000 circulation, ANPA President Charles F. McCahill of the Cleveland News stressed the importance to the whole industry of the nation's small newspaper.

Expect Papers to Lead

The chairman of the session, David B. Lindsay, Jr., of the Sarasota, Fla., Herald Tribune, called this a challenging era for newspapers, not only because of increased competition from other media but also because the public expects more from its newspapers. He continued:

"In charity drives, in political affairs, in exposure of gangsterism and corruption in government, the people expect their local newspapers to take the lead.

"Sometimes these expectations are excessive, beyond the capabilities of a small newspaper staff. But always they should be heartening to us, for they represent a real expression of the vital place given to newspapers by our readers. This in itself in the greatest reassurance we can receive in the face of media competition."

Mayor Sets Date For Eye Collection

Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk today proclaimed Thursday April 23 Hadassah Eye Bank Day and granted permission to the women of Hadassah to collect funds on business corners of the city to "save an eye for Israel."

April 20 was the fifth birthday of the State of Israel and in commemoration of the milestone, Independence Week is to be observed here by the save-an-eye drive.

The women will be at their stations between 10 a. m., and 6 p. m., Thursday and will carry small, blue dime banks.

The funds will be used to save children and adults afflicted with trachoma, an eye disease causing eventual blindness.

Each small bank holds $5. This is enough to treat an eye afflicted with the disease.

Arabs Carry Disease

Trachoma is a common malady in the overcrowded population centers of the Middle East. It had been wiped out in Israel until the recent influx of peoples from the Arab lands, where it is widespread.

Local contributions will go toward preventing further spread of the disease, and help provide proper medical care in time to prevent permanent blindness.

Miss Rhoda Mollott is chairman of the local Hadassah drive, and on her committee are Mrs. Alex Parnett, Mrs. Jack Smollen, and Mrs. George Starkman, president of Hadassah in Kingston.

Local Officials To Attend Meeting On Dwelling Code

Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk, Fire Chief Joseph L. Murphy and other city officials and groups have been invited to attend a conference to be conducted on the proposed state multiple dwelling code in Albany April 29 at 2:30 p. m., it was learned today.

The State Building Code Commission, this week, began a series of such meetings to be held in 13 cities in the state, and the one for municipalities of the upper Hudson valley area will be held in the Gov. Alfred E. Smith building at Albany.

Municipal officials, members of professional societies, building trades councils, chambers of commerce, real estate boards, building contractors associations and similar groups in the area have been invited to attend. It is expected that Attorney Joseph Avis, chairman of the local zoning board will also attend along with representatives of the above organizations.

To Make Report

The proposed state multiple dwelling code is to be promulgated later this year. The commission will present a progress report of its work, and other phases of the state's code program will be discussed at the Albany meeting.

Col. Edward J. McGrew, Jr., chairman of the commission, and other officials will answer questions on the proposed code, and receive criticism and suggestions.

The multiple dwelling section is the second part of the state building construction code. The one and two-family section of the state code was promulgated in November, 1951. The third section, covering all other types of buildings, is to be promulgated later.

crash boat was unable to revive Petty.

Peterson said he swam for 15 minutes in the oil-slicked water among floating bits of plywood, pillows, clothing and plane seats —all that remained of the giant plane on the surface.

"We were lucky," he said. "We found them right away."

C. W. Hollingsworth, Western Air Lines station manager at Oakland, said the DC6B was making a "routine approach" and had given no indication of trouble. He said cause of the crash was unknown.

Two federal investigators went to the scene immediately.

Western Air said it was the line's first crash since December.
